Annual Meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Association

The annual meeting of this thriving organization was held last week in the parlors of the Congregational church.

Reports of officers and committees showed substantial results accomplished during the year. Early in the year the association interested itself in getting a branch of the Public Library established in Newtonville. Through the efforts of the Womens Guild and others this matter was agitated some years ago and $250 raised and placed on deposit. There the matter rested until the Improvement Association took it up with Mr. C. D. Cabot and Mr. F. T. Benner as a working committee. These gentlemen thoroughly canvassed the village, and after three months of hard work turned over to the city $1000 the minimum amount necessary to guarantee the city's perpetual care and support of the branch.

The Association has been active in helping along the movement for the purchase of the Claflin homestead. Mr. C. S. Dennison and the president being members of the Central committee representing all the wards. Sub committees have canvassed the ward, literature has been circulated, and a mass meeting held to forward this movement. Over $12,000 has been subscribed in Newtonville towards this project, and the Improvement Association assisted by the Womens Guild has been instrumental in securing these contributions. The Guild alone has raised and paid in $750.

The latest work has been in the direction of bringing the other Improvement Associations of our city into closer and more helpful relations. There are 8 improvement associations in the Newtons. All of them are doing good work locally, but it is believed that these is a larger work which they can better do jointly. It has been suggested that these associations become federated or organized in some way to command their combined strength, and enable them to act as a unit in matters effecting the interests of the entire city. In this movement this association has taken the initiative and last week the executive committee invited two representatives from each of the seven associations to be its guests at a dinner given them at the Newton Clubhouse. Every association responded and the matter was fully discussed and enthusiastically approved of. A committee of five headed by Alderman Albert P. Carter was appointed to formulate a working plan for the proposed organization.

The Association closes the year with over 200 members and with nearly $200 in its treasury. It has not attempted to be continually doing something. It has rather attempted to keep itself in a state of efficiency for doing things. Its large executive committee has during part of the year met weekly, and there have been several fully attended meetings at the Newton clubhouse. It invites suggestions for bettering anything that it can legitimately concern itself with. New members are especially desired. Good citizenship and the willingness to pay dues of $1.00 per annum are the only qualifications. Ladies dues are 50c per annum. The new officers are as follows: President, John R. Prescott; vice-presidents, D. C. Heath, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, Mrs. Albert P. Walker; treasurer, Samuel W. French; secretary, Albert P. Carter; executive committee, consisting of the above officers and Charles S. Dennison, William H. Allen, Charles F. Avery, Frank T. Benner, Henry V. Jones, Edward P. Hatch, Charles D. Cabot, Frank L. Nagle, F. W. Harding, William H. Eaves, T. K. McAllister, C. E. Bevan, Austin H. DeCatur, N. H. Chadwick, F. E. French, John F. Lothrop, G. W. Auryansen.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A special meeting of the aldermen was held Monday night for the purpose of drawing five petit jurors for the U. S. circuit court sitting at Boston, June 11.

The meeting was called at 7.15 in the chapel of the Newton Highlands Congregational church where the aldermen were attending the wedding of Mayor Warren's daughter. Alderman Albert P. Carter presided and Alderman E. B. Bosson was designated to draw the jurors. The following were drawn: Gardner I. Jones, 29 Putnam street; Joseph H. Chadbourn, 11 Irvington street; Frederick G. Melcher, 44 Norwood avenue; Carl A. Sylvester, 866 Beacon st., and James H. Saunders, 44 Lincoln road.

The Country Club

The lovers of thoroughbred racing in New England are assured of three days of the finest sport on June 13, 15 and 17 when the annual meeting of the Country Club of Brookline will take place. While the game has plenty of followers in this section they are afforded but this one chance to witness the sport and during the 26 years that these meetings have been held by the club, they have grown in popularity and size each year until the coming meeting bids fair to surpass in every respect any meeting of the kind ever before held there. While many famous steeplechasers have been seen at Brookline before, it is safe to say that never before have a finer lot been entered than are in this year, which of course means even improved sport. Then too, in the flat races will be found horses of speed and quality while the added events, the galloway races, will be simply one more way of pleasing the thousands of devotees of the sport in New England.

Joseph Widener, J. W. Colt, Thomas Hitchcock, M. J. Daly, Dion Kerr, W. C. Hayes, F. Ambrose Clark, H. L. and A. G. Schwartz, Jr., J. Watson Webb, "Mr. Chetland" and a score of other equally well known owners of thoroughbreds have made nominations for the events, each sending along the best in his large stable of fast ones. Horses whose names are heard daily wherever sport is followed are in, and everything considered, as has been said, New England followers of the sport will not only have an opportunity to see thoroughbred racing, but thoroughbred racing of the very first quality.

Carpenters Enjoined

Martin L. Chivers and other officers and members of the Carpenters' District Council of Newton and carpenters' local unions of the same city must not picket the premises of M. Frank Lucas and Burnham Brothers, also of Newton, according to a temporary injunction issued by Judge Fessenden of the Superior Court this week. They must likewise refrain absolutely from annoying or hindering tradesmen and customers of the concerns or subject themselves to penalty for contempt of court.

Chivers denied that the unions or the district council had ordered a strike, maintaining that the men had left voluntarily. He had visited the shops but had never told union men not to handle the goods of either of the plaintiffs.

Riddell--Southgate

The wedding last Saturday night in the Central Congregational church, Newtonville, of Miss Isabel Anderson Southgate, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles M. Southgate, to Guy Crosby Riddell, M. I. T., 74, of Helena, Mont., and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Riddell of Somerville was attended by a large number of friends of the young couple including college friends of the bride, and many former parishioners of her father.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Stuart L. Southgate. She was gowned in white messaline and rose point lace.

The maid of honor, Miss Lilla W. Davis of Worcester, wore white flowered net, and the bridesmaids, Pauline E. Hanson of Montreal and Mary C. Dana of Brookline, Edna D. Johnson of Auburndale and Edith M. Jewett of Newton, wore pink China silk over taffeta. Francis J. Brine of Somerville was best man and the ushers were Mark R. Joutet, Jr., of West Medford, Harry Allard Stiles and Wayne Stiles of Allston and Walter C. Nickerson of Somerville. The decorations at the church were palms and roses.

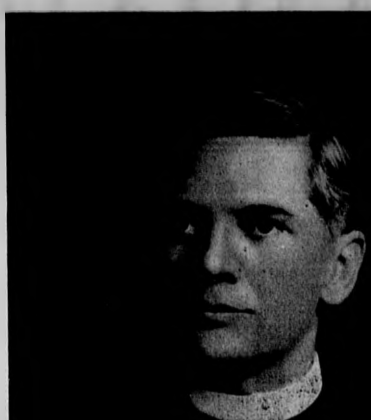

A reception followed at the home of the bride, 117 Mt. Vernon street, Newtonville, where the decorations were palms and apple blossoms. Mr. and Mrs. Riddell will reside in Helena, Mont., where the groom is assistant superintendent of the American Smelting & Refining Company.

Skelton--Warren

Dignitaries of the state and city, with hundreds of relatives, friends, college mates and neighbors, honored with their presence, the wedding of Miss Bessie Leland Warren, the daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Edgar W. Warren, and Mr. Henry Herbert Skelton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Skelton, last Monday evening.

The ceremony took place in the new and beautiful Congregational church at Newton Highlands, the first time it has been used for such an occasion. The chancel, pulpit, font and choir were banded with palms and ferns and the pews ends trimmed with white lilies. The church was completely filled long before the hour of the ceremony, the ushers being Messrs. Henry E. Warren of Somersworth, N. H., Albert H. Melton and Harry P. Whitney of Newton Highlands, Edward Johnson of Woburn, Fred A. Lowe of Newton, and Charles A. O'Donald, Vernon J. Hasbrouck and Henry W. Holbrook of New York city.

The strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, mingled with the clock chimes in the church belfry, as the bridal party came slowly down the centre aisle. The bride, on her father's arm, wore the conventional veil with a gown of white satin, trimmed with chiffon and lace, and cut empire style. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and wore a wreath of the same flowers in her hair. She was preceded by the maid of honor, Miss

REV. LAURENS MACLURE.
New Rector of Grace Church.

Rev. Laurens MacLure, S. T. D., whose picture is printed above, assumed his duties as rector of Grace church last Sunday. Dr. MacLure preached morning and evening and the vested choir rendered fine musical programs. In the Townsend Memorial Library, in the afternoon, the rector had a conference with all candidates for confirmation, and last Sunday's parish leaflet is a letter of congratulation and best wishes to the congregation from Rev. Dr. George W. Shinn, the Rector Emeritus, in which he speaks in the highest terms of Dr. MacLure as a man and a preacher.

Mabel Agnes Singleton of Newton Highlands, dressed in embroidered batiste, over yellow silk, and carrying pink sweet peas, and the six bridesmaids, the Misses Ethel E. Atkins and Ethel M. Hasbrouck of Newton Highlands, Olive H. Dunne of Newton, Grace R. Treadwell of Brookline, Elsie H. Prichard of Lynn and Helen M. Larmouth of Jamestown, N. Y. Misses Dunne, Treadwell and Larmouth are graduates, with the bride, of Smith '06 and Miss Prichard is a member of the present senior class. They were dressed alike in white batiste, trimmed with white lace, yellow sashes reaching to the bottom of their skirts, and carried yellow marguerites, with wreaths of the same flowers in their hair.

The groom, with the best man, Mr. Arthur H. Guild of Newton Highlands, met the bride at the church, where the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. George T. Smart D. D. pastor of the church.

A largely attended reception followed at the Warren residence, 135 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, Mr. and Mrs. Skelton being assisted in receiving by Hon. and Mrs. Edgar W. Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Skelton will be at home after October first at 50 Hyde street, Newton Highlands, a residence, completely furnished being the gift of Mayor Warren.

Tuttle--Kidder

The wedding of Miss Alice Frothingham Kidder, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Kidder of Newton Centre and Mr. Morton Chase Tuttle of Boston, took place Tuesday evening at the Kidder residence on Sumner street. Rev. Edward M. Noyes D. D. of the First church officiating.

The bride was gowned in white satin with chiffon and duchesse lace trimmings. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Edith M. Kidder of Newton Centre as maid of honor and by the Misses Linda Harding of Derby Line, Vt., Katherine C. Holmes of Newton, Jessie M. Tilney of Brooklyn, N. Y. and Elizabeth C. Stiles and Hope T. Parks of Newton Centre, as bridesmaids, dressed in pink chiffon cloth and carrying white lilies and carnations. Mr. Weld A. Rollins of Boston was the best man.

A reception followed the ceremony until 10 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Kidder and Miss Chase, an aunt of the groom. The ushers were Messrs Samuel H. Pillsbury, and Ripley L. Dana of Newton Centre, Robert E. Barnwell of Boston, Donald D. Tuttle of Milford, N. H., Edwin H. Kidder of New York city and Leonard Tuttle of Brookline.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle will reside at 92 Marshall street, Newton Centre.

George--Simmons

A wedding of interest took place in Newton Centre Monday evening, when Miss Demetria Simmons, daughter of Washington L. Simmons of Longwood, was married to Henry A. George of Newton Centre.

The ceremony took place at 8 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. Ray Spear, Sumner street, and was performed by Rev. Dr. William E. Huntington, president of Boston university, assisted by Rev. Frederick A. Taylor of Pittsfield, Me.

The best man was William Hodges, and the ushers were R. W. Simmons of Boston and Lawrence Davis, Arthur Hodges and Farley Brewer of Newton Centre. A reception followed. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. George will reside in Melrose.

Palms, ferns and pink carnations were used in profusion throughout the house and the bride looked beautiful in a gown of princess lace over white satin. The couple stood under a flower arch and beneath a wedding bell of carnations. Mrs. Spear, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and she wore white lace over pink satin.

The maids were Miss Metta Robinson of Topeka, Miss Ruth Elliot of Milton, Miss Elinor George and Miss Louise Blimpson of Newton, who all wore pink and white silk muslin gowns in shadow effect. Lilies of the valley formed the bridal bouquet, pink roses that of the matron of honor and pink sweet peas were carried by the bridesmaids.

In a little garden patch, three by 20 feet, Charles S. Grimes of Wilmington, Vt., succeeded in raising nearly four bushels of fine onions.

S. S. Athletics

Winning first place in six events Immanuel Baptist church, Newton, carried off honors in the second annual outdoor Sunday school athletic meet, held on the Newton A. A. grounds, Newton Centre, Saturday afternoon, scoring 391-2 points.

It seemed to be a lucky day for the Baptist athletes. Those representing the Newton Centre church of that denomination taking second place with 26 points, while the Episcopalians, Methodists, Congregationalists and Unitarians of Newton Centre failed to score a point.

A handsome cup was awarded the championship team. Cups were also given the two relay teams from the Newton Centre Baptist church and those from the Newton Baptist and Newton Congregational churches. To the first four men in every event and the individual winners in the relay races ribbons were awarded.

One of the most amusing features was the shoe and sneaker race, in which the contestants were obliged to stop in the middle of the course and change footwear. There were concerts by a band during the athletic events, and at one time the large gathering of spectators arose and lustily sang "America."

The meet was under the auspices of the Newton Y. M. C. A. The officials included a number of well known local athletes, as follows: H. W. Bascom, clerk of course, M. H. Ward assistant, F. Maguire, P. Morton, J. Bartley, C. A. Coburn, W. Hanson judges at finish, Dr. C. A. Bradley, F. Belding, J. Gaw, William Archer, D. Webster, J. Howard judges of field, W. Dexter, A. Porter times, C. V. Moore scorer, C. B. Conn chief marshal, S. Barton announcer.

There were 232 competitors and most of the events were well contested. The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by H. Decker, Newton Methodist.

220-yard dash—Won by W. Moore, Newton Baptist.

Running broad jump—Won by T. Morton, Newton Baptist.

Running high jump—Won by A. Neagle, Newtonville Congregational.

50-yard dash—Won by R. Hill, Newton Baptist.

50-yard shoe and sneaker race—Won by J. Neale, Newton Baptist.

440-yard dash—Won by C. Moore, Newton Baptist.

RELAY RACES.

Senior's first race—Won by Newton Baptist.

Senior's second race—Won by Newton Centre Baptist.

Junior's first race—Won by Newton Congregational.

Junior's second race—Won by Newton Centre Baptist.

Points were scored by the various teams as follows: Newton Baptist 39 1-2, Newton Centre Baptist 26, Newton Congregational 9 1-2, Newton Methodist 8, Newtonville Congregational 8, Newtonville Congregational 5, West Newton Congregational 4, Auburndale Congregational 3, Newton Unitarian 2, Newton Episcopal 2, Lower Falls Episcopal 2.

The teams representing the Newton Centre Episcopal, Newton Centre Methodist, Newton Centre Congregational and Newton Centre Unitarian churches failed to score.

given the ill-advised charge of a Newton alderman that some recent city work had been done illegally, it may be appropriate at this time to explain the ways and means by which public work is authorized and executed.

Our present city charter was designed to place full authority and responsibility with the mayor of the city and the various executive departments working under his direction. The legislative body is expressly prohibited from exercising any executive function. The charter requires the school committee and every head of department to submit to the mayor in September, the detailed estimate of expenses of each for the next financial year, beginning January first.
The mayor is required to examine these estimates during October and submit them with his own recommendations, to the aldermen prior to November first.
The aldermen are then required to make the necessary appropriations during the month of November. It should be noted that while the department heads and the mayor are required to submit the estimates in detail, the board of aldermen are not restricted to the manner in which these appropriations are to be made. As a matter of fact, it is becoming more and more the custom to pass the annual appropriation order, with as little detail as possible, many small accounts being appropriated as "Miscellaneous" or "Incidentals." The item of "Maintenance Public Property" for instance is made up of such items as Carpenter work, Painting, Plumbing, Heating, Mason-work, etc. and carries a total of over $15,000. With the annual appropriation order adopted, no money can be expended, even for the items named therein, until the board of aldermen has "granted" the same. The usual method has been to make a grant of all fixed charges, salaries and matters of contract, comprising some 75 per cent of the entire order, at the beginning of the year. This leaves the items where discretion must be exercised for more careful action as occasion requires. It is now the custom for heads of departments to submit each month to the Finance Committee, the amount they will require for the month to come, and after due consideration, the aldermen pass the amounts recommended by that committee. It then becomes the duty of the department head, under direction of the mayor, to properly expend the money for the purpose for which it was granted.
This action is controlled through the scrutiny of the city auditor, an officer of the board of aldermen.

It can thus be seen that many city expenses are duly authorized without the detail being known to the board of aldermen, the responsibility being entirely with the mayor.

At the same time the board of aldermen has the power to direct the mayor and heads of departments to do such specific work as it chooses to designate.
A recent example was that of repairing certain streets in the Nonantum district.
A strong petition was received from residents of that village calling attention to its street conditions. The aldermen gave a hearing, a committee viewed the streets in question and an order was adopted directing the Street Commissioner to expend certain sums upon certain streets charging the amounts to an existing appropriation. The Street Commissioner under the mayor had ample authority, with the granted money to do the work without such specific order, but the board simply exercised its undoubted prerogative in the action it took.

It is clear, therefore, that the aldermen can legally authorize public work either in a general or in a specific manner under our present city charter.

In addition to city work contemplated by the annual appropriation order, the charter allows extraordinary matters to be authorized by a direct and two-thirds vote of the aldermen. A recent example was the recent appropriation of $850 to purchase an automobile for the board of health, the amount being charged to the tax levy of the present year, as the appropriations for the health department would not allow such a sum to be charged to the regular accounts. Judgments of courts, interest due on city bonds, and state, metropolitan and county taxes are also matters which do not require aldermanic action.

It is thus the power to grant that the aldermen control the purse strings of the city. It can grant large sums in a general way, as it does at present, or it can make the grant in the most penurious manner. With a mayor in whom the aldermen have confidence—and that is the kind of mayors this city elects—
the grant is liberal and general, with a mayor whom the board distrusts, the grant could be made only after the executive had given the aldermen the utmost detail.

S. S. Anniversary

The 46th anniversary of the Sunday school of the North Evangelical church on Chapel street will be held Sunday evening at 6:30. There will be a concert by the school and an address by the pastor. All interested are invited.

"The Watchman" said last week, relative to the Baptist Anniversary held in Washington: "A smoking car was provided for the New England train between New York and Washington, but only one lone smoker appeared to take advantage of the courtesy of the R. R."

Rev. Mr. Speare Dead

Rev. S. Lewis B. Speare, a well known resident of Newton, passed away at his home on Wesley street Monday after a long period of failing health. He was born in Corinth, Vermont, May 6th, 1834, and attended St. Johnsbury Academy and Dartmouth College, graduating from the latter in 1854. He studied theology in Andover and Chicago Seminaries and had held pastorates at Bangor, Maine, Middlebury, Vermont, and Minneapolis, Minnesota. Deceased was chaplain of the Massachusetts State Prison from 1873 to 1877. Mr. Speare had made his home in Newton since 1893 and for several years had not preached but had been identified with business enterprises in Boston which were controlled by his brother the late Alden Speare. He is survived by a widow and one daughter. He attended the Eliot Congregational church and the funeral was held from the chapel Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The gathering was a representative
one consisting of relatives and friends
among the latter being several clergymen from Newton and elsewhere. Rev. H.
Grant Person, pastor of the church, officiated and the simple service consisted of scripture reading, prayer and brief remarks on the life and influence of the deceased. The congregation sang two of his favorite hymns, "There is Never a Day so Dreary" and "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." The burial was in Newton Cemetery.

O'Sullivan--Mahoney

The wedding of Miss Mary M. Mahoney, daughter of Mrs. Margaret C.
Mahoney of Newton, and Frederick A.
O'Sullivan, son of Daniel P. O'Sullivan of Newtonville, took place Wednesday morning in the Church of Our Lady. In the presence of a large gathering of friends from this city and surrounding cities and towns high nuptial mass was celebrated at 9 by Rev. James F. Kelly.
Miss Katherine Hewes sang "O Salu-taris." The bride was gowned in white silk and lace and was attended by her sister, Miss Theresa J. Mahoney, who was attired in pink crepe de chine. The groom was attended by Dr. Edward Fall of Newton.

A reception followed from 10 to 12 at the home of the bride's mother, 5 Peabody street. After a trip to Washington and Jamestown Mr. and Mrs. O'Sullivan will reside on Barry street, Dorchester.

Westcott--Blakeley

The wedding of Miss Georgie E.
Blakeley, daughter of Mr. George Blakeley of Algonquin road, Chestnut Hill, and Everett L. Westcott, son of J.
P. Westcott of Beacon street, Boston, took place Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sydney Harvey of Algonquin road and was attended by many well known society folk.

The ceremony was performed by Rev.
Richard T. Loring, rector of St. John's church, Newtonville. The bride was gowned in cream white satin trimmed with duchesse lace, her veil being caught up with lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were Misses Florence Blakeley of Roxbury, Pearl Blakeley of Chestnut Hill, Mabel Leavitt of New York and Miss Westcott of Chicago. The Misses Blakeley were gowned in white, while Miss Leavitt and Miss Westcott wore pale pink. Each bridesmaid carried pink roses.

The best man was William McNeal of Portland, Me., and the ushers were Harry Dingree of Boston, Herman Wescott of Portland, William Chandler of Portland and William Battles of New York. From 8 to 10, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey, Miss Florence Blakeley, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Westcott assisting, a reception was held. The interior of the house was completely transformed with decorations of palms, cut flowers and festoons of smilax and asparagus vines.

The annual meeting and dinner of Newtown Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, was held at the Newton Club last evening. Dinner was served at 6:30 and later General Charles Kimball Darling, president of the State Society, made an address on the objects of the order and the proposed plans, mainly in regard to the placing of tablets in historical places and the increasing of membership. Lieutenant John Stuart Barrows of the Boston National Lancers read an interesting and instructive paper on "The Figurehead of the Frigate Constitution." At the business meeting the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: president, Edward J. Cox; vice president, Hon. Samuel L.
Powers; secretary and treasurer, Frank D. Frisbie; registrar, Frederic M. Mitchell; historian, Dr. Samuel G. Webber; directors, Hon. Gorham D. Gilman, John E. Alden, Harry B. Walker; delegate to Advisory Committee on Cooperation in Patriotic Work, Alvin R. Bailey.

THEOLOGIAN

Graduate from Newton Institution

Baptist clergymen from many cities and towns throughout New England gathered on Institution hill, Newton Centre, Wednesday, when alumni day was successfully observed at the Newton theological institution. Inclement weather put no damper on the program, which marked the 82d anniversary of the institution.

The visiting clergymen were welcomed early in the morning by Prof. F. L.
Anderson. The annual memorial meeting took place at 9 in the chapel, a feature being the reading of the necrology.
The annual address to the alumni and friends was made by Rev. Hugh Black DD, a professor in the Union theological seminary, New York, in the chapel at 10:30. His subject, "The Preaching of Doctrine," proved of much interest to the clergymen. At noon, reunions of the various classes were held, some of the older graduates meeting for the first time in several years.

In Sturtevant hall at one o'clock the annual dinner to the alumni was served.
Adjournment was made at 3:30 to Colby hall, where the alumni association had an informal meeting and transacted several routine matters. The faculty reception to the alumni was held in Colby hall at 6. Pres. Nathan E. Wood and Mrs.
Wood heading the receiving line and tea was served.

The program closed with an annual oration to the alumni by Rev. Robert MacDonald DD, who was graduated in 1885 from the institution and is now pastor of the Washington-avenue Baptist church, Brooklyn. His theme was "A Ministry for the Age."

The graduating exercises took place
Thursday morning in the First Baptist church, Newton Centre, and degrees of bachelor of divinity were conferred upon 16 seniors, and five graduates.
The exercises opened at 10 with an organ voluntary played by John H.
Loud. Addresses by several of the seniors followed. Ilsey Boone of Brooklyn spoke on "The Virtue of Critical Study as an Appreciation of the Scriptures."
"The Equipment of the Minister as an Interpreter of Life" was the subject of an address by Lemuel E. M. Freeman of Maynard, S. C. William D. Goble of Weir City, Kan., spoke on "The Wide Ministry of the Modern Church."

"The Enrichment of Public Worship in Baptist Churches" was the subject chosen by Arthur S. Lewis of Parrsboro, N. S. Ferdinand F. Peterson of Durango, Colo., spoke on "The Power of Evangelism," and the subject chosen by Allison M. Watts of East Boston was "The Men's Movement." Interspersed with the addresses were solos by Mrs. Lura P. Ridley.

The presentation of diplomas to 17 seniors and the conferring of degrees on 16 by Pres. Nathan E. Wood was followed by the annual address to the graduating class by Prof. Henry K. Rowe.

The students to receive degrees of bachelor of divinity were:

Ilsey Boone, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Alonzo
B. Christie, Butler, Mo.; Charles L.
Fowler, Greenville, S. C.; Lemuel E. M.
Freeman, Maynard, S. C.; William D.
Goble, Weir City, Kan.; Arthur S. Lewis,
Parrsboro, N. S.; Charles F. Meier,
Florence, Colo.; Donald H. MacQuarrie, Avonport, N. S.; William E. Mon-beck, Burr Oak, Kas.; Charles A. Parker, Malden; Ferdinand F. Peterson, Durango, Colo.; Peryl C. Reed, Berwick,
N. S.; Nathan B. Rogers, Spring Hill,
N. S.; Albert H. Stanton, Ekonk, Conn.;
Charles A. Waters, Kansas City, Mo.;
Allison M. Watts, East Boston.

Other seniors to receive diplomas were Frederic M. Armstrong of Rangoon, Burma, and Charles L. Fowler of Greenville, S. C.

Five alumni who have carried on non-resident work during the past year received degrees. They were Edwin B.
Dolan, Agawam; Benjamin G. Ewald, Cambridge; Charles R. McNally, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Wilbur C. Nelson, Rutherford, N. J.; Abner E. Newcomb, Boston.

At 12:45 in Bray hall the annual dinner of the trustees of the institution was given. Contributors, alumni and other guests were present.

Mt. Ida School

During the past two weeks Mount Ida School has been holding its commencement exercises, and the week has been full of interest in many ways.

On last Sunday afternoon in the Eliot church Dr. H. Grant Person delivered the Baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class and their friends, and the service was a very beautiful one in every way. The young ladies entered the church from the Sunday School room,
Mr. Truette playing the march. The 75 young students presented a most attractive appearance in their white gowns.

Dr. Person spoke upon the topic:
"What Education Is." He made three assertions; first, that all truth is the thought of God. Second, that all learning and discipline is simply thinking God's thoughts after Him. Third, that it is the province of the school to bring its pupils into that condition in which they are willing to think God's thoughts.

Dr. Person has the power of putting truth very plainly and very forcibly, and he made very plain his thought with many illustrations from different fields of knowledge.

The choir sang several numbers most effectively, and the whole baccalaureate exercises were enjoyed exceedingly by the school and their many friends who were present.

The Alumnae Association of the school held its annual banquet on Tuesday at one o'clock at Hotel Lenox. Covers were laid for thirty members. The young ladies responded to several toasts, and Mr. Jewett spoke as some length outlining the philosophy upon which the school is conducted. It was an interesting fact that of the graduating class of last year, numbering thirteen, twelve were present. The banquet was by far the most successful one that the school has ever held.

The regular graduating exercises of the school took place on Tuesday, in the Gymnasium of the school, which was crowded to its utmost capacity with the pupils and their friends, many coming from Maine, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and different parts of Massachusetts. The address was delivered by Dr. Thomas Wentworth Higginson. He spoke upon the subject "Some Literary Men Whom I Have Known." Dr. Higginson was acquainted with Longfellow, Dr. Holmes, Professor James of Harvard, Lowell, and many other literary men of the past generation. The address was embellished by many interesting personal anecdotes which were told in a most fascinating manner. A large acquaintance with books is, of course, useful, but there is no knowledge that comes so close to one as that knowledge gained through men who have touched men and affairs with their own lives. It was a great privilege for the pupils to listen to this most interesting man. The exercises were varied with singing by the school.

Professor George F. Jewett, principal of the school, presented the diplomas to the graduating class numbering nine. In presenting the diplomas, Principal Jewett stated that the school was proud to present to Smith, Vassar, Mount Holyoke, Wellesley, Boston University, University of Chicago, Oberlin, College for Women in Baltimore, College for Women in Cleveland, Ohio, and many other colleges yet each pupil has the privilege of selecting such a course of study as she feels best meets her needs, English or Literature being the only required subject.

Diplomas were awarded to Misses Madelyn P. Clifford, Marjorie L. Fisher, Emily S. Clezen, Carolyn B. Hastings, Helen F. Jewett, Anna G. Percy, Margaret D. Thompson, Caroline M.
Wild and Helen G. Wiley.

After the graduating exercises a reception was given by the faculty to the seniors and their friends and the friends of the school which was held in the beautiful living room. Three hundred guests were present. A very happy social hour was spent during which time all had the privilege of meeting Dr. Higginson.

Several pupils are preparing to enter,
next September, Mount Holyoke, Vassar, Wellesley, Smith, and Boston University. These pupils may enter these colleges by certificate, without examination. Many of the pupils of the past year will return next year and continue their preparation for college. The fact that the Mount Ida School has the privilege of sending students to practically all of our leading colleges and universities, makes the school a very attractive one for girls intending to go to college. It is Professor Jewett's purpose to emphasize college preparatory work.

During the past few weeks of the year that has just closed many interesting social events have been provided for by Professor Jewett and the faculty of the school. The whole school went with automobiles to Lexington and Concord.
They were entertained at Lexington by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Newell of that place, who have had a daughter enrolled at the Mount Ida School this year. A very pleasant social hour was spent at the handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs.
Newell where a most enjoyable luncheon was served.

May 29th Professor Jewett chartered
a large yacht and took the whole school
down the harbor, out beyond the Boston Lights. This was one of the pleasant outings that the school has taken during the year, it was enjoyed by everyone. Many of the pupils had never seen the ocean,
so that the experience was new to them.

The school has published this year,
for the first time, a school year book called "Ye Idler." It has a very artistic cover of green oze leather with gold seal. It is one of the most attractive year books that we have ever seen published by a school. Its literary qualities recommend it.

The school has just closed by far its most successful year. Its numbers have been entirely full, so that one pupil was accommodated at a neighboring residence. Applications are being rapidly received for next year, and the school will not be able to receive all who wish to come. There are registered for next year pupils from Idaho, Wyoming, California, Washington, Kansas, and some twenty-five other states. All of the present faculty will return next year.
Miss Mary Law MacClintock, the Lady Principal, will continue in the school.
Miss MacClintock is very popular and much loved by all the young ladies of the school.

High School Notes

Carl Wells has been chosen captain of the hockey team for the following year.
The Newton-Dorchester High game will be played off on Monday at the South End grounds, Boston, the weather permitting.

The last league game of baseball takes place this afternoon with the Cambridge Latin nine at the Cedar street grounds at 3:30 o'clock.

Miss Bruce, the head of the French department has gone abroad for the summer.

The graduation exercises will take place Saturday afternoon June 22 in the Assembly Hall.

Mr. Deming Dead

Edwin D. Deming, aged 51, well known as an able paragrapher, newspaper writer and trade journalist, died last Thursday night at his home, 15 Forest street, Newton Highlands. His illness was brief, death being caused by blood poisoning resulting from tonsillitis.

Mr. Deming was well known to the shoe man, trade throughout New England, having been editor of American Shoemaking since the establishment of that trade journal in 1901. He had been a resident of this city several years and was well known in Newton Highlands.

Edwin D. Deming was a native of Harmony, Conn., where he was born June 18, 1856. His education was obtained in the schools in that place and in Jamestown academy. He made his entry into the publishing field at Sugar Grove, Penn., where he started a weekly publication when but 20 years of age. Later he became publisher of the Gownanda Enterprise, Fulton Times and Attica News, weekly publications in that state. For a time he conducted the Gloverville (N. Y.) Daily Times. During these years he contributed numerous special articles to New York papers, particularly the Tribune.

Mr. Deming came to Boston about 1890 as eastern manager of the Shoe and Leather Review. For several years he published the Leather Manufacturer, a monthly trade journal. In October 1901 he became associated with Rupert B. Rogers and they founded American Shoemaking, of which Mr. Deming had served as editor up to the time of his death.

Mr. Deming was a member of Hyde Park lodge, A. F. & A. M., the Boot and Shoe club, New England trade press association and other trade organizations. He was honored by the associations of superintendents and foremen in Brockton, Lynn and Boston by being elected an honorary member of these organizations.

A wife, father, mother and two sisters, together with a niece who has been a member of the family since childhood, survive.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 Sunday afternoon at his late home, 15 Forest street.

In the presence of former business associates services were conducted by Rev. Dr. George T. Smatr, pastor of the Newton Highlands Congregational church and the Mendelssohn quartet sang, "Gathering Home," "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Still, Still with Thee." There were many handsome floral offerings. The remains were taken to Southboro for burial, where there were private services.

Mr. A. J. Ring

Mr. Anson J. Ring, for many years a well known figure in the markets of Newton died at his home 330 Centre street Monday morning, from the breaking of a blood vessel in the brain. Mr. Ring was born in Hampstead, N. H., 69 years ago and has been a resident of Newton for the past 33 years. He was twice married and is survived by a widow, a son, Mr. Walter S. Ring, a prominent resident of Brighton, a daughter, Mrs. B. Frank Tripp of Newton and an adopted son, Harold.

Funeral services were held from his late residence on Centre street Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Frank B. Matthews of Immanuel Baptist church officiating, and the interment was at Hampstead, N. H.

The Boston Post to Have N. Y. Herald News Service

The news alliance of the Boston Post with the New York Herald recently announced marks a notable epoch in the New England newspaper field. Hereafter all the news of the New York Herald, including its admirable despatches from Washington and other American news centres and its unrivalled cables from the foreign field, will be solely at the disposal of the Post in Boston.

In addition to this great step forward the Boston Post will soon furnish its readers an enlarged service of late, live New England news, covering the entire section.

Flag Day

Charles Ward post, No. 62, requests us to make public the following appeal, which has been sent out by General Warren Lee Goss, national patriotic instructor for the Grand Army of the Republic:

"Friday, the 14th of June, will be the 130 anniversary of the birth of the flag of the United States. The flag was designed for a nation of 13 colonies, stretched like a belt along the Atlantic coast, made up of less than three millions of people without common traditions or language; drawn together only by common danger from savages within, and oppression from without, which threatened their existence and liberties. That flag now waves over a great nation extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the lakes; from the Atlantic to beyond the Pacific sea; and inhabited by nearly 90 millions of people, who speak a common language.

"Our flag is now—in form—the oldest flag of civilized nations. The resolution by congress for the adoption of the stars and stripes on June the 14th, 1777, was as follows: 'Resolved that the flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be 13 stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation.' The design of this flag is credited to George Washington, and in part was taken from his family coat of arms. Such is the origin of a flag dedicated to the proposition that 'all men are created free and equal.' Let us honor the natal day of our national flag—displaying it from our public buildings, schools, and homes in recognition of this memorable day.

"The men of the Grand Army of the Republic, who preserved the nation in the greatest war of modern times and made vital the declaration of our fathers, call upon all who live under the flag to recognize this day by patriotic observances in schools and—on the Sunday preceding—in churches. To this end we suggest that the governor of every state by proclamation announce the day and promote its recognition; that the press scatter this call—the seeds of patriotism—broadcast over the land. Such recognition will nourish the greatness of our nation, inculcate noble citizenship, the principles of civil liberty, and be an object lesson to the new generations that have come upon the stage since the civil war."

About Town

The June issue of The Fireman's Herald contains an article on the use of automobiles by fire chiefs, and claims that Chief Randlett of Newton was the first chief to use the automobile for that purpose. The article is illustrated with an excellent cut of the Chief in his automobile taken in Newtonville square.

Newtonville was well represented at the weekly pupus recital of the New England Conservatory of Music which was held last Saturday afternoon in Jordan Hall in order to give opportunity for selections on the great concert organ. Mr. E. J. Burke who has been studying in the Organ Department played Bibl's "Vision," while Mrs. Mary Metcalf Holmes who has frequently been featured during the past season gave a pianoforte rendering of Saint-Saens "Scherzo and Finale from the Concerto in G minor."

Clubs and Lodges

The annual election of officers of Dalhousie lodge F. & A. M. will take place Wednesday June 12, and will be followed by a public installation on Thursday evening June 13 at 7:45 o'clock.

The annual memorial service of the Odd Fellows of Newton was held Sunday evening at the Second Congregational church, West Newton. Delegations were present from Home, Waban, Newton and Tennyson Rebekah lodges and a quartette from Waltham rendered several vocal selections. Rev. Albert A. Felch of Natick preached the sermon taking for a text "The Good Samaritan."

St. Bernard's Court, M. C. O. F. will hold a meeting in Mague hall, West Newton, next Wednesday evening. A number of candidates will be initiated by Deputy John Flood and the ladies' degree staff from Father Stack Court of Watertown.

Funeral of George L. Keyes

The funeral of George L. Keyes of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., the war veteran who dropped dead at his home in Newtonville Memorial day after assisting in decorating graves of his comrades, took place Sunday afternoon at the New Church of that place.

The services were conducted by Rev. John Goddard, pastor of the church, after which the audience sang "Onward Christian Soldier." The grand army burial ritual was then performed by Chaplain S. P. Putnam and the officers of Post 62. The bearers comprised comrades who served in the army with the veteran, and who escorted the body to the Newton Cemetery. There were many floral tributes from the post, the Sons and Daughters of Veterans and the W. R. C.

Chaplain Putnam spoke as follows: "The march of another comrade is ended and he lies down in the house appointed for all the living.

"The awful suddenness of his summons and its inevitable response reminds us forcibly of the frailty of human life and the uncertainty of the tenure by which we hold our own.

The muster out of Comrade Keyes was glorious.

Called while yet in full uniform, in the early evening of the day most hallowed by his comrades all over the land, his gentle spirit was wafted as on Angel wings to his Grand Commander in the New Jerusalem, the city of the great King, as the boys in blue marched by. We knew not then that we were trading on hallowed ground. The taps of the impressive services just concluded which were still resounding in his ears, were changed to a glorious reveille as he triumphantly entered the Pearly Gates.

Comrade Keyes was possessed of a rare combination of virtues. A man of fine abilities, of delightful presence, a nature of large generosity and tender sympathies, in which was enshrined a beautiful modesty, he never stood in the way of another's advancement. Conscientious and true, he never shirked a duty which was always performed with great credit to himself and honor to the community.

His beautiful simplicity was well illustrated in his last words to Comrade Whitney when leaving the cemetery "Sam don't let the boys forget me." Were those words prophetic of what was so soon to follow?

Oh Comrade! forget you? The boys can never forget you. Forget that radiant smile! As soon forget the sunshine now obscured from view.

Forget the sincerity of thy warm hand grasp. As soon forget the sincerity of a mother's love.

Jesus said "thy brother shall rise again, I am the resurrection and the Life."

"Behold, the silver cord is loosed, the golden bowl is broken."

Comrade, farewell, farewell! Earth to earth, Dust to dust, Ashes to ashes. Looking forward to a glorious resurrection and life everlasting through Jesus Christ our Lord.

"So long thy power hath led me, sure it still will lead me on o'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent till the night be gone."

And in the morn those angel faces smile which we have loved long since, and lost awhile."

Vacation Week

The directors of the Newton Vacation Week return hearty thanks to the various individuals and organizations, that have rendered so efficient aid in carrying on their work and making it a success. Owing to the storm, many who desired to attend the sale were prevented, and a number of useful and fancy articles remain, which will be on sale during the next week at 89 Walnut Park.

VERMONT IN SUMMER TIME

Central Vermont Railway has issued handsome Book Telling About It

Always early in the field with its warm weather literature the passenger department of the Central Vermont Railway has just issued its 1907 edition of "Summer Homes", which is sent for 6¢ stamp on application to T. H. Hanley, N. E. P. A., 360 Washington St., Boston. The book describes the beautiful scenes among the green hills of Vermont and around the shores of Lake Champlain, is handsomely illustrated and includes lists of hotels and of family homes which are recommended to pleasure and health seekers, excursion fares, maps, and such concise information as will enable the "don't know" tourist to arrive at a decision.

The Trolley Wayfinder

The Trolley Wayfinder, for 1907, published by the New England Street Railway Club, contains valuable information for travellers by trolley. Cities and towns in New England reached by trolley are alphabetically arranged, under heading of each city, town or village, direct information regarding distance, fare and time being given, or references are made to tables of different routes. Price 10c, at news stands, or sent on receipt of price, by addressing John J. Lane, 12 Pearl St., Boston.

THEATRES

Globe Theatre—One of the strongest plays ever written in which the Red man figures is "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which Mr. Craig's company is to do next week at the Globe Theatre. The play was written by David Belasco and the late Mr. DeMille and it tells a pretty romance of the Western country at a time in American history when there were not a great many white settlers there. The Indian, always a picturesque figure in novel or play, is an important element in the unfolding of the plot of the piece and one of the most exciting scenes in the play is where a band of whites within a stockade breathlessly await the attack of the seeming hundreds of Indians without. Of course the rescue comes at the opportune moment but the scene always lingers in the memory as one of the most exciting episodes of modern melodrama. "The Girl I

Henry Norman, Harry Stone, Walter Lawrence, John E. Hazzard and the Constantine Sisters.

Colonial Theatre—If "The Time, The Place and The Girl" was a hit at the Tremont Theatre, it has scored a triumph at the Colonial. The transfer was made to that house last Monday evening that the stay in Boston might be extended, and ever since that time the house has been packed in every part and there is no question but the stay here will soon begin to rival that of the original company in Chicago. The piece has made the great hit of the year, and with the clever jokes, the bright lines, the amusing situations and the catchy music, it forms an entertainment that attracts everybody. It is fun from start to finish, and its charms are rehearsed everywhere. The company is an ideal one for such a presentation, and every member of the cast is perfectly suited. Arthur Deagon, the chief comedian, is a whole and Company will present a Western playlet "A Texas Wooing" in which they introduce a full blooded Indian actor. Others on the bill are Tom Clifford, a Boston man who sings and dances, Bob and Tip the funniest acrobats in vaudeville and the Kinetograph.

Keith's Theatre—The program arranged for Keith's next week looks as though it will furnish an ideal entertainment for this season of the year, as it is composed entirely of bright, attractive numbers. The principal feature will be "The Stunning Grenadiers", the most ambitious effort in the way of a "girl act" yet presented in vaudeville, simply a perfect production, both artistically and as a spectacle. It enlists the services of beautiful Meredith Meredo and eight pretty assistants. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, the best sketch players of the day, are to commence a three weeks' engagement. The first playlet they are to give is "The Yellow Dragon", one of the most successful of their comedies. Pearl and Violet Allen and their company have a novel offering called "The Travelling Man", the action of which is supposed to take place in a railroad train. It is a very lively affair, indeed. Four of the members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra who have organized what they have named the Karl Barleben String Quartette in deference to their leader, are to play pretty programmes of music that will appeal to all. "Motoring," that extremely funny travesty on the popular sport; Bert Levy the famous cartoonist of "The Morning Telegraph," with a novel offering; the Kita Banzai Troupe of Japanese acrobats, the best ever seen in this country; Tilly Whitney, pianologist; Sanden, maker of saw pictures; Rhodes and Carter, comedy acrobats; Howard and Lewis, cross-fire conversationalists; the Kramers, in a droll sketch, and the Kinetograph will complete the bill.

Norumbega Park—Sudden showers or steady rains need have no terrors for the patrons of Norumbega Park for of all the New England outdoor amusement resorts it is best equipped to combat the climate. The great covered open-air theatre was built with the idea especially in view of affording protection against the sudden changes of the fickle New England weather. Another well-balanced vaudeville bill is offered in the theatre this week. The Hacker and Lester Four give an act combining comedy with cleverness in bicycle riding. An attractive young woman named Midge Maitland sings and dances. Joseph Keno and company have an entirely new musical sketch which is full of funny situations, good singing and clever dancing. The Great Fascatel is billed as "The Man of a Hundred Forms" and he gives a series of plastic poses which are most interesting. Luce and Luce have a bright skit and the Kinetograph shows new motion pictures.

Old Resident Dead

Michael Cavanaugh, aged 71 years for more than half a century a resident of this town during the greater part of which time he conducted a contracting and mason business, died Saturday afternoon at his home, 16 Middle street.

Mr. Cavanaugh was well known, particularly in the Newton Corner and Nantum districts. About five years ago he lost his sight and was forced to retire from business. He is survived by two sons Michael Jr., and John F., and one daughter. The funeral took place Tuesday morning with requiem mass at the Church of Our Lady at 9.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue and in execution of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John O'Brien and Margaret O'Brien, his wife, in her own right, to L. Sidney Cleveland, dated December 25, 1898 and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds Book 2704 folio 368, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction upon the first parcel being lot "D" of the premises hereinafter described on Tuesday the second day of July, A. D. 1907 at four o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described as follows:—

"Certain lots or parcels of land with the buildings thereon situated near Beecher Place on private ways leading therefrom in that part of said Newton known as Newton Centre. The first of said parcels is bounded and described as follows, viz: Beginning at a point on a private way to land now or late of Hickey, thence running westerly by said land now or late of said Hickey forty four and fifty three hundredths (44-53) feet to land now or late of Butler, thence turning and running in a generally southeasterly direction by the wall along the face of the ledge by land now or late of Butler, Harmon and Baldes four hundred and seventy six and four tenths (476-4) feet in three lines to land now or late of D. D. Slade, thence turning and running northeasterly by said land now or late of Slade eighty one and six tenths (81-6) feet to land of the heirs of Patrick Beecher; thence turning and running northeasterly by said land of the heirs of Beecher, two hundred and fifteen (215) feet to said private way; thence turning and running southwesterly thirty (30) feet; thence in a curved line sixty four and forty nine one hundredths (64-49) feet; thence northwesterly eighty six and forty seven one hundredths (86-47) feet, thence a little more northerly forty seven and five tenths (47-5) feet to the point of beginning—the four lines last mentioned being on said private way—containing thirty four thousand and three hundred (34,300) square feet, more or less, and being lot "D" on a plan showing Division of Estate in Newton Centre belonging to the heirs of Patrick Beecher, dated June 1886, drawn by E. S. Snellie, and recorded in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book of Plans No. 35 and being plan therein No. 32.

"The Second Parcel is bounded and described as follows, viz: Beginning at a point on a private way at the southeasterly corner of said parcel at land of the heirs of Patrick Beecher, thence running easterly by said land of the heirs of Beecher one hundred and ten and twenty two one hundredths (110-22) feet to a corner; thence running and running northerly by said land of the heirs of Beecher eighty (80) feet to another private way shown on said plan by E. S. Snellie, thence turning and running westerly by said private way last mentioned one hundred and thirty (130) feet to a point at the junction of the two private ways aforesaid; thence turning and running southeasterly by the first mentioned private way one hundred two and ninety four one hundredths (102-94) feet to the point of beginning, containing eleven thousand four hundred and eight (11,408) square feet more or less and being lots "J" and "K" shown on said plan, to which plan reference may be had for more particular description of the granted premises.

Also one undivided third part of lots "A," "C," "H" and "I" on said plan showing Division of Estate in Newton Centre belonging to the heirs of Patrick Beecher, subject to the life interest therein of Ellen Beecher the mother of said Margaret O'Brien, which lots "A," "C," "H" and "I" are the same premises described in deed from John W. Beecher and others to said Ellen Beecher dated Jan. 11, 1884 and recorded in said Registry in Book 2434 page 283 to which deed reference may be had for fuller particulars of description.

"The first two parcels are the same premises conveyed to said Margaret O'Brien by deed from John W. Beecher and others dated January 11th 1884 and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Book 2434 page 287.

Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes, tax titles, and municipal liens and assessments if any such exist.

$300 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale; other terms as above.

Left Behind Me" offers splendid parts for all the leading members of the company and it promises to be beautifully staged as indeed all of Mr. Craig's plays are this season.

Tremont Theatre—Richard Carle's "Hurdy Gurdy Girl" captivated Boston with its first presentation at the Tremont Monday night and is a fixture for the summer. Mr. Carle not only has selected the most capable players for his cast, but he has given them unusual and beautiful scenic surroundings and has furnished costumes that delight the eye.

The latest Parisian styles are shown in the second and third act creations worn at the Sausage King's Lawn Party and Ball. "The Hurdy Gurdy Girl" differs from the average musical play in having a plot and a sentimental interest. However as Mr. Carle's enterprises have always had a strong "summer show" element, he has been liberal with his comedy and his chorus work. There are sixty and sixty musical numbers, most of them lively and several of them characteristic. The principal whistling number is, "The Apple of My Eye" sung at the "black and white" ball. This number promises to fill in line with "I Like You" from "The Mayor of Tokio" and the "Lemon" Song from "The Spring Chicken." Individual hits were made by practically everybody in the company which includes Jacques Kruger, Mmc. Cottrell, Mrs. Annie Yeannans, May Boley, Mae Botti, Adele Rowland, host in himself, and with three such charming young ladies as Georgia Drew Mendum, Violet McMillen and Harriet Burr one begins to wonder which one really is the special girl of the title. Then there are the broilers, the neatest, prettiest and daintiest dancers who ever came east from Chicago, and they too are the talk of the town, adding much to the triumph which has been scored. They are especially popular in their new home at the Colonial, and they ought to remain there without interruption for months to come, as all theatrical prophets in Boston agree. The rush is so great that an early application for tickets is imperative.

Orpheum—Owing to the tremendous success scored by Pauline, the eminent French hypnotist, last week at Percy Williams' Orpheum he has been retained for a second week. His exhibitions in mental telepathy and hypnotism are most remarkable and while scientific in purport Pauline presents them in such a way that many opportunities are given for laughs. The supporting bill for the week of June 10 is one of remarkable strength. World and Kingston will appear in a travesty which is described as hilariously funny. The Majestic Musical Four will be seen in their refined musical act, and the Bellair Brothers, sensational acrobats, are prominent among the entertainers. Rogers and Deely will appear in a laughable sketch "A Singer and His Valet." Middleton, Spellmeyer

—At the residence of Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge on Centre street last Saturday occurred the marriage of her cousin Mrs. Martha Barnard Bancroft and Mr. William F. Cooper both of New York. Rev. J. H. Barnard, father of the bride, performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. Charles R. Brown. Mr. George Gray Barnard, the well known sculptor, brother of the bride, and his wife were among the guests present.

—A prominent resident of this village had a peculiar experience recently while attending a church wedding at Newton Highlands. In attempting to enter the carriage after the ceremony, after the policeman had opened the door, the policeman and his wife could enter. The policeman, thinking the open door might be injured, closed it with a slam as the carriage moved away. The coachman, intent on his horses, and hearing the door slam, thought he had his passengers safely inside and started for home, leaving his employer "waiting at the church." The chagrin of the Newton Centre resident was only the Newton Centre resident of the coachman when he opened the door of an empty carriage at the house and had to return again to Newton Highlands.

—Rev. Mr. Miller has resigned as pastor of the Baptist church.

—The Quinobquin Association has voted to give $100 toward the playground fund.

—The graduating exercises of the Emerson school will be held Thursday evening June 20 at 8 o'clock.

—Mr. Geo. Osborn is making extensive improvements on his house on High street by the addition of a piazza.

—A rummage sale under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society will be held Thursday afternoon and evening June 6th at 80 High street.

—Paul Walukis, living on Mechanic street had his foot badly crushed Wednesday morning while working in the Saco & Pettee shops. He was attended by a doctor and later removed to the Newton hospital. It is thought he will lose his foot.

—Special services were held at the M. E. church Sunday evening. Rev. Walter Healey preached on music and its association with religious worship from the earliest stages, a very interesting and instructive discourse. The choir rendered several selections. Mrs. Dreser and Mr. Churchill gave a pleasing duet "Rock of Ages." It is the intention to give special music the first Sunday evening in the month.

—An interesting meeting of the village improvement society was held Monday evening in Wade hall, when a number of matters of considerable local interest were discussed. Preliminary plans were made for a Fourth of July celebration. The matter of a playground for the Upper Falls was informally discussed, it being reported that the local athletic association had made an offer of $25 and the Quinobquin society one of $100 toward the grounds.

—The funeral of Mrs. Ann Wildes, who died Sunday morning at the age of 88 years after a long illness, took place Tuesday afternoon at her late home, 27 Oak street. The services were conducted by Rev. Walter Healey, pastor of the Methodist church. Selections were rendered by a quartet. There were many floral offerings. Mrs. Wildes was the widow of James Wildes, and had been a resident of the Upper Falls 52 years. She was a native of Righton, Eng. Two sons and two daughters survive, they being James Wildes of Newton Upper Falls, Thomas Lees of Philadelphia, Mrs. Thomas C. Clay of Newtonville and Mrs. George Alden of Needham. The burial was in Newton cemetery.

There will be fortune tellers, "Seeing Waban by Auto," Mrs. Wiggs Cabbage Patch with prizes in every cabbage to entertain the children of all ages. The proceeds are for the charitable work of the Guild.

—The Waban A. C. added two more to its string of victories last week, easily defeating a picked team from Eliot, 13-4 on Memorial day, and winning again from Newton Centre, on Saturday 13-6. The features of the first game were splendid catch of a foul fly by Murray among the spectators and the fielding and hitting of Williams and Isola, the latter getting two three baggers. In the second game most of Waban's runs were scored on wild pitches, Williams making 3 of the 6 hits. For the Centre McCort of Newton high made the first home run on the grounds.

James D. Dingwell of Amesbury.

Open Air Dog Show.

The Ladies' Kennel Association of Massachusetts held its fourth open air show Wednesday at Riverside, when in face of the inclement weather a large crowd of owners and fanciers were on hand. From point of numbers the Ladies' Kennel Association can congratulate itself upon the success of the venture, for the entry list numbered 839 and included among these some of the best of the various breeds in Massachusetts.

The show was high class, the quality of the dogs as good as the show, and the prompt manner in which the several women stewards hustled the classes into the rings kept the 13 judges all the time employed.

The show was held on the recreation grounds, near one of the big bathhouses. Two large tents, one to cover the benches and the other to keep the judging rings protected, had been put up Tuesday, so that everything was ready when the dogs began to arrive early in the morning. It was imperative, with so many entries, that judging should be started early, as soon after 10 as the deersiders could get busy they were called upon to look as the candidates for ribbons and hand out the awards. Competition was keen, especially in the classes for bostons, scottish terriers, bull terriers and spaniels.

There was a fair entry of st bernards, and the candidates from the Carmen kennels, owned by T. E. L. Kemp, got away with winners in all classes. There were two great dogs the winner being entered by Mrs. Howe Totten of Washington.

As usual hereabouts when foxhounds are shown, the Middlesex hunt, A. Henry Higginson, M. F. H., captured about everything in sight. Negative won the special for the best hound in the show.

The prize for the best pointer in the show was won by H. A. Waldron's Lady Sealskin.

There were a lot of absentees in the cocker classes, owners evidently not caring to chance cold by bringing them forward in such weather. The Pen Craig kennels of Newport, R. I., made a considerable killing and so also did the Baywood kennels of Clinton, Conn.

There was a good entry of bull terriers. Mrs. Aurel Batonyi entering some of the best in her Elm Court kennels, Newton Tyke from the Wynton kennels, Southboro, won winners dogs in Airedales and Red Sunlight was given the blue in winners terriers. The judging of bostons by Frank Teeling was an all day task, the best of the spaniels not being awarded till after 6 o'clock.

There was a nice lot of collies on the benches, but there would have been a much better showing had there not been so many absentees. There was a good entry of french bull dogs and most of them entered appeared on the benches. Purdy brothers' Santos won winner's dogs, and this dog and his kennel mate Hattuesse captured a special for the best brace of American bred. In fox terriers (smooth) winners dogs was awarded to R. B. Baker's Ridgeway Racket.

The Grafton kennels scottish terriers made a big killing getting away with seven specials and winners bitches, the latter honors being taken by Grafton Creek.

It was after 6 o'clock when the judging was cleaned up, and in less than half an hour thereafter spectators and exhibitors were on their way. The show was a decided success as a show, and had not foul weather interfered, the attendance would undoubtedly have been very large.

Mr. I. W. Comey of Newton and Mr. L. Loring Brooks formerly of Newton Centre were two of the judges.

SMOKE TALK AT CITY HALL

Hearing Given on the Alleged Nuisance Before Board

Alderman Condren Desires Relocation of Tracks On River Street

The meeting of the board was called to order at 7:47 P. M. Pres. Carter in the chair. All the aldermen were present except Aldermen Bowen, Clarke and Webster.

Hearings were held on the following petitions and as no one appeared they were declared closed:

New England Tel. & Tel. Company for attachments to poles of the N. & W. Gas Light Company on Kirkstall road, 1 pole; on Langley road, 10 poles. Newton & Watertown Gaslight Company attachments to poles of the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. Greenwood street, 6 poles.

A hearing was announced on petition of the Newton & Watertown Gaslight Company for location of 32 poles on Fuller street, H. M. Howard and Howard Frost were heard and the hearing closed.

On the following orders hearings were announced. As no one appeared the hearings were closed: On construction of concrete sidewalks, Sewall street, northerly side from Prince street to Sterling street under betterment act; taking land for main drain and common sewer in Lee avenue from present end of sewer northerly about one hundred and twenty-eight feet.

Alderman Hall: Mr. Noble is here, who wishes to be heard on the hearing that was held last meeting on the question of the Smoke Nuisance Law. Mr. Noble through some oversight on the part of someone who was to notify him, did not get notice of that hearing and he is here tonight and would like to be heard and I move the hearing be opened and give him opportunity to be heard. Motion seconded and carried and hearing on advisability of accepting the smoke nuisance act was reopened.

Mr. Noble said in part: "I wish to express appreciation of this special favor. The question which I want to talk about is one of considerable importance to a section of Newton Centre, namely that section across the railroad track and to the left of Langley Road. When I say it affects that section I mean I particularly represent that section, the residents there. Before filing the petition here that we should accept the smoke nuisance statute, I made certain inquiries of the city solicitor and certain aldermen and felt it was the proper way for me to petition, and that petition was acted upon by your board and that statute was accepted.

"I heard, however, a few days after, that the Mayor felt there ought to have been a public hearing before the Act was accepted and he said he should have vetoed it on that account, he also said at that time that if the matter was reconsidered and this board accepted it after a public hearing that he would be content to sign it, and I thought I had arranged to have a special meeting called for that purpose but that plan fell by the wayside, however, the time had expired before your next regular meeting and the veto was sent in on the ground that no public hearing was given. I take it that the question here comes before you in a little different way than the original was.

"This board has voted once to accept that statute, and on the other hand, the veto is not like a disapproval, as it is vetoed for the reason the Mayor felt that there should have been a public hearing, and when the matter came back here it was referred to the proper committee and public hearing ordered and as stated before I was unable to be here and so now am here to explain the petition.

"I could have any number of witnesses but my understanding was that I was to have the privilege of the floor for a few minutes and did not think it was right to bring people here. I feel that hurts my case a little because the way the people actually affected talk is more interesting than what a paid attorney can say. I think the first step is to bring to your appreciation just what is asked here.

"You are not asked to do anything that affects any particular owner or any particular person, there has been a misunderstanding about that, you are asked to accept the statute and when you do that you have clothed yourself with jurisdiction in the matter.

"Today if a man wants to keep horses, cows, or hens, etc., he has to get some sort of permit from some authority to do so, but today a man may pour out black smoke to the annoyance of the neighborhood without coming here and asking your permission. If you adopt this statute then you would be in position to take this particular case and look into it and decide what is right and fair.

"If one man persists in burning sawdust and in pouring out black smoke so that women cannot put their washings out on the line without getting them all dirty and cannot have their windows open when the wind is right without getting their bric-a-brac all covered with dirt, you could say to this man that he must burn something else, you simply put yourselves in a place where you can control that thing. Now under this Statute a man would have a right to discharge smoke for ninety minutes in every twelve hours.

"If you adopt this Statute you would have no power to stop that. If you cut it down to a ten hour day that would be nine minutes per hour that he would have the right to emit black smoke and that is enough time within which to discharge volumes of black smoke. With your permission I will read the section which is involved.

"Now when I first petitioned here somebody sent back word and wanted to know what I was driving at and I will answer that here. Over there where

Mr. Leeson lives there are a group of neighbors, Mrs. Sylvester, Prof. Thomas and other people who have been annoyed by the discharge of this black smoke from the so called Burnham mill, from the fact that they burn sawdust there.

They cannot have their windows open when the wind is right but the houses are filled with smoke, what we want is to have Mr. Burnham come here for permission and when he comes here you will say you shall not discharge smoke here for more than ten minutes per hour or something of that sort.

"That is what we are driving at, this step does not operate to preclude any man, but simply clothes you with jurisdiction, so that if a man wants to discharge smoke for over 90 minutes he comes to you for permission, you simply give yourself authority to do for us in regard to black smoke as you do to others in regard to keeping a hog or hens, and we earnestly hope that you will thus save yourselves of the Statute.

"It has been said, if this is accepted suppose the Board of Aldermen tie up the street car companies or the gaslight companies, I do not think this is the temperament of the board of aldermen and further it only operates in regard to people who live within a quarter of a mile of the place where the smoke is discharged, and I do not think there is anything in the suggestion that the electric light company or the street car company would be tied up.

"I understand certain letters were read here from manufacturers in other parts of the city. They must be laboring under a misapprehension. They would still have the right to come here and get permission and would not have the slightest trouble in getting permission. In a case like ours there is serious damage to property and is unjust, there is a little history back of this. A long time ago through the Legislature Mr. Leeson tried to have something done and it was suggested that he should buy this mill. Now when I was talking with the parties who are responsible for this smoke they said that was all fixed once so that Mr. Leeson might have bought that mill. But they have no right to pour out black smoke so that someone will be forced to buy that mill. It has been said that I represent the principal mortgagee, that being the case, we make no objection whatever, we feel it would be better if it was properly run and regulated.

There being no one else to be heard, hearing declared closed.

Chair: "The first four matters are referred to Committee on Franchises and Licenses."

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Board of Railroad Commissioners approving the location of the West End Railway Company in Centre street, Newton, Received.

From the U. S. government giving the information that Joseph Matthews of Newton Upper Falls is a deserter. Received.

From the City Solicitor in regard to the order appropriating $45 for memorial stone for Newton in the Pilgrim Monument at Provincetown, which order was referred to the City Solicitor, giving as his opinion that such an appropriation is not authorized by law. Communication referred to Committee on Finance.

From committee on public works: Recommending leave to withdraw on petition for sewer in Tolman street. Accepted.

From the select committee to whom was referred the communication of his honor the mayor on the death of George S. Bullens, Sinking Fund Commissioner, offer the following:

As a representative in the legislative branch of the city government Mr. Bullens was painstaking, acting upon deliberate judgment and possessed of special qualifications in the matter of finance. Later and for many years a sinking fund commissioner, his familiarity with the methods of government and his ability in the management of the debt requirements rendered him a public servant of great usefulness. With mutually sincere devotion he fulfilled offices of trust in connection with Grace Episcopal church and the Newton Hospital, uniting "faith and works" in which he illustrated the qualities of mind and heart born of the best and purest motives in life and the consecration to duty which marked his earthly career. Therefore

Be it resolved: That we place upon record the tribute to him, and that a copy of the same be sent to his family with expressions of our sincere regard and sympathy.

Resolutions adopted by unanimous rising vote.

PETITION.

Auburndale Village Improvement Society representing that they have obtained an option on a tract of land bounded by Grove, Central and Auburn streets, and that they are able to raise $3000 for its purchase to be used as a playground for Ward 4, and requesting that the City appropriate the balance of $3000. Referred to com. on public works.

MOTIONS AND ORDERS.

Whereas the Newton Street Railway Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has never been granted a location for tracks on that part of River street in the City of Newton between Elm and Lexington streets; and Whereas Public Safety and convenience demand that the tracks of said Railway Company be located in the centre of said River street,

Ordered: That the Newton Street Railway Company be notified to petition the board of aldermen for a location for tracks on that part of River street in the city of Newton between Elm and Lexington streets.

(Signed) James R. Condren. Chair: "Is this presented for consideration now or to be referred to a Committee?"

Ald. Condren: "I think it would be well for the board to take action on that matter tonight. It is a matter which few members of the board understand or can realize the condition of affairs. It seems in the year 1866 the Waltham & Newton Street Railway Company were granted a charter by the Legislature to operate a horse railway between Waltham and Newton and the records in both the city of Newton and city of Waltham, the old town records, fail to reveal any location whatever for tracks for this railway.

In the year 1887 the Newton Street Railway Company in the city of Newton agreed to lay their tracks etc. under certain conditions and one of these conditions was that the tracks be paved with paving blocks between the tracks and eighteen inches outside of either rail. Two years afterwards in 1889 the said Newton Street Railway Company petitioned this Board for permission to electrify the Waltham and Newton Street Railway, they were granted permission to locate poles and to operate their cars by the overhead trolley system on the railway formerly owned by the Waltham & Newton Street Railway Company, which was the old horse railway, but there was no location granted at that time, simply permission to electrify it.

"Now when this petition was presented to the Board of Aldermen the people along River street objected to having the tracks relaid in the old location on the southerly side of River street because it is a great inconvenience, and they circulated a petition and the Railway Company found a petition was being circulated and went to work and ripped up the tracks and by the time the hearings were assigned they had the tracks laid according to the agreement made two years previously, but they did not pave the tracks. The petition was brought before the Board and the hearing granted and at the hearing there were several remonstrances against this matter, and the Board decided that the tracks should be located in the centre of the street.

"Afterwards that vote was rescinded and since that time the tracks have remained unpaved on the southerly side of River street to the great inconvenience of the travelling public and to the people owning property on River street. If a person wants to make a call, a doctor or a provision man or access from with a carriage they have to leave their team on the other side of the street.

"If a person wants to move from a house or into a house on the southerly side they are put to the great inconvenience of backing the team away and back again every time a car comes each way. A short time ago one family was out and one moving into a house and they had great difficulty in backing the teams away, and an express team was run into and the wagon damaged, and for years the people have suffered this great inconvenience. It is also very inconvenient for passengers in the winter time.

"On the side where you leave the car there is a deep gutter that is filled with slush and it is very hard to board a car or leave the car, it was in the middle of the street you could have access from either side, and now when we have vestibule cars oftentimes a person loses a car because they have to walk around the vestibule and many times the conductor does not see them, so it is very inconvenient for the travelling public.

"The travel along that street is constantly increasing and with the advent of the automobile it is very dangerous. Sometimes a car is going by, an automobile and a team and they all use the same driveway, they do not seem to pay any attention to right or left, so it is extremely dangerous. Then too that track has been swung around in some places so that instead of running close to the curb stone or gutter it is out three or four feet.

"Every time they tear up a piece of the track it is laid regardless of its proper location. We have not been able to find that this Newton Street Railway Company ever had a location on this street and they have not lived up to their agreement to pave the street as they should have done, and as the order reads, public convenience and safety demand that these tracks should be located in the centre of the street.

"I hope I have made the matter clear and that the members of the Board will understand the situation and realize how much the people have been inconvenienced in the last eighteen years. There is considerable history in connection with this location, it is all a matter of history as to the methods used at the time of the hearing to get the remonstrants to keep away from the hearing.

"The people were dealt with unjustly and I think it is only right and proper that this railway should be notified to ask for a location in this street."

Ald. Palmer: I trust that will be referred to the Committee on Franchises and Licenses."

Ald. Weston: "I move that that order be referred to the Committee on Franchises and Licenses."

An order, rescinding order for concrete sidewalk in Irvington street and Nehoiden road was read and adopted.

Orders were adopted as follows: that the city treasurer be authorized to sell and dispose of registered certificates of indebtedness, Newton Washington street loan, $3500; appropriating $2500 for settlement of claim with the Farwell heirs on account of Washington street widening, $6000 to be charged to Washington street widening account and the remainder to the proceeds of a note; that the sum of $160 to be charged to miscellaneous expenses be appropriated in full settlement of claim of Timothy Kensle for land; for hearing June 24, 7:45 P. M. on laying concrete sidewalk on the northerly side of Nehoiden road at Irvington street and westerly side Irvington street at Nehoiden road; for hearing June 24, 7:45 P. M. on laying concrete sidewalk on Cypress street; for hearing June 24, 1907, 7:45 P. M. on laying concrete sidewalk Norman road; for hearing June 24, 1907 on laying concrete sidewalk Glenwood avenue northwest side by land of Lillian S. and H. Florence Mayo.

The following orders for hearing on taking land for sewer were read and adopted, hearings to be held June 24, 7:45 P. M.: Montclair road from Windsor road to Beacon street; private road from Collins road to Wyman street; Collins road from present end of accepted street southwesterly about 200 feet; Devon road from Chester road to Collins road; Chester road from Quinobolquin road to Devon road; Lee avenue from end of present sewer about 420 feet.

The order for laying the sewer in Lee avenue from present end of sewer about 420 feet was read twice and adopted, 18 yeas, 3 absents.

Order authorizing removal of tree on Waltham street and California street read twice and adopted.

Order granting Newton Street Railway Company attachments on Clyde street and Walnut street was read and adopted.

Order granting Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company pole locations Woodman road was read and adopted.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Estabrook and family of Central street have closed their residence and gone to their summer home.

—Mr. William Graves and family of Boston moved to the Lane dwelling, Weston, Thursday, where they will make their home.

—Mr. George E. Trowbridge, a resident of Melrose street for some time, is to move to Cambridge, Washington street, West Newton.

—Mr. Frank Stearns and family of Sharon avenue have moved to Weston, where they have bought a house on Eden avenue.

—Mrs. W. F. Soule and her daughter, Miss Emma L. Soule of Rowe street, left Monday for their summer home, Bustin's Island, Me.

—Mr. Henry W. Robinson is ill at his home on Lexington street. He is widely known as president of the Brockton Agricultural society.

—Many friends of Mr. George B. Page of Commonwealth avenue will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from several weeks' illness.

—Mr. and Mrs. Kennison and family, formerly residents of Newell road and well known to Auburndale residents are now residents of Revere.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goodspeed of Newbury street, Boston, and Mr. Roger N. Allen of Boston are passing a few weeks at the Woodland Park hotel.

—Prof. A. C. Warren of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has bought the Hackett dwelling, Woodland road, and will move there in a few days.

—In spite of frequent showers during the afternoon and evening there was a good sized crowd of canoeists on the Charles river Sunday. For the first Sunday this season there were no tipovers.

—The Auburndale school baseball team, which is having a successful season, will play its last game next Monday with Needham high at Needham. Tomorrow Auburndale will play Everett high.

—The last meeting and entertainment of the season by the knights of King Arthur took place Tuesday evening in the Congregational church. The season just closed has been an enjoyable and profitable one.

—An outing on the Charles river was the entertainment provided by Mrs. F. W. Young, Wednesday afternoon, for the young women who assisted in making new cassocks for the vested choir of the church of the Messiah.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Dillaway are expected home in a few days from their wedding trip. They will make their future home at 29 Harrison street, Eliot. Mrs. Dillaway was formerly Miss Helen Gore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Gore of Rowe street.

—Rev. William O. Conrad, pastor of Park street church, Boston, preached the sermon Sunday morning at the Congregational church. Dr. Samuel W. Dike spoke at noon on "Congregationalism, Robinson and the Pilgrims," describing interestingly denominational ancestry of the Congregationalists.

One of the most enjoyable entertainments held by the church of the Messiah in several months was the lawn party Saturday afternoon and evening on the church grounds. During the afternoon an entertainment was provided for the children. The evening was given over to the older people. There was a large attendance. Games, refreshments and other features were included in the program.

Col. Everett C. Benton of Belmont, recently appointed to the Metropolitan park commission to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Edwin B. Haskell, was a visitor at the Riverside reservation early this week. After an inspection of the system of patrolling the river in launches and row boats by the park police he expressed satisfaction with the manner in which the work is conducted here.

LARCENY OF SEVEN FARES

Street Railway Conductor Appealed Sentence of 40 Days

For the first time in the history of the Newton street railway a conductor was charged in the police court, Saturday, with larceny of fares. George S. Douglas, living in Waltham, was the defendant, and the larceny of 35 cents from the road was charged.

He was found guilty and sentenced to 40 days in the house of correction. He appealed and later was admitted to bail. It was alleged that he failed to "ring up" five fares on one trip and two on another.

Officials of the road said that they regretted being forced to bring proceedings against any of their conductors. Although the road was first started in 1867 as the Waltham & Newton horse car line, later becoming the Newton street railway, it had never before had an employee in court for alleged larceny of fares. It has been suspected for some time that a few conductors had failed to "ring up" every fare collected and the police were finally called in to assist in an investigation. Officials of the road say that other cases will probably follow.

ON NEWTON BOULEVARD

Motor-Cyclists and Automobiles Fined for Driving on Wrong Side

Running motor vehicles on the north side of Commonwealth avenue, where they are forbidden, was the charge against several automobilists and motor-cyclists in the police court Saturday. Complaints had been received about the regulation forbidding these vehicles on the north side was not being generally observed, and the police laid in wait for offenders.

William A. Baldwin of Arlington Heights told the court he ran his motor cycle on that side because repairs were being made to the south side opposite where he was stopped. His counsel declared that city should keep a man anywhere that repairs were in progress to warn drivers of motor vehicles. Baldwin was found guilty, but the case was placed on file.

For a like offense Harry W. Weeks of Framingham was fined $5, as was also Thomas Pollett of Allston. Charles H. McDonald of Watertown and Nellie Anderson of Swampscott were found guilty of driving automobiles on the wrong side of the thoroughfare and fined $5 each.

Frederick D. Stevens of 74 Dexter street, Malden, for running his automobile at the alleged rate of 28 miles an hour, was fined $10.

Afternoon Reception

A brilliant society event was a reception and tea given by Mrs. Frank A. Day, assisted by Miss Florence Harding and Mrs. Carlo Montanari, wife of Maj. Montanari of the Italian army and daughter of Mrs. Day, at the Day residence, Sargent street, Tuesday afternoon.

The hours were from 4 to 6, and over 300 guests from this city, Boston, Brookline, Wellesley, and other places attended. Mrs. Day was gowned in white spangled mulle and carried red sweet peas. Miss Harding wore a costume of white over pink and carried pink sweet peas. Mrs. Montanari was gowned in pale green silk and carried white sweet peas. Mrs. Montanari will remain in Newton during the summer as a guest of her parents, and later will be joined here by her husband.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular druggist printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The order introduced by Alderman Condrin at Monday evening's meeting of the board making it imperative that the Newton street railway seek from the city a relocation of its tracks on River street, West Newton, led to an interesting though unofficial discovery concerning the original granting of privileges to the street railway company.

It is Alderman Condrin's opinion that the tracks should be relocated in the center of the thoroughfare to eliminate several obnoxious features which in the alderman's opinion exist at present. The order was referred to the franchise committee.

Turning back to the acts of the legislature of 1866, approved May 3 of that year, one finds that section 1, Chapter 214, reads as follows:

"Royal E. Robbins, John C. Stanton, George Allen, their associates and successors, are hereby made a corporation by the name of the Waltham and Newton street railway company, with power to construct, maintain and use a street railway from some convenient point or points in the town of Waltham to some convenient point or points in the town of Newton with all the powers and privileges and subject to all the duties, liabilities and restrictions set forth in all general laws which now are or may hereafter be in force relating to street railways; provided, however, that the track and rails shall not be laid across the location and tracks of the Boston & Worcester railway company."

Here it will be seen that the corporation was free to go ahead and construct just about what it pleased, and to run its cars as it chose. The city clerks of this city and Waltham have not as yet been able to discover in the archives any action on the part of the boards of selectmen which at that time constituted the local government of both places.

It is only fair to consider, however, that the street railway, as it was then called, planned only to operate horse-cars, which, of course, did not appear as formidable as automobiles. Possibly there might have been "something doing" at town meeting had the promoters proposed a "broomstick" equipment of their line.

It seems that the legislature of '66 was on the lookout for grade crossing complications, for it inserted a provision in the grant that the horse-car tracks should not be laid across the "Boston & Worcester railway company's" tracks. By the term "Boston & Worcester" as everyone knows, the general court designated the Boston & Albany railroad which at that time extended only to the "heart of the commonwealth."

Often there is heard in regretful tones the yearning of some people to return to the "good old days" of legislation and town meeting control of affairs. Without disparaging the virtues of the lawmakers of 40 years ago, it seems that such a liberal privilege as the Waltham & Newton street railway received in 1866 was a great deal more than would be asked for or expected at the present time.

Today the local government of two leading towns would have been consulted and not ignored under like conditions and their demands would have been pretty thoroughly granted. And this is the "era of political corruption."

The street department is experimenting with cement grout as a new surface for highways and this week has prepared a portion of Commonwealth avenue, between the entrance to the Braeburn club and Chestnut street, with this material. It is said to be ideal as a wearing surface and calculated to satisfy automobilists, owners of horse-drawn vehicles and even the pedestrian if he has courage enough to try it. Another part of the avenue east of Chestnut street has received a top-dressing of cold tar and crushed-stone dust. It is said that this is equally effective. At any rate the outcome of the tests will be noted with much interest.

More striking than ever has been the demand this spring for houses which may be rented at figures ranging from $20 to $30 a month. Many instances are known where desirable citizens—the kind President Roosevelt approves of—would have made their homes in Newton if offered the opportunity they were seeking. The state of mind made that the cost of building materials has advanced at an alarming rate, but as there are no positive indications of a decrease or of an immediate increase why should not conditions be improved? It is up to the investors of moderate means and worthy of their thought and action.

The Auburndale Village Improvement society has offered the city $3,000 toward the establishment of a public park in Auburndale; the Upper Falls Improvement society is hustling along similar lines and the Newton Centre Improvement society is planning to do some architectural house-cleaning between Langley road and Beacon street. Here are organizations whose meetings and efforts improve more than the oratorical powers of "esteemed residents" and the free public dissemination of "hot air."

You may now expect to hear the village "cut-up" spring the old joke about the smoke nuisance problem being a burning question.

Bunker Hill Day and Graduation day—both next week.

CITY HALL NOTES

City Engineer I. T. Farnham is recovering from an attack of the grip.
City Messenger Joseph D. Wellington has been appointed a member of a committee from the Massachusetts City Messengers' Club to arrange for an annual dinner at Bass point, June 22.

Among Women

The annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation will be held at Great Barrington on June 18 and 19. Special car will be attached to the train leaving South Station, Boston, at 10.15 A. M., June 18, arriving in Great Barrington about 2.30 P. M.

The convention will open with a reception on Tuesday evening, June 18, given by the Thursday Morning Club of Great Barrington to the Federation officers and delegates and visiting club women.

The three sessions on Wednesday, June 19, will be held in the Mahaiwe Theatre. The morning session, beginning at nine o'clock and the afternoon session at two o'clock will be devoted to the annual reports of officers and committees. Mrs. Decker, President, and Mrs. Philip N. Moore, First Vice-President of the General Federation, and the Presidents of the New England State Federations will be present and bring greetings from their organizations.

Wednesday evening there will be addressed by Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker, President of the General Federation, Mrs. Philip Carpenter, of New York, and others.

Day Nursery Opened

The new quarters of the Nonantum day nursery were opened for inspection for the first time Saturday afternoon and evening with a reception.

Many viewed the finely appointed quarters at 281 Watertown street.

An informal reception was a feature of the occasion. In the receiving line were Mrs. J. P. Tolman, president, and Mrs. Austin R. Sherman, treasurer.

A donation table was in charge of Mrs. F. H. Loveland, and many gifts of children's books, toys and groceries were received. Mrs. Sidney Harwood was in charge of the dining room.

Monday morning the nursery was opened for the entertainment of little folk. During the week it has been well patronized, and the success of the new nursery is assured from present indications.

Y. M. C. A.

After the board meeting Wednesday evening the directors and officers of the Association marched in a body to the residence of Mr. J. R. W. Shapleigh who retires from the treasurer's office at this time, and presented to him a beautiful loving cup in appreciation of his long term of faithful service. Mr. Sayford, in behalf of those present, made the presentation and Mr. Shapleigh responded expressing his appreciation for the kindness shown by his fellow workers.

The 5th annual state Y. M. C. A. athletic meet will be held tomorrow afternoon at Riverside Park.

In addition to the usual athletic events a tennis tournament, baseball game, canoe races and aquatic events are on the program. Over 100 men are entered for the athletics, while teams from Boston, Salem, Cambridge, Quincy and Newton will compete in the other events.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. will be represented by two strong teams in the tennis doubles: Messrs Porter and Underwood, Ellison and Howe having entered for this event.

Newton Y. M. C. A. will meet Malden Y. M. C. A. in the baseball game, which begins at 4 o'clock. J. Howard and J. Bartley will do the battery work for Newton.

The Malden team is very strong and leads the Y. M. C. A. league.

The athletic events will commence promptly at 2 o'clock.

In the morning the boys championship will be contested. About 75 boys between the ages of 12 and 16 years are entered. Newton is represented by a strong team and should carry off first honors.

The admission to the grounds for the entire day is 25c.

—Crosby's Restaurant, 19 School street, Boston, is a good place to dine. If

Real Estate

Through the office of John T. Burns, 363 Centre street, Newton, the estate situated at 20 Marlboro street, Newton, has been sold to Mr. George Smith of Boston. Mr. Thomas Weston was the grantor. The property consists of a single house and about 6000 feet of land the whole assessed for $5500. Mr. Simmons is occupying the house. Through the above office the house at 30 Bowers street, Newtonville, has been leased to Mrs. I. M. Gunter of Brookline. Mr. R. C. Bridgman was the lessor.

Park Theatre—The enormous audiences which have greeted Miss Lillian Lawrence and her company since the inception of their summer run are still in evidence. On next Monday afternoon Miss Lawrence is to give Boston another recent New York success never before seen in that city. This time it is to be "On Parole", a military drama by Louis Evan Shipman, said by the New York papers to have been the best seen there in years. This romance of the Civil War was produced about Christmas time at the Majestic Theatre in New York and enjoyed a run there of unequalled prosperity. It deals with the love of a northern soldier for a southern girl and their trials and tribulations during the troublesome times of 1864. Great preparations are being made for the celebration of the 300th performance which Miss Lawrence has played before a Boston audience. This event takes place Tuesday evening June 18th. A beautiful silk program has been prepared for distribution as souvenirs among those present. A special matinee performance will be given on the afternoon of Monday June 17th.—Bunker Hill Day.

LOCAL BETTERMENT

What a Busy Society Has Accomplished

Auburndale Organization and Its Many Works

Mr. Colon S. Ober, president of the Auburndale Village Improvement society, has prepared for Suburban Life an article on "Village Improvement" which is published in the June number of that periodical. It is illustrated by successful half-tone reproductions of views that are as familiar as they are attractive to Newton people. Mr. Ober's contribution is as follows:

There can be found in every country village and every suburban settlement a few homes where artistic tastes are displayed so plainly in every feature of the house and grounds, large or small, that a passer-by stops to think and say, "That is an ideal home."

What has made these homes so attractive? Largely the eternal vigilance of one, if not of all, of the occupants. Do such estates have an influence for good on people living in surrounding homes? Most assuredly.

One of the motives of the Auburndale, (Mass.) Village Improvement Society is "A community of homes naturally attractive, made ideal by united effort," and this united effort has been merged into one organization with officers and an executive board to consider plans to be presented to the society for adoption or rejection. The purpose of the organization is the beautifying and adorning of the streets and public grounds of the village, especially by planting trees and shrubs and caring for and preserving them; to create and encourage in the community a spirit of improvement, which shall stimulate every one to seek to make his own surroundings more attractive; to attend to matters affecting the public health, and to provide such entertainments as the board shall think proper.

Our society was organized October 31, 1885, with fifty members, and has executed scores of minor matters in the village,—all helpful. The annual dues of the men were fixed at one dollar, and of the women at fifty cents. Much money has been raised yearly by subscription, since the organization of the society, for matters of larger importance which appealed to members and other citizens not members.

To illustrate our work more fully, there was need of a hall in the village in which the society could hold its meetings, and, inside of two years from the organization, $1,000 was raised to fit up such a room in the second story of the schoolhouse. There was need of proper places to post notices, so regular bulletin boards were made and placed in conspicuous positions around the village.

Guards for the protection of the many shade trees were furnished, and a flag was donated by this society for a new schoolhouse. Committees are constantly being appointed to confer with members of the city government regarding streets, sidewalks, lights, and similar matters, thus helping shape the work of the city in our ward to the best interests of our residents.

Our village is unfortunate in being equally divided by the tracks of the Boston and Albany railroad. This fact caused the travelling public a walk to the nearest overhead bridge, and then a walk back again to the station. This society came to the rescue, and, by donating $300 toward a tunnel for foot-passengers secured a permanent passageway, which has proven to be one of the most useful improvements.

A petition to the Governor of Massachusetts from this society was instrumental in having one of our most public-spirited citizens appointed a member of the Metropolitan Park Commission. This Commission seized land through Newton on the banks of the Charles river, thus eliminating old mills and buildings and many objectionable features, which marred the beauty and menaced the health of our citizens. The land taken for this purpose has been improved by drive and paths along the banks of the beautiful Charles river, making a parkway with river scenery which is a delight to all visitors. We have bought ladders and tools to loan to citizens whose estates were troubled with the gypsy and brown-tail moths, simply requiring that such tools be returned each night.

Several years ago, a public-spirited citizen built a fine block for stores here, with a beautiful hall, overhanging seating capacity for over 300 people and a stage large enough for an ordinary musical or dramatic company; our society, wishing to help support such a hall, four years ago started a series of entertainments, and we have continued them, although, as yet, they have not proved a financial success. However, the society has voted to continue them, believing there is a public demand, and that their continuance will be helpful in many ways.

We have employed better talent than we otherwise should have done but for the fact that we felt such entertainments would build up eventually a self-supporting course. Our citizens, heretofore, have gone to Boston to entertainments, a distance to and from of twenty miles travel, besides the inconvenience of late trains. Many middle-aged people are much pleased to have the opportunity of home entertainments every winter.

The young people have aided the society greatly by giving a dramatic or musical entertainment, with vocal talent only. This is the drawing card of the course, and furnishes an enjoyable occasion, both for actors and audience. The society, at present, with the aid of our ward alderman, is working for the enactment of a city ordinance preventing by a fine the sweeping or throwing on the sidewalks or street of any paper, rubbish, banana peel, orange peel, or other refuse. Receptacles have been placed about the village to receive such material, and much progress is evident in educating the public in this direction.

The society has written to the head teacher in each of the two school buildings, and they have instructed the children in all the rooms not to throw paper into the streets, but to deposit it in the barrels placed for this purpose. Also, that they should walk on the sidewalks and streets, instead of taking short cuts across lawns. I am sorry to say that many very good people will walk upon the lawns of others, who resent such intrusion on their own lawns.

Now for one more story of improvement, and this article will have to come to an end. One Sunday afternoon, about seven years ago, a committee of three persons from the Episcopal church, three from the Methodist church, and a like number from the Congregational church met in the chapel of the latter, and agreed to meet this society and organize to start a village branch library and reading and game-room. A meeting of the society was held, and a committee appointed to solicit funds to buy books, shelving, tables, chairs, carpets, games, magazines and daily papers. $800 was raised; three rooms were engaged in the new block, which contained the hall; the furnishings were put in and a woman who was a member of the committee acted as librarian, until the city of Newton appropriated $1,000 for rent, heat, lighting and salary for librarian. Then the society turned over to the city the whole plant, thus furnished by the people of the village, and the city has since run the same as a branch of the public library of Newton. The patronage bestowed by the village people on the library, reading-room, and game-room amply testified to the necessity for any appreciation of this great benefit.

I feel very free to say that no village, city or town should be without an "improvement society." First, it brings the people together socially for their universal good; it promotes a noble public spirit; it develops a love and pride in one's own locality which is helpful in every possible way; and I have yet to find any influence emanating from any such societies except for the highest public good.

Celebrated Anniversaries

A double anniversary was fittingly observed by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dutton Degen of Newton Center, Monday evening, when many guests assisted in observing the golden wedding anniversary of the couple and the 75th birthday of Mr. Degen.

Their home at Commonwealth avenue and Cedar street was attractively decorated. There was a reception at 8, after which an informal and enjoyable program was carried out. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The gifts included $100 in gold from their friends in the Newton Center Methodist church, of which Mr. and Mrs. Degen are regular attendants. One novel gift was a testimonial from the church members, inscribed on parchment and bound in book form.

Newton.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Harwood of Church street observed their 15th wedding anniversary Saturday evening. They received the congratulations of many friends.

—Pupils of Henry T. Wade, Wesley street, are to give a piano recital at the Hunnewell Club, tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. They will be assisted by Charlotte White, violinello.

NEWTON CENTRE

—The graduating exercises of the class of 1907 of the Mason school will be held in the school assembly hall, Wednesday at 3.30 P. M. Admission will be by tickets, which will be furnished anyone sending application to the master and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Should the demand be greater than the supply, applications will be attended to in the order received. All applications must be in before 8.30 A. M. June 18. The public will be admitted without tickets at 3.25. Children unattended by adults are not expected.

Dalhousie Installation

Over 500 guests from this and other cities were entertained by Dalhousie lodge, A. F. & A. M., in Masonic temple, Newtonville, last evening, when the officers elected, the previous evening were publicly installed. The installing officer was A. L. Harwood, assisted by Frank R. Moore as marshal.

Base Ball

The Newton Independents are looking for revenge for the sound drubbing given them by the Y. M. C. A. on May 30, and a second game between the two teams has been arranged to be played on the morning of June 17 at Cabot Park. Howard and Bartley for the Y. M. C. A., Skehill and Wilson for the Independents will do the battering work.

—The Waban "Hasbeens" met on the ball field last Saturday and urged on by thunderous applause from a large gallery did wonders, getting high balls and low balls and a few runs and errors. The game, however, was real baseball and not a farce as had been predicted. Up to the 6th the score was 2 to 0 in favor of the "Hasbeens" but then Sweet started the trouble for Roxbury by a home run and before they came down to earth again 6 runs had come in. Only one unpleasant incident occurred, Earnshaw, the visitors' clever 3rd baseman, breaking his elbow when sliding to second. Doc Parker pitched the game of his life and not a run was scored off his delivery. Sweet finished the game creditably. In the field Bosson made some good stops but Sawyer was the

Death of Miss Carpenter

Miss Caroline A. Carpenter, assistant principal of Lasell seminary, died Wednesday after a short illness at the seminary. Death is said to have been caused by heart trouble.

For 34 years Miss Carpenter had been connected with Lasell. She was a native of Saratoga Springs, where after being graduated from the Emma Willard seminary, Troy, N. Y., she had a girl's school of her own for several years.

She came to Lasell 34 years ago as preceptress, which position she held for 20 years. One year of that time she taught mathematics. Fourteen years ago she became assistant principal, and has also taught English literature and history.

The funeral took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the seminary chapel.

Death of Mrs. S. E. Wilson

Mrs. Sarah E. Wilson, aged 67 years, widow of John Wilson, died Saturday at her home, 21 Eastbourne road, Newton Centre. She had been a resident of Newton Centre many years, and is survived by a son, Mr. Horace M. Williams.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at Mt. Auburn chapel, Rev. E. H. Hall of Cambridge officiating. Burial was in Mt. Auburn cemetery.

Police Paragraphs

Jeremiah F. Lucey, for 12 years a patrolman in this city, was on Wednesday removed from the Newton police department by Mayor Warren. The charge against him was that June 5 he was unable to perform police duty. Lucey was born Feb. 17, 1871. He was appointed to the police force June 18, 1895. In the last few months he had patrolled a route in Newton proper. He is married, his family consisting of a wife and five children. His home is at 15 Middle street.

Robert Wood of Worcester was charged in the police court Thursday with having run an automobile on the north side of Commonwealth avenue, where motor vehicles are prohibited. He was found guilty and the case was placed on file.

In the police court Thursday morning Thomas Manning, formerly of West Newton but now of Waltham, was charged with nonsupport of his family. He was ordered to pay $7 a week toward the support of the family, the case being continued to Aug. 3.

Mayor Warren yesterday signed the appointment of George Hannon as reserve patrolman to fill a vacancy caused by the removal of patrolman Jeremiah J. Lucey. Mr. Hannon will begin patrol duty at once. For sometime he has been in charge of the stable of the water department nights. Last summer he did special duty for four months in the police department.

Jewett-Gallichan

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Clement Gallichan, 285 Tremont street, Wednesday evening, when Miss Florence M. Gallichan of Charlestown was married to Mr. Albert L. Jewett of Charlestown.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot church. Immediate friends and relatives in this city and Charlestown witnessed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewett will reside in Chelsea at the conclusion of a trip.

Eliot Co-operative Club

The first annual banquet of the Eliot co-operative club was held last Saturday in the vestry of Eliot church and largely attended by members, together with invited guests. Winslow Dunne, president of the club was toastmaster. The speakers and their toasts were as follows: Rev. H. Grant Person, "Ever judge men by their profession"; Mr. William Litchfield, "One Worthy Man"; Alderman Thomas Weston Jr., "Well said! that was laid on with a trowel"; Mr. William T. Coppins, "Zounds! I was never so bethumped with words"; Mr. Harry Bascom, "A day for toil, an hour for sport, but a friend is life too short"; Mr. Fred L. Brown, "I had rather have a fool make me happy than experience to make me sad"; Mr. Geo. C. Agry, "The Only way to have a friend is to be one"; Mr. Carlton L. Ellison, "Some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them"; Mr. Warren Agry, "It's enough to fright you out of your seven senses"; Mr. Walter G. Barrows, "What a case am I in"; Rev. Newell C. Maynard, assistant minister of Eliot church, also spoke.

In addition there were piano selections by Mr. Ellison and singing by Harry Morgan.

The committee in charge of the arrangements, whose efforts contributed so much to the success of the affair, included Winslow Dunne, Seth Wood, Walter Barrows and George Agry.

TELEPHONE TALKS

Believing that exact knowledge promotes co-operation, the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company is publishing a series of brief expositions for some phases of telephony, for the benefit of itself, and, as it hopes, for the benefit of all telephone users.

BIG PUBLISHING "STUNT"

With the possible exception of one, no other book published runs into such large editions as the telephone directory. Neither does any other represent the same amount of incessant labor, and none is more accurate. Though mistakes are liable to creep into every human production in spite of every precaution, the telephone directory is acknowledged to be more free from them than any other list of names compiled.

The telephone directory is one of the most important adjuncts to good telephone service. As the telephone system grew, not only in the number of people who made use of it but in the number of times each person employed it, obviously it became impossible for operators to keep the run of subscribers by name. To attempt to do so would not only make all sorts of chances for errors, but would seriously reduce the quickness of the service.

So, for the convenience of the large body of telephone users—there are a quarter of a million regular subscribers alone now in four northern New England states—and for the sake of uniformly good service, the New England company was compelled several years ago to establish the practice among its operators that they should not undertake to do their work by name, so to speak, but must be told the number of the telephone with which connection was wanted.

With 40,000 telephones added to the New England system each year, it is more necessary all the time that users of the service shall, to save their own time and "Central's", look numbers up before they call the operator. All told, upwards of a million copies of the New England company's different directories are distributed every twelve months. The records of new subscribers, of removals, of changes of number and all the other details that affect the make-up of the directory are corrected each day in every one of the 488 exchanges in the system, and once in so often these corrections are forwarded to the catalogue department, as it is called, where they are transferred to proof sheets of the standing type of the next issue of the book. Thus the list is kept "up to the hour" all the time practically to the moment of going to press. When a new exchange is opened, or a revision of numbers in an old one is necessary, special supplements are published so that the public may have correct information without waiting for the next regular issue of the telephone book to come around.

Sometimes a telephone user is unable to look up the number of the person he wants to speak with. Maybe he has mislaid his directory, or the name he wants is a new subscriber whose name does not appear in the last printed list. In such cases you can always learn instantly the number you want by asking your operator to connect you with the "information operator." The "information operators" in every exchange have special directories arranged by name, by numbers and by streets, so that no matter what inquiry is made about subscribers' numbers they can answer it immediately.

LAWN PARTY AND SPORTS

Children of Channing Church had Varied Attractions

Instead of the customary picnic the children of the Channing Sunday school were given a lawn party Friday afternoon on the grounds of the church, Park and Vernon streets.

The lawn was enclosed with canvas and the youngsters as well as some of the adult members of the school had a jolly good time. The sports were exceedingly well managed by Mr. H. G. McKerrrow, assisted by Mr. Horace C. Harrington as clerk of the course, and attracted much attention.

The contest in which two boys straddled a rolling pole suspended from some painter's horse and attempted to knock each other off with stuffed clubs, was screamingly funny.

A photograph provided music. Mr. H. L. Emery presided over the lemonade stand. After the sports an excellent supper was served by a committee under the direction of Mrs. Ralph C. Emery.

The prizes of ribbons, blue for first, red for second, and yellow for third were presented to these winners by Mrs. A. L. Hudson after supper.

The several 50-yard dashes resulted as follows:

Ethel Parsons, first; Rebecca Cole, second; Adelaide Ball, third; Meylert Bruner, second; Albert Palmer, third.

Raymond Stanley, first; Allen Ringrose, second; Francis Stebbins, third.

Charlotte Bruner, first; Margaret Clark, second; Helen Cram, third.

Willard Brackett, first; Channing Harwood, second; Raymond Stanley, third.

Other events were as follows:

Three legged races for girls—Florence Ringrose and Margaret Clark, first; Margaret Crocker and Ruth Cutler, second; Dorothy Wellington and Charlotte Bruner, third.

For boys—Allen Ringrose and Richard Berry, first; Bigelow Emerson and Edward Emerson, second; James Clark and Meylert Bruner, third.

Raymond Stanley and Willard Brackett, first; Allen Ringrose and Richard Berry, second; Esmon Bailey and James Clark, third.

Egg and Spoon race—Margaret Ball, first; Margaret Clark, second; Charlotte Bruner, third.

Margaret Crocker, first; Florence Ringrose, second; and Ruth Cutler, third.

Potato race—Channing Harwood, first; Blanchard Stebbins, second; Raymond Stanley, third.

Charlotte Bruner, first; Helen Cram, second; Margaret Ball, third.

Sack race—Margaret Clark, first; Charlotte Bruner, second; Dorothy Wellington, third.

Blanchard Stebbins, first; Edward Emerson, second; Minot Guild, third.

Lace shoe race—Allen McKerrrow, first; Raymond Stanley, second; Harold Eustis, third.

High jump—John Crocker, first.

The prize for the kindergarten sports was awarded to Florence Mandell.

Odd Fellows' Field Day

The Odd Fellows of eastern Massachusetts have completed arrangements for their second annual field day, and owing to be held at the Point of Pines, Revere, Saturday, June 29, when the members, their families, and friends may assemble by the seashore and spend the day.

The entire grounds of that picturesque pleasure park have been engaged. There will be athletic events, baseball games, exhibition and competitive drills by the uniform rank, who will be represented from many parts of the state, band concerts and dancing.

The Decoration of Chivalry will be conferred on a number of the Sisters of the Rebekah Degree.

More than a hundred lodges, encampments, cantons and Rebekah lodges are working in conjunction with the executive committee and unless all signs fail the complete success of the affair is assured at the outset.

Canoeists Want Band Concerts

A petition asking that a series of free band concerts be given on the Charles river this season is being circulated among the canoeists. It is being readily signed by a large number of the best known canoeists, as well as by many of the houseboat men. It will be presented to the Metropolitan park commissioners, who have charge of this feature. The petition is the result of rumors that the number of free concerts was to be reduced this season.

Baby Swallowed Cresote

Had the parents of Frances O'Brien, 2 years old, failed to discover the plight of the little girl almost immediately after she had swallowed a large quantity of cresote, Sunday, she would doubtless have died from poisoning.

The child is a daughter of Mr. John J. O'Brien, a teamster living at 198 River street, West Newton. While playing about the house shortly after 9 a. m. she found a quantity of cresote and swallowed nearly two ounces. She was taken hurriedly to a doctor's office, where a stomach pump was used. She was then removed to the Newton hospital.

Thompson--White

A wedding took place Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel White, Grafton street, Newton Center, when their daughter, Miss Florence M. White, became the bride of John K. Thompson of Allentown, Penn. In the presence of many guests the ceremony was performed at 8 by Rev. Dr. Henry B. Williams of Woburn, brother-in-law of the bride, assisted by Rev. Dr. W. H. Cobb.

The bride was gowned in white silk and carried lilies of the valley. Misses Grace White and Mary Cobb were bridesmaids, and they wore costumes of blue and white and carried daisies.

The best man was Harold White, brother of the bride. Miss Bessie Nash and Theodore Potter were flower children. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside in Seattle, Wash., where the groom is in business.

Seaver--Whitmore

An event of more than common social importance was the marriage on Monday evening of Miss Grace A. Whitmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Whitmore, to Edward Seaver, son of Hon. Edward Seaver of Boston. The ceremony took place at the Whitmore residence, 52 Winthrop street, West Newton, Rev. Julian C. Jaynes officiating.

The bride was gowned in white mesaline, trimmed with princess lace. She wore a necklace of pearls and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas.

The maid of honor was Miss Fannie M. Hunt of West Newton. The best man was John H. Dietrich of Pittsburg and the following were the ushers: Arthur and Ross Whitmore, brothers of the bride, Ernest Babcock and William Bell.

At the conclusion of a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Seaver will make their home in Pittsburg, Pa.

Bowen--Gammons

The wedding of Miss Gertrude M. Gammons, daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Gammons, 62 Parsons street, West Newton, and Robert S. Bowen, Highland ave. Newtonville, took place at 2.30 Monday afternoon in St. John's Episcopal church, Newtonville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard T. Loring, the rector, and was witnessed by many friends of the popular couple.

The bride wore a gown of embroidered East India silk, trimmed with lace. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel T. Gammons, as maid of honor, who was gowned in pale yellow silk.

The best man was Willard L. Bowen of Natick, and L. Ellis Gammons, brother of the bride, was usher. The church was prettily decorated with iris. A reception followed from 3 to 4 at the home of the bride, the house being decorated with lilies of the valley. Guests were present from Somerville, Natick and New York.

Burr--Fuller

Mr. Dennis G. Burr, a well known Boston business man living on Sewall street, West Newton, and Miss Sarah H. Fuller of Plymouth, daughter of Mr. Josiah C. Fuller of that town, were married Sunday in Brookline. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Luther

T. Townsend. After a trip Mr. and Mrs. Burr will make their home in West Newton.

Nurses Enjoy Picnic

The Newton Nurses Alumnae association held a picnic on the beautiful estate of Dr. Talbot in Northboro Friday of last week. Picnic was given in honor of the graduating class of 1907.

Important Sale

The Edward T. Harrington Co. through their agent, William H. Rand, report the sale of that fine old property known as the Bigelow estate on Oak Hill, containing about 90 acres of land, bounded by Dedham and Brookline streets, near old Peter, the estates of George A. Towle, Frederick Kennard and Fred Ayers. This estate divides Oak Hill, the other half of the hill being owned by Dana Estes, whose property it adjoins for over one half mile. The Bigelow estate is noted in King's "Handbook of Newton," as follows: "The chief features of natural scenery are Oak Hill which rises to a height of 296 feet above the level of the sea, and is crowned by the Bigelow Villa." Upon the premises is the grand old mansion which has been an attraction and landmark for years, approached by a winding drive nearly one-half mile long from Dedham street. At the base of the hill are the numerous farm buildings. Not far distant is the beautiful country estate erected by the late Hon. Levi C. Wade, together with 75 acres of land which was sold by the above firm a few years ago to Mr. Thayer, also in close proximity is the residence of G. Edward Smith, purchased through this firm two years ago; the transaction was made for Dr. W. S. Bigelow to Horace S. Turner, who leased the premises through the Edward T. Harrington Co. one year ago with the privilege of buying. The price upon which the above firm received a commission was $50,000.

The same brokers report that the contract has been signed by the Bass River Savings Bank to convey the estate acquired by them at 104 Elliot avenue, Newton, consisting of a ten room house with 5000 square feet of land. The purchaser buys for a home. The property is assessed on a valuation of $4400.

The same brokers have sold for Francis I. Amory, a lot of land containing 5000 square feet, situated on Elliot avenue, adjoining the estate sold by the Bass River Savings Bank.

Lively Time at Italian Sociable

In consequence of an altercation which occurred at a social gathering at the home of Pasquale Verdino, 45 years old, Alessandro S. Distigillo, 45 years old, residing at 45 Coburn street, was convicted Friday of assault with a dangerous weapon on Pasquale. He was fined $35, which he paid. With either a razor or knife Verdino was cut through the clothing three times in the back of his coat and twice in the sleeve. In two places the blade went through the vest, shirt and undershirt without breaking the skin. Two of the gashes were 18 inches long.

Rev. William Phipps' Pastorate

EDITOR OF THE GRAPHIC:

In the magazine department of the Boston Sunday Globe of June 2 was a picture and descriptive article on the Congregational church and common at Paxton, Mass. The article seems to me to have been a local interest for there are several in Newton whose early church home it was. The edifice ante dates the Revolution and was erected through efforts of its first pastor, Rev. Silas Bigelow of Sherbury, Mass.

Through many repairs and changes little in the interior remains except the doors. After standing for 85 years it was moved back, a porch added and well purchased. In later years this bell has been found to have come from the foundry of Paul Revere. The church had several excellent pastors. The one whose pastorate was the longest was Rev. Wm. Phipps who retired 1871, after 30 years service. He left a notable family of 5 children. Two sons graduated at Amherst and entered the ministry.

One is the well known former pastor, scholar and artist, of Newton Highlands and formerly of Wellesley. Rev. Mr. Phipps, his father, invented one of the first upright pianos made in this country, whilst pastor at Paxton, and placed it in the parsonage. It is now carefully preserved in the rooms of the Worcester Society of Antiquities.

Lasell Commencement

Commencement at Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, took place Tuesday morning, following the class day exercises held the previous evening. A large number of parents and former graduates returned to the seminary to witness the various features of graduation.

The seniors paid a tribute to President Roosevelt by electing him their sole honorary member. In appreciation of this courtesy the President sent a letter to the class, which was read at the exercises in the gymnasium Monday evening.

Class day exercises opened in the attractively decorated gymnasium. Bearing a long lilac and laurel chain the seniors marched into the gymnasium as the processional was played. A welcome was given by Miss Fern Dixon of Bristol, R. I., president of the class. The roll call by Miss Mary Masters of Jacksonville, Ill., followed.

Miss Esther Levi of Victoria, Tex., read the annals of the class. "A Trip in My Airship" was the subject of an interesting paper by Miss Florence Dismann of Salida, Colo. The "last will and testament" of the class was by Miss Helen Carter, while Miss Mary Richardson's subject was "Violet Come Rejoice With Me." "The Light of '07" was Miss Helen Heath's address, while the "Farewell" was by Miss Martha R. Laurens. A feature which aroused much merriment was a series of stereopticon views of each student as they are supposed to become in middle life.

On the campus, which was lighted by hundreds of colored electric lights, came the more informal exercises. Miss Clara Mins bade farewell to the class to Karadon, the senior dormitory. With mock seriousness Miss Cornelia Eaton presented the deer house to the juniors. "The Message of the Crows" was a pretty feature given in the famous "crow's nest" by Miss Louise Kelly. The last feature was the "exhortation," when the fair seniors disposed of books and other academic paraphernalia.

Commencement exercises for the 30 seniors took place Tuesday afternoon in the Auburndale Methodist church. Following prayer offered by Rev. F. C. Haddock, the pastor, the address to the seniors was delivered by Rev. Dr. O. P. Gifford, whose subject, "Is Life Worth Living?" proved of much interest. The presentation of diplomas then followed.

At noon adjournment was made to the campus, where the students sang class songs. In a large tent the annual banquet to the seniors and their friends was served. During the afternoon reunions of former classes took place in the chapel of the seminary.

Prizes and certificates were awarded in the commencement exercises. Miss Grace L. Vear of Canton, O., won the first prize for bread making, while the second went to Miss Marjorie Gunn of Springfield, O. The school banner for excellence in marching tactics was presented to Co. A.

Miss Hattie F. Rutledge, St. Louis, was given a certificate for excellence in household economics. Six seniors won certificates for four years' work in the pianoforte course, as follows: Misses Helen E. Carter, Hastings, Minn.; Cordelia M. Danforth, Yonkers, N. Y.; Florence H. Dismann, Salida, Colo.; Cornelia H. Eaton, Lee, Mass.; Mary L. Masters, Jacksonville, Ill. and Ida C. Sisson, Binghamton, N. Y.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre—There will be several events of more than passing interest happen at Keith's next week, with the first appearance in vaudeville of Lawrence Barry as the one of the most important. Since this clever English actor made his debut in this country he has been connected with several great successes, notably "The Earl of Pawtucket" and "The Embassy Ball", and he has become an established favorite in comedy roles of a certain kind. Mr. D'Orsay is to play a sketch written especially for him, called "The Crafty Cheat" and those who have had the good fortune to see it in rehearsal predict that it will become a vaudeville classic. "Billy's Tombstones", as presented by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew this week has proved to be one of the hits of the season, so much of a hit that it will be retained among the leading features for a second week. Winona Winter, one of the most versatile entertainers whom Boston has applauded during the season just passed and whose first engagement in the realm of musical comedy proved that the promise she showed when in vaudeville was of the real kind, will present a new specialty. Another young woman who is a great favorite in Boston, her home city by the way, is to play her last engagement in America before sailing for England. Vinie Daly is her name and she will dance as she alone can. The balance of the bill will include Seymour and Hill, acrobatic comedians; Kathryn A. White, a soprano vocalist from Lawrence; a new program by the Barlow String Quartette; the Kemps, colored entertainers of note; Brady and Mahoney, conversational comedians; Jack Lorenz, a great dancer; the Heals, versatile entertainers; Frank Bowman, magician, and the Kinetograph.

Globe Theatre—Among all the plays which created a great sensation a few years ago in New York there was none that was so talked about as "The Conquerors" which Mr. Craig is to offer his patrons at the Globe Theatre next week. The play is in four acts and was written by Paul M. Potter who made it from a thrilling tale of Guy de Maupassant, the great novelist. The action takes place during the Franco-Prussian War and the whole atmosphere is distinctly that of military life. The play is one that admits of many beautiful scenic effects and all the characters are boldly drawn, life-like persons such as one would expect to find in the ranks of the German army and the French populace. Mr. Craig has cast the play with unusual care and the presentation of "The Conquerors" promises to be one of the specially notable events of his already brilliant summer season.

The Orpheum—Replete with novelties and features is the bill selected for the week of June 17 at Percy Williams' Orpheum, and it is a bill of extraordinary strength. The Belclair Brothers, easily the greatest athletes on the vaudeville stage, have been retained for a second week. "In the Latin Quarter" is the title of a very pretty singing and dancing sketch which is included in the program. Mosher, Houghton and Mosher, a great comedy cycle act, and Welch, Francis and Company in a hodge-podge of nonsense and horse play are two other big features. Among the other acts are Almont and Dumont in a refined musical act, Ziska and King in burlesque magic. The Chadwick Trio in a rural comedy act and Sut Smith, the singing flower girl. New moving pictures will be shown by the Kinetograph.

Majestic Theatre—At the Majestic Theatre, Boston, Warfield in "The Music Master" is greeted by crowded houses at every performance. He sways his audiences even as he has done before by the great characterization of von Harwig, a role which the Belasco star has made a classic of the American stage. It is therefore a double pleasure to be able to chronicle the announcement made by David Belasco of the extension of two weeks which he has decided to make in accordance with the public's emphatic demand for a longer engagement. Seats for these additional weeks will go on sale Wednesday morning and meanwhile it is announced that desirable seats are still to be had at the box office for every performance of this week. Warfield began his first and only road tour in "The Music Master" at the Majestic theatre, and that same playhouse is to see the final performances of this play, for at the close of this engagement Warfield will enact the kindly old German music teacher no longer. Next season Warfield will open the new theatre called The Stuyvesant, in 44th street, New York, a playhouse constructed after the playwright-manager's own ideas.

Colonial Theatre—That prolific and successful young American author-composer and playwright, Geo. M. Cohan, has furnished another highly entertaining play to the American stage. It is called "50 Miles From Boston," and reason for the title is found in the fact that the scenes and incidents told in the story of the play are laid in and around Brookfield, Mass., and the characters with which it is peopled have been taken from types of that thriving little town and its surrounding Brookfields. The principal members of the "50 Miles From Boston" organization include the names of prominent actors and actresses who have, by their conscientious theatrical deportment in the past, established enviable reputations for themselves. They are Emma Janvier, Fritz Williams, Donald Brian, George Parsons, James C. Marlowe, James H. Bradbur, John D. O'Hara, Lorena Grimm, Louise Rial, Hazel Lowry, Zella Sears, Grace Scott and Russell Pincus. No Cohan play would be quite complete without musical numbers, and in "50 Miles From Boston" the young author has supplied five distinctly fascinating songs that will, it is promised, become immediately popular. They are captioned as follows: "Jack and Jill," "A Small Town Gal," "Ain't It Awful," "Boys Who Fight the Flames," and "Harrigan." Mr. Cohan has also supplied the orchestra with a number called "The Brookfield Two-Step," which is finding as much favor as has his celebrated "Popularity" March. The performance of "50 Miles From Boston" is scheduled for the Colonial Theatre Monday evening, June 17.

Norumbega Park—Now that the weather seems likely to be somewhat more summer-like the picturesque charms of beautiful Norumbega Park are more compelling than ever before. Still another, first class bill of vaudeville is offered in the best covered open-air theatre the coming week. Nearly every vaudeville patron has heard of Vernon, the famous ventriloquist. In his particular line of work there is none better. His famous stuttering boy is a masterpiece of his kind. In his act he is assisted by Mrs. Vernon. Another excellent act is offered by the Holdsworths, a man and an attractive young woman who have a novelty singing, musical and dancing sketch. Joseph Denning has a very refined monologue which never fails to please. The Arlington Comedy Four present a picture of street life and at the same time sing most melodiously. Throughout the act there is a constant run of sparkling comedy. Another act of equal excellence which is to be announced later and new pictures on the komograph complete the bill. Mr. Felix and his son are the center of social life in the zoological garden just at present. "Close rivals to Baby Felix is the baby buffalo which waddles uncertainly on its long slim legs close beside its massive father in the buffalo run. The baby bear who is no larger than a fair sized Teddy Bear is also a big favorite with the little folks. He will soon be old enough to eat peanuts. The restaurant under the new management of C. H. Osgood continues to serve excellent food at very moderate prices, canoeing and boating is popular and the merry-go-round, the swing courts, the Chalet of Wonders all have their following.

Buffalo Bill in Boston

With three open-air melodramas and a host of reckless horsemen on Western bronchos there will be a genuine atmosphere of the open plains and rugged frontier life in the exhibition to be given in Boston one week beginning next Monday by Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders of the World. A Holiday at T-E Ranch, which will show the pastimes of the plainsman and cowboy and will end in a vigorous Indian attack upon the whites, a repulse and final route of the redmen. The Battle of Summit Springs will be the leading feature of the entertainment. In this scene one of the deciding conflicts in Indian warfare will be reproduced. Still another type of Western warfare will be illustrated in The Great Train Hold-Up in which the famous bandit-hunters of the Union Pacific will be shown in conflict with desperadoes. The Rough Riders will display various feats of horsemanship. There will be a quadrille on horseback, bronchos and mustangs in displays of difficult tricks, there will be "broncho busting" and many other forms of accomplished horsemanship by riders gathered from the Far East and once wild west. In every way the exhibition will be a departure in open air entertainment and at every performance Buffalo Bill will be in the saddle at the head of his company, directing the performance.

Mile Caroline

Before going abroad for the new styles and novelties, announces a clearance sale of hats, toques and bouquets, the imported models as well as her own creations. You not only receive the benefit of the lower price, but also the same personal attention in regard to the fit and the fitness of the former figure—an essential often lost sight of in most shops at mark down-time and which has made Mile Caroline so successful in keeping her patronage.

—Crosby's Restaurant, 19 School street, Boston, is a good place to dine at.

Summer Comforts

Summer, although somewhat delayed, is with us. The fact has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of everyone in the last few days.

We want to demonstrate the fact that it is possible to be comfortable and to laugh at "Old Sol's" attempts to make us otherwise.

HONORS FOR MANY PUPILS

Exercises Held in the Grammar Schools
This Week

Diplomas and Certificates Presented—Programs
of Much Interest

Graduation exercises held in the various grammar school buildings during the week have marked the close of the school year. Programs of much interest and originality have been enjoyed by large audiences made up of parents and friends of the pupils.

In each school the work is said to be highly satisfactory and each class of graduates gave the on-looker, in the course of the order of exercises, an excellent opportunity to see what had been the achievements of the term just closing.

Much pleasure was expressed by those who saw the pupils receive their diplomas and the occasion was, in each school, made one of much interest to pupil, teacher and parent.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 the High school graduating class will hold exercises in the assembly hall at which diplomas will be presented.

—Mrs. Blanch C. Martin, who is one of the instructors at Lasell Seminary, will serve the coming year as a director of the New Professional Women's Club.

—Mrs. Elmira H. Keyes and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Keyes of Rowe street were at Canobie Lake, near Salem, N. H., last Monday where they attended a family reunion.

—At the Woodland Park Hotel last Saturday evening a candy sale and concert was held under the auspices of the guests. About $40 was raised for the Boston Floating Hospital.

—Prof. Alexander R. Merriam, who is one of the faculty of the Hartford Theological Seminary, occupied the pulpit of the Congregational church last Sunday morning and evening.

—Several members of the Wabewawa Canoe Club of Riverside participated in the annual meet of the Eastern division of the American Canoe Association which was held in Lawrence Monday.

—Tomorrow the Bank Officer's Association will hold its annual field day at Riverside. There will be a baseball game and aquatic sports in the afternoon and in the evening a display of fireworks.

—The last meeting of the Searchlight Club for the season was held Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Frank F. Davidson on Hancock street. There was a good attendance and an interesting program was presented.

—Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Nellie J. McGrath, daughter of Mrs. Johanna McGrath, and Mr. John O'Brien of Boston the wedding to take place at the family residence on Newland street, Wednesday, June 26th at 8 o'clock.

—Rev. Dr. S. W. Dike will be in charge of the meeting of the Friendly Class at the Congregational church next Sunday. The study of church history will be continued the special topic being, "Congregationalism; Robinson and the Pilgrims."

—While driving on Washington street near Crafts street, Newton, last Saturday evening Messrs Frederick Batstone and Edward F. Brock were run into by an automobile. The horse became frightened and ran away badly demolishing the carriage. The animal was bruised and the two men were considerably cut up and shaken.

—The committee chosen by the vestry of the Church of the Messiah to make plans, specifications and secure estimates for the contemplated improvements to the church have nearly completed their task and it is hoped that work will soon begin. The members of the committee are Rev. John Matteson, Mr. M. U. Adams and Mr. M. E. Beardsley.

Buying Groceries Right

At New England's Pure Food Stores.

It is so easy to buy groceries the wrong way—the costly way. Buying at Ginter's means right buying—economical buying. You save a little every minute you shop here—something on every item. Add these little "somethings" together at the end of the week and you will be surprised what you have done by only trying.

We guarantee quality satisfaction. If not satisfied, we refund money and all charges.

Here are specials for one week (June 24—29) that backs up this sort of logic.

The "nature faker," of whom much has been printed of late, shows himself to be the personification of veracity
when compared with the deliberate faker who prepares copy for newspapers without regard to truth, accuracy or even the laws of libel. It is not to be assumed for a moment that such a writer or his employers will consider for a moment the precise facts of the case, the possible damaging effects of a distorted story and least of all the elements of decency.

There have been of late so many instances of preposterous and outrageous
"faking" on the part of certain daily newspapers that it is well a reader should learn how to distinguish between a "flash," as it is called, and that which contains the truth and the truth alone. Unfortunately no formula is available and the only advice we can suggest is to learn the policy of the paper you are reading. One good fake is certain to be followed by another, while one well-told, correct story is assurance that all the others are as carefully prepared.

There is always the danger in the general condemnation of newspapers by those who say, "Oh, you can't believe anything you read in the papers." This assertion has come to be as absurd as it is ancient and yet the newspapers, who misstate facts for purposes of sensationalism have been the very cause of the longevity of this veteran phrase. A good paper serves the community as no other public agency can. It conveys to the people such information that is for their benefit, pleasure or their particular needs and uses. It reflects the life of the city or town in which it is published and reveals the character of the people.

While you are weighing the merit of your daily paper it is not a bad idea to observe the kind of men it employs, if opportunity brings you in contact with them. A conservative, reliable paper demands the labor of a modest, active and intelligent man. It will not tolerate any other kind. Thus one may obtain an insight into the character of his favorite newspaper.

Of course, there are people whose vivid imaginations are as keen as in the days of their childhood. Everyone knows that the juvenile mind sees things differently and delights in wonderment, wide-eyed mystery and general consternation. It is to this very class and no other that certain newspapers supply a constantly-felt want. The newspaper publishers will argue, if you can get them to be frank with you, that "there's money in it." That seems to be the only point they consider.

It is folly to deliver a homily on the vices of yellow journalism when that very form of newspaper work has proven profitable to certain publishers, but one can repeat for the benefit of those who deplore such a state of affairs the necessity of cautious indorsement of cheap newspapers.

If you patronize a cheap newspaper for even the purchase of a copy and then you merely postpone the time when there will be published only the newspapers that respectable people care to read.

At this season of the year when the lavish charms of nature are made the more conspicuous by the delightful weather conditions, the general beauty of this city is emphasized more firmly than ever. A section, which, while greatly admired, has not become so widely appreciated as it should be, is that known as the Oak Hill district. The recent purchase of the Dr. Bigelow estate by a wealthy citizen who plans to make many improvements and yet retain the mansion and the tract of land as a private residence, shows the value set upon Oak Hill as an ideal place for a semi-rural home. Oak Hill is easy of access and yet sufficiently removed from electric cars as to satisfy those who desire complete retirement. As a matter of fact it is half as big as the town of Brookline and yet is sparsely settled. The man with an appetite for a "pretty little country home" can do no better in Massachusetts, we believe, than by establishing himself in Oak Hill. Here is attractive scenery, excellent farm land and useful and picturesque woodland. What more is necessary?

The news is found in another column of the band concerts to be given at Riverside on Saturday afternoons and evenings through June, July and August under the direction of the Metropolitan Park Commission. At Fox Island, Waltham, a point easily reached by canoists, there will be a similar series given on Sunday afternoons. Whether you approve or not doesn't make any difference now. Newton helps pay the bills, so go and get your money back.
Perhaps if you request it the band will play "It's All Right in the Summer Time."

Only the highest praise has been heard of the results of this year's school term as exemplified by the grammar school graduation exercises held this week. The pupils who have received diplomas or certificates leave school with sense of gratitude toward their teachers, while the latter cannot restrain a feeling of pride. Parents and relatives look on approvingly, the school committee members sanction the proceedings, the janitor smiles as all leave the building for the last time and vacation commences.

Rear Admiral John W. Weeks

The Boston Globe of June 14 says: It is now Rear Admiral John W. Weeks, he having been placed on the retirement list of the naval militia of the state of Massachusetts with that rank by general orders No. 11, which reads
as follows:

"The retirement of the following named commissioned officer, 10 April, 1900, as captain, is hereby rescinded, his retirement certificate recalled, and he is placed on the retired list of the Massachusetts volunteer militia with the rank of rear admiral, under the provisions of chapter 504, acts of 1906, amending chapter 231, acts of 1904—
Capt. John W. Weeks, naval brigade
—date April 10, 1900."

John W. Weeks, ex-mayor of Newton, and at present congressman from the 12th district, commanded the Massachusetts naval brigade and brought it up to high efficiency before the Spanish war. He is a New Hampshire product of good old colonial stock, became a school teacher at 16 and entered the U. S. naval academy in 1877, being graduated in 1881. He served on the USS Powhatan and later on the steamship Richmond, the flagship at the time of the Asiatic station. He left the regular naval service in 1883 to engage in business, but was on hand when the call went forth in '98, and commanded until 1900, when he was retired at his own request, being succeeded by Capt. Buffington of Fall River. In 1906 he was appointed by President Cleveland a member of the board of visitors to the U. S. naval academy.

Division 53, A. O. H. of West Newton held a largely attended meeting in Mague hall last Sunday afternoon.
Fourteen candidates were initiated by the Natick degree staff.

Middlesex, St. Bernard's and the Newton Centre Courts, M. C. O. F., are arranging for a concert and dance to be given in Mague hall, West Newton, next Friday evening, for the benefit of the Working Boys Home. The various Catholic organizations of the city are preparing for a field day to be held on the Cedar street grounds July 27.

The members of Boynton Lodge of Odd Ladies enjoyed an outing to Deer Island last Tuesday as the guests of Noble Lady Mrs. Herbert Cook.

Concerts for Canoists

The Metropolitan Park commission has planned the following concerts to be given at 2.30 and 7 p. m. on the following dates at Riverside: July 6, July 13, July 20, July 27, Aug. 3, Aug. 10, Aug.
17, Aug. 24 and Aug. 31. It will be seen that these are planned for Saturdays and will undoubtedly prove a popular attraction for canoists and others who delight in visiting the river.

At Fox Island, Waltham, concerts have been planned for the following Sundays at 2.30 p. m.: June 23, June 30, July 7, July 14, July 21, July 28,
Aug. 4, Aug. 11, Aug. 18, Aug. 25 and Sept. 1.

Real Estate

Alvord Bros. have sold for S. M.
Jackson and W. H. Lincoln to L. M.
Maynes, 166,240 square feet of land on the easterly side of Dudley street, Newton Centre. The new owner intends to erect a house and stable for occupancy.
This is one of the most beautiful locations in Newton and in the immediate vicinity of the estates of Elizabeth Stewart Phelps Ward, A. C. Badger, Geo. H. Towle and F. H. Kennard.

Through the office of Alvord Bros.
the house on the corner of Ashmont avenue and Crafts street, Newtonville, belonging to John A. Lothrop, has been rented to Mr. F. Stevens of Natick.

Alvord Bros. have also rented the house No. 228 Langley road, Newton Centre, to J. McGlade.

Goodrow--Brigham

A brilliant company of guests attended the wedding of Miss Florence Brigham, daughter of Mr. John William Brigham, and Ernest Goodrow, son of Mr. John Goodrow of 83 Spruce street,
Watertown, which took place at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's father, 63 Elmhurst road, Newton.

The officiating clergyman was Rev.
Frank B. Matthews, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church.

The bride wore an empire robe of Brussels net, elaborately trimmed with point lace. She wore a bridal wreath and carried brides roses.

Miss Helen Snow was maid of honor.
She wore a robe of point de sierre over nile green and carried pink roses.

The best man was George Watson of Watertown and the ushers were Alderman E. B. Bowen of Newton Centre, an uncle of the bride; Harold W. Brigham of Brookline, a relative of the bride, and George Watson of Watertown.

Kidder Bowen, a cousin of the bride, was page and was dressed in white pique. Sylvia Brigham, a sister of the bride, was ring bearer. She was dressed in a dainty creation of white.

From 2 to 10 o'clock there was a reception at which Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Goodrow were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brigham and Mr. and Mrs. John Goodrow. The mother of the bride was gown in pearl gray voile, trimmed with lace. The groom's mother was gown in gray silk trimmed with applique.

The house was beautifully decorated with palms, pink laurel and roses. There was music by the Harvard mandolin club of five pieces. The guests included many prominent society people of the Newtons, Brookline and Watertown.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodrow left in an automobile on a wedding tour. They will be at home after Oct. 1 at 63 Elmhurst road, Newton.

LIFE'S HANDICAPS

Rev. A L Hudson Gives Forceful Sermon

Refers to Trial of Harry Orchard at Boise

Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson preached last Sunday morning on "Handicaps," taking as a text the advice of the Apostle Paul to his colleague, Timothy:
"Take thy part in suffering hardship as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

Referring to Paul's figure of speech he showed how the daily discipline of a soldier's life fits him to meet emergencies with quiet effectiveness. The raw recruit is liable to become panic stricken under fire; while the seasoned soldier, under the same circumstances, remains cool, steady and reliable. The very hardships he has had to endure, in the stern school of the soldier, have developed in him the qualities required to render him efficient. No doubt at first he regards these "handicaps" as serious handicaps to a soldier's life; but larger experience has taught him that without them he could not have become a soldier at all.

His fundamental fact, so self evident in the military reference, Paul was anxious to impress upon his young colleague who was about to face the trying conditions which the disciples of Jesus had to meet in the middle of the first century.
But the lesson is no less timely and important today. All of us must learn to "take our part in bearing hardships," if we would become "good soldiers" in the battle of life.

Usually, however, hardship is about the last thing we are willing to make our part in. Discipline never seems desirable at the time it is applied. We are all apt to find fault with the conditions which seem to handicap our progress and to think we might hope to win success if it were not for the obstacles and difficulties which beset us. A young man eager for a college education but unable to realize it because he must work to support himself and others, feels for a time that his plans and ambitions for the future are doomed. The young man without capital thinks that but for this handicap
he might become a successful business man, whereas now it seems most difficult. Both of them, if they are of the right sort, are sure to learn in later life that the necessity for each of them to work out his own career was the greatest good fortune they could have had.

That the success which they won at last was the logical result of the efforts they were compelled to make in overcoming obstacles. This is no abstract statement.
Its truth could be verified a dozen times
in this very congregation or in any similar company of successful men. Hundreds of men in the city of Newton, in looking back over their lives, would frankly admit that they are chiefly indebted for the success which they have gained, to difficulties and hardships which seemed at the time to be discouraging handicaps.

What is true in the field of business or professional success is even more vital in the development of character.
We are much given to telling ourselves that we would be very much better folks, more kindly disposed toward our neighbors, and more public spirited and helpful as citizens if only we did not have so many individual troubles to bear, so many annoyances and vexations,
so many disappointments and sorrows.
And yet as a rule the most truly generous, often the most cheerful and always the most sympathetic people are those who have learned to bear with calmness,
with fortitude and courage the discipline of life—those who have come up through great tribulation—who have climbed with bleeding feet the rough and thorny pathway which leads to the "Plains of Peace."

Another lesson we need to learn about the handicaps of life is the Universality of such experiences. "There hath no trial come to you," says the apostle,
"but such as is common." Our own grief or disappointment, or difficulty seems to stand out so entirely alone in the whole universe. It separates us from our kind when it should bring us nearer to them.
Like a wounded animal which goes off alone to die, we too often nurse our sorrows and intensify them by avoidance of others lest they hurt us through their inability to comprehend and be still.

But it is much easier to realize these lessons after the immediate handicap,
whatever its nature, has been overcome.
The thing we most need is the insight to perceive that our present trouble may be made to serve our best development and ultimately success. That philosophy of life is of little value which tells us to shut our eyes to present evil and to declare with blind infatuation that it does not exist. The philosophy we need in one while while seeing with clear vision the nature of the evil against which we are striving at this present moment, assures us that this evil exists to be overcome by us, and in the very process to yield to us the rich reward of added character and power; that we are to "rise by the things that are under our feet;" and that our lives grow strong, just as the giants of the forest do, through the storms they have endured.

All of these lessons are of little value unless they grow out of the religious motive. It was not merely "as a good soldier" that Paul wished Timothy to "suffer hardship" but "as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." It is important to understand, however, just what we mean by the religious motive. For often the most selfish motives masquerade themselves under the name of religion.

During the past week the people of this country and of the civilized world have been appalled by the evidence in a great state trial in Idaho making confession of numerous cold blooded murderers committed by one man who claims officers of a well known public organization. The logical sequence and coherence of the story has been remarkable,
nor has the testimony of the witness been shaken by a most searching and able cross examination.

What motive has impelled this man to reveal these crimes? The defense quite naturally reply: "It is to save his life. He has been pronounced innocent from the death penalty as a reward for implicating these defendants." But the greatest skill of the attorneys for the defendants has failed to draw out any support for this assumption. In the closing half hour of the examination another equally rational and more probable explanation was elicited. It appears that under the influence of a priest he had been led to turn his thoughts toward the future life until he became convinced that he must make this confession in order to save his soul from endless torment.

Now, in analyzing the credibility of his testimony this motive is more favorable to a belief in its truthfulness than that suspected by the defense. For he might reasonably expect to gain the favor of the authorities in Idaho if his story helped to convict the defendants who were on trial whether the story in itself were true or false; but before the court of high heaven he could not hope to gain favor by falsehood. For he could be as well assured as was the King in the play of Hamlet that "There is no shuffling, there the action lies
In its true nature; and we ourselves
are compelled,
Even to the teeth and forehead of our faults,
To give in evidence."

He might save his life by lying; but he could not hope to save his soul except through uncompromising truth.
But when we consider the religious character of such a motive the saving of one's soul from endless torture is quite as selfish and personal as the saving of one's neck from the rope or one's body from the electric chair. We must learn not to degrade religion to the level of self interest. When we speak of the religious motive as the central thought in successfully overcoming the handicaps of life we have in mind no such selfish motive as that which actuated Orchard in his horrible confession. But rather that growing sense of our relation to the Universal life which enables us to realize our common unity and our divine destiny—that motive which leads us in the very midst of life's commonplace duties to recognize that the chief purpose of all experience is the building of noble character, the making of a soul. Then shall we become in truth "good soldiers of Jesus Christ" when we learn like him to seek the heights of being where we can say
"I and my father are one."

Parochial School Exercises.

Witnessed by a gathering of parents and friends of the pupils which filled the hall of the parochial school of the church of Our Lady, closing exercises took place last evening. There were 37 graduates from the ninth grade, and eight from the high school class.

The gold medal for excellence in school work was awarded Miss Mary V.
Nevis. In an eloquent address full of sound advice and kindly counsels to the young people the address to the graduates was delivered by Rev. Fr. A. L.
Malone. Handsome bouquets were presented each graduate by admiring friends.

The ninth grade graduates were the following: Howard P. Ireland, Florence
M. Cole, Teresa Roquemore, David B.
Waters, Paul F. O'Donnell, Helen L.
Blaisdell, Charles P. York, Mary V.
Nevis, Margaret J. Drennan, Ida L.
Boucher, Robert J. Burns, Mary A.
Morrell, Mary C. Quirk, Frederick M.
Joyes, Anna B. Hickey, Mary T. Tierney, Catherine A. Vahey, Michael L.
Keegan, Catherine A. MacLellan, Winifred C. Leary, Mary L. Kerens, Helen
A. Bryson, Louis J. Dooley, Donald J.
MacLellan, William J. Garry, Edith
M. Waters, Raymond J. Doreux, Mary
E. Quinn, Cecelia G. Sullivan, John P.
Tierney, Joseph B. Williams, Alice L.
Murphy, Thomas F. Hickey, Gertrude
M. O'Halloran and Louis F. Miller.

The high school graduates were Sara
A. Drennan, Mary A. Cunningham, Hannah F. Duggan, Clifford S. White,
Ethel E. Joyce, Sarah A. Mulhern,
Mary A. Waters and Thomas F. Bryson.

The order of exercises was particularly interesting, being as follows:
Orchestra (a) "The Guild," Lansing;

TELEPHONE TALKS

Believing that exact knowledge promotes co-operation, the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company is publishing a series of brief expositions of some phases of telephony, for the benefit of itself, and, as it hopes, for the benefit of all telephone users.

"THEY DON'T ANSWER."

It is always annoying when you are trying to get somebody on the telephone to be told that "they don't answer." And if you are in an unusual hurry, or are particularly disappointed, or are a little excited—for the moment you have waited seems like an age sometimes—you may think that "Central" is to blame. If you are especially irritated you may even accuse the operator of not having tried at all to get the person you want.

Look into your exchange some day—the manager will be glad to see you any time—and watch how its work is done. Then you'll feel differently about it. You can rest assured that if "Central" says "they don't answer," they don't. She has tried her best to get them, but without success.

The first thing the operator does when you give her a call is to "test" to see if the number you ask for is busy. If the line is not in use, she connects with it and rings the subscriber's bell. If nobody answers her first ring within 15 seconds she rings again. If there is still silence after another quarter of a minute she rings a third time. If there is no response in the next 15 seconds she reports to you "they don't answer." Then she will ring again, and again, and again, if you ask her to. It is a good deal like ringing someone's doorbell. If nobody comes to let you in after you have rung two or three times you make up your mind that the family is out and go away. The telephone company has to stop somewhere, and it gives up at the end of a minute and a half to two minutes, after ringing three times, unless it is asked to keep on.

Most often, you will notice, it is when you call up a residence that you are told "they don't answer." The reason is simple when you come to think of it, but probably it doesn't occur to everybody. In a business place the telephone is pretty sure to be located where the bell can be heard easily and there is someone whose business it is to answer calls. At any rate, there is always somebody near the instrument to answer promptly in business hours. There are lots of times, of course, when there is nobody at home to answer a residence telephone. Besides, a good many people insist on having their house telephones put in out of the way corners. The result is that the ringing of the bell is not always heard, and even when it is heard, answering it means a trip into another room or upstairs. Then, too, it is not always convenient to drop house-work or leave company and go to the telephone instantly, and that makes a delay which gives the impression that there is nobody on hand to answer your summons.

These things no doubt have a good deal to do with your being told "they don't answer." In many cases they account for your meeting a friend every now and then who says, when you tell him you tried to call him up and couldn't get him, that he "was there all the time." They also go to explain why, when you answer your own telephone after a delay, you are sometimes told by the operator that "there is nobody on your line now." The person who was calling you has given you up and gone away.

Automobilists in Court

The array of motor cars outside the police court Saturday morning looked not unlike an automobile show exhibit. Owners and chauffeurs came to court not to study latest wrinkles in "benzene buggies" but in answer to various summonses. Three automobilists were convicted of speeding machines more than the legal rate, and six others were found guilty of running their cars on the north side of Commonwealth avenue, where motor vehicles are forbidden.

Fines of $15 each were imposed on Herbert H. Whitney of Wellesley, charged with making 26 miles an hour; Oscar W. Bloometh, Malden, charged with making 34 miles an hour, and Charles W. Bates, Boston, who the police testified went 28 miles an hour.

For driving his machine on the north side of Commonwealth avenue Griswold Haywood of Boston was fined $5. The cases of John Mitchell of Watertown, Daniel Donnelly of Roxbury, Everett J. Beede of Hudson, Russell P. Lowe of Fitchburg and Dr. Sylvanus J. Burch of Orange, each charged with like offenses, were placed on file.

Automobile Accidents

Two automobiles were wrecked as a result of a collision at the corner of Lowell avenue and Otis street, Newtonville, shortly after 6:30 Tuesday night. The occupants, four women and two men, were thrown out of the machines. Fortunately they landed on a lawn, sustaining injuries no more serious than numerous minor bruises and severe shakings up.

A touring car owned by Herbert Rogers of Page road, Newtonville, was being driven up Lowell avenue toward Commonwealth avenue. As it approached Otis street a smaller machine owned by H. W. Willison, 100 Prince street, West Newton, came down the Otis street, grade toward the corner.

A house at the corner of the thoroughfares made it impossible for the occupants of one machine to see the other car until within a few rods of the junction of the streets. When the drivers of both machines suddenly realized that an accident was imminent they both veered off to avoid a collision. Neither chauffeur saw the other in time to avoid a collision, however, and the machines came together with a crash that could be heard throughout the neighborhood.

The touring car struck the smaller automobile in the middle of the left side, knocking it into a sign post. The post was broken off, a letter box knocked from its position and the rear wheels of the smaller car broken off. The car brought up against a hydrant and turned over on its side.

The right forward wheel of the touring car was broken off and this machine also went over onto its side. Much of the upper work as well as the running gear of both machines was badly damaged.

Two women and a man occupied each machine. The six passengers were thrown onto the lawn at the southeast corner of the junction. They were assisted to their homes, and it is believed they received no serious injuries. The touring car is said to have been owned by Mr. Rogers only a few weeks.

A buggy occupied by John J. Fallon, 7 Beach street, Somerville, was struck by an automobile about 11 p. m. Tuesday night on Washington street, opposite the Newtonville truck house, and Fallon was thrown out and rendered unconscious. The automobilists, according to the police, sped off toward Newton, without stopping to find out what damage had resulted. Fallon received numerous bruises and a severe shaking up. He was removed to his home. The vehicle was considerably damaged.

Funeral of Miss Carpenter

The funeral of Miss Caroline A. Carpenter, assistant principal of Lasell seminary, who died at the seminary the day after commencement, took place at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the seminary chapel at Auburndale.

In the presence of many former pupils and members of the faculty the service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Charles Parkhurst of New York, assisted by three other clergymen. Rev. Dr. F. N. Pelouet of Auburndale read a poem, Rev. F. C. Haddock, pastor of the Auburndale Methodist church, offered prayer, as did also Rev. Dr. Henry Stark of New York.

Principal C. C. Bragdon made a brief address in which he paid warm tribute to the 34 years' work in the seminary of Miss Carpenter. Misses White and Goodrich of the faculty sang several hymns, including Miss Carpenter's favorite selection, "Peace, Perfect Peace." Burial was in Mt. Auburn cemetery, the bearers being Dr. G. M. Winslow, assistant principal; Prof. Joseph A. Hill, Prof. Henry M. Dunham and Prof. H. E. Goldstein, the three latter being members of the music department faculty. The casket was literally buried with floral tributes.

Pupils' Recital

In the assembly hall of the Hunsell club last Saturday afternoon a pianoforte recital was given by pupils of Mr. Henry T. Wade assisted by Miss Charlotte White, cellist. The program was a most artistic one, the various selections taken from well known composers, and the work of the young people showed careful training and a true conception of the various composers' work. The pupils taking part were the Misses Marjorie Holmes, Margaret E. Porter, Helen C. James, Margaret Bacon, Hazel C. Taft, Ruth Gay, Augusta Patton, Mildred S. Drake, Edith J. Lassen, Edith L. Jamieson, Edith E. Hubbard, and Masters John H. Givan, F. Sayford Bacon and F. Ashley Day Jr.

Freight Transportation by Trolley

October 1, 1907, is the day which the Boston & Worcester St. Ry. Co. has announced as the day on which they will start their freight and express business between Boston, So. Framingham, Worcester, and other points along their line. The rights have already been secured from the municipalities along the line, and have been approved by the Railroad Commissioners.

The freight cars and equipment have been ordered, arrangements have been made for their terminals, and the schedule of rates will be published within a short time.

The company has been trying to arrange to start this business for some time, but have found it impossible to make arrangements to operate their cars into Boston. If these arrangements can not be made before October 1, the company will arrange to operate a line of auto trucks between Chestnut Hill, its easterly terminus, and the center of the Boston business section. This will give as quick delivery as though the express cars were operated way through.

The management contemplates trips from Boston every two or three hours all day.

Before this time the double track between Framingham and Southboro will be complete, and the company will have a double track system all the way between Boston and Worcester.

Arrangements will be made with the Worcester system for bringing their cars into Worcester, and the companies agents are already arranging with some of the larger manufacturers for the transportation of their goods.

Massachusetts State Federation

The Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Club held its fifteenth annual meeting at Great Barrington this week by invitation of the Thursday Morning Club. The convention opened with a reception Tuesday evening given to the Federation officers, delegates and visiting club-women. The Wednesday morning session was opened with an address of welcome by Mrs. Anna E. Giddings, president of the Thursday Morning Club, and Miss Helen A. Whittier responded for the State Federation. Miss Whittier spoke of the annual meeting held ten years ago in Great Barrington and the pleasure of accepting again the same generous hospitality. Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker brought greetings from the general federation and the New England State Federations were well represented.

The annual reports of the officers were then taken up. Miss Whittier in her report as President said in part: "In the past ten years the Massachusetts State Federation has doubled its membership, has revised its by-laws, and has instituted the conference of presidents. Ten years ago there was no Federation journal. In 1897 Miss Winslow started the 'Club-Woman' and there has never been a more powerful agency for spreading the federation idea and influence than that exerted by the 'Club-Woman' and its successor 'The Federation Bulletin'.

The General Federation had only begun. The introduction of standing committees to carry on the work of the Federation came in these years and this policy has been developed until we have now eleven departments closely correlated on the one side to those of the General Federation and on the other to similar departments in our own individual clubs. The bazar fund of $5000 acquired as a reserve fund for special objects has enabled us to maintain for another year the Massachusetts Model School in Georgia; to carry on the settlement work in the Tennessee mountains; to meet a portion of the expense of publishing a pamphlet in regard to the 'School City'; to cooperate with the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston in preparing a series of statistical charts showing conditions in domestic service which was exhibited at the Industrial Exposition held in Boston last April and attracted much attention; and most important of all, the fund has enabled us to endow a fellowship for one year which has permitted certain investigations into factory conditions.

"Much earnest work is being put into preparations for our guests of the biennial and we ought also to consider preparing ourselves to benefit by the privileges that the biennial will bring. It ought not to be possible to find one club-woman in Massachusetts ignorant of the aims and achievements of the Federation. Let us in Massachusetts make this a General Federation year and endeavor to understand what the General Federation and State Federation stand for, remembering always that the issues which they present are the vital issues of our own communities."

The remainder of the morning was devoted to the reports of the other officers and chairmen. The clerk, Mrs. Julia K. Aldrich, reported that sixteen clubs had been admitted during the year so that the Federation now comprises 236 clubs with a membership of 34,179 women.

The afternoon session was opened with an address by Mrs. Philip S. Moore of St. Louis who spoke on the "Educational Side of the General Federation work. Miss George Bacon, first vice-president of the State Federation, reported for the local biennial board, and Mrs. Emmens Crocker of Fitchburg gave a resume of the council just held in Jamestown.

The convention closed Wednesday evening with addresses by Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker, president of the General Federation, and Mrs. Philip Carpenter of New York, president of Sorosis.

Jewett-Gallichan

Wednesday evening of last week at the residence of Mr. Clement Gallichan, 285 Tremont street, uncle of the bride, took place the wedding of Florence M. Jewett of Boston and Albert L. Jewett of Andover. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Grant Person of Eliot church.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white silk, with lace trimmings. The conventional veil was caught up with lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The matron of honor was Mrs. H. T. Abbott of Magnolia who was gownied in white net over silk. She carried day-break pinks. Mr. T. Abbott of Magnolia was best man.

The Misses Margaret and Adelaide Ball were flower girls and carried field daisies and double yellow buttercups.

After the ceremony a reception was held. The house was prettily decorated with potted plants, double pinks and apple blossoms. A collation was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewett left on a late train for Washington, D. C.

Wilder-Leavens

Miss Edith Leavens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Leavens of Otis street, Newtonville, was married, Wednesday evening of last week, to Solon Wilder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilder of Gardner, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of the Central Congregational church. There were present only immediate relatives and friends. Mr. Wilder is a graduate of Harvard class '05. After a trip Mr. and Mrs. Wilder will reside in Gardner.

Chase-Warner

Mrs. Florence Gilman Warner of 74 Harvard street, Newtonville, and L. Edwin Chase of 47 Richardson street, Newton, were married at Newton, last Wednesday evening by Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of the Eliot Congregational church. Mr. and Mrs. Chase will be at home after Oct. 1 at 74 Harvard street, Newtonville.

Athletics at Riverside

Cambridge won the fifth annual handicap athletic meet of the Y. M. C. A. teams of Massachusetts and Rhode Island at Riverside last Saturday, scoring 41 points. Newton took second place with 10 points. Somerville, which handily won the meet a year ago, was third with but 6 points.

During the forenoon the boys' scratch championship events took place, Boston and Quincy tying at 13 points for first place.

Tennis championships were won by Boston, and Newton experienced no difficulty in capturing the baseball game, 24 to 4, against Malden. Aquatics which concluded the lengthy program proved a novel feature.

Competing under protest, W. Robbins of Cambridge, Y. M. C. A. proved himself the star of the major events. He won the 100-yard dash, took second in the running broad jump and third in the 440-yard run. It was charged that Robbins had within a twelve-month represented not only Cambridge Y. M. C. A. but Cambridgeport gymnasium as well and had not secured a proper release to compete in the former organization's team. If the protest against Robbins is decided against him Cambridge Y. M. C. A. will still be secure in first place.

The various events were well contested, although the track was not in excellent condition. Many spectators saw the afternoon events.

A departure from the usual program was the aquatics late in the afternoon in the out door pool and on the Charles river. Particularly interesting were the

YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

It was remarkable how many times a contestant could be knocked off his feet without overturning his frail craft. The spectators roared with laughter at the long-distance sparring, but it was strenuous work for the participants.

Blind Student Wins Honors

Francis J. Rochford of Newton Lower Falls, totally blind is to graduate at Bates College with the highest honors. He is twenty-four years of age and is the son of Nicholas J. Rochford. Blind from birth, he early decided to educate himself in a manner that would enable him to be self-supporting. He entered the Kindergarten for the Blind in Jamaica Plain, and after studying there enrolled at the Perkins Institution. He enrolled at Bates College, and during his four years there has passed every examination with a mark of A or B. He is especially proficient in Latin and Greek, as he has devoted a great deal of time to the study of these languages. On leaving college he intends to devote his time to tutoring or teaching. He is an accomplished musician, performing equally well on the piano or clarinet. In college he has been a leading member of the Eusebia Society.

High School Notes

The Baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class will be delivered by Rev. J. T. Stocking at Central church, Newtonville, next Sunday morning. The service will begin at 10.45 and there will be a musical program appropriate for the occasion. The public is invited.

THEATRES

Colonial Theatre—Geo. M. Cohan's newest musical play, "50 Miles From Boston," began an engagement at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, last Monday night and scored an unqualified success. Mr. Cohan's trigger finger must be very steady, for he has again hit the bull's eye square in the centre, and it would seem that he is unable to miss his mark when the production of a likeable play is the target. "50 Miles From Boston" certainly caught the crowd that tested the capacity of Boston's handsomest playhouse. In "50 Miles From Boston" Cohan has improved upon his earlier efforts as a playwright, and his present comedy with music will unquestionably add to his reputation as well as his bank account. The hero is a Harvard student but he bears no resemblance to "Brown of Harvard," with whom theatre-goers are acquainted. On the contrary, he is an original creation, and as played by Donald Brian, he becomes a real hero from the moment he is carried into view on the shoulders of his admiring townsmen. The story of "50 Miles From Boston" has to do with Joe Westcott, who, in the play, is the star pitcher at Harvard. He wins an important game for his club, and sets his townfolk wild with excitement. In his home town there are two young chaps—David Harrigan, the Brookfield dude, and Jed Woodis, brother and assistant to the postmistress. Harrigan and Woodis make a bet against their home town hero, and Jed Woodis teases four hundred dollars—his half of the eight hundred dollar bet—and, of course, loses it. At the end of the first act, Woodis is in such a desperate frame of mind that he is ready to kill young Westcott in order to remove him as Harrigan's rival. Sadie appears on the scene just in time to prevent the murder, and Woodis, to quiet suspicion, shoots and kills a bird in the tree-top above.

Keith's Theatre—Stella Mayhew, who scored one of the triumphs of the season in "Coming Thro' the Rye," will return to Boston next week as the headliner of a capital bill. During the past five weeks Miss Mayhew has been in vaudiville, having appeared in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and New York. In all of these cities she has scored very heavily with a group of songs of the kind she sings so well. Much local interest will be attached to the engagement of Wilmer Walter, who, supported by Annette Marshall and William Vaughan, is to present a dramatic sketch entitled "Duplicité," written by Mr. Ernest L. Waitt, the dramatic editor of one of the leading dailies of Boston. Other important features will include Willie Eckstein, the phenomenal young pianist; the Ellis-Nowlan Troupe in a very droll acrobatic comedy skit; Arthur Buckner, who does many sensational stunts in cycle riding; Elsie Faye, a very pretty girl and graceful dancer, assisted by Bisset and Miller, in a lively dancing act; Vanni and Cioti, two well-known Boston vocalists, in an operatic sketch, and Ken and Rosa in a brisk terspichorean novelty. Baker and Jerome, who do a jumping act that is much out of the ordinary; Wynn and Lewis, the "Rah, Rah Boys," in a cross-fire conversation specialty; Morton and Diamond, in a comedy sketch; Nagel and Adams, acrobatic humorists, and new pictures by the Kinetograph will round out the show for the week.

Globe Theatre—For the coming week Mr. Craig is to make a change in the style of play at the Globe Theatre for he realizes that his large following relishes a different kind of fare from time to time. Accordingly he will produce a three-act comedy entitled "The Strange Adventures of Miss Brown" which made a great success when given here some seasons ago. The play tells an amusing story and it is full of uproarious complications. Mr. Craig will play two characters, that of Capt. Courtney and also Miss Brown around whom the story revolves. Mr. Craig's patrons should bear in mind that this successful season at the Globe is rapidly nearing its end. The few remaining plays to be announced are of the same high class as those already given this summer and they will be staged and acted with the same care and attention to detail that have characterized every piece yet presented by Mr. Craig.

Messrs. McKenney & Waterbury Co., 181 Franklin St., corner Congress St., Boston, Mass., are showing the largest line and newest things in Gas, Electric and Oil Fixtures, for Summer Cottages and Hotels. An order for any quantity can be filled from their immense stock at once.

Death of George Russell Eager

Mr. George Russell Eager, a well known resident of Auburndale, died at his home on Seminary avenue last Sunday after a somewhat protracted illness. He was born in Lincoln, Dec. 10, 1843, and was the son of Pennel Bowen and Harriet Tolman Eager. At the age of five he came to Boston with his parents. The greater part of his life was spent in railroad building in the south and west and for the last 13 years he was connected with the F. S. Webster Company of Boston holding the office of treasurer. A wife and daughter survive him. Deceased was an active member of the local Methodist church, was greatly interested in Lasell Seminary and was a man who gave liberally of his means. Funeral services were held from the family residence Tuesday afternoon at 2.45 and were largely attended by relatives, friends and business associates including the men connected with the F. S. Webster Co. Rev. Frank C. Haddock, pastor of the Centenary Methodist church officiated and the Mendelssohn quartette rendered "Remember Thy Creator," "Lead Kindly Light," and "Nearer My God to Thee." The burial was in Mt. Feake Cemetery, Waltham.

In Board of Metropolitan Park Commissioners, June 5, 1907.

Noted, that the following rules heretofore adopted for the government and use of the Charles River Reservation be and hereby are adopted for the government and use of the Hemlock Gorge Reservation.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Metropolitan Park Commission

RULES AND REGULATIONS

For the Government and use of the Charles River Reservation

RULE 1. No person shall enter or leave the Reservation except at the regular designated entrances.

RULE 2. No person shall dig up, cut, remove, deface, defile, or ill-use any building, structure, fence, sign, bush, plant, turf, rock or other thing herein belonging to the Commonwealth, or have possession of any part thereof; but this rule shall not prohibit the picking of wild flowers and edible berries in reasonable quantities for personal use.

RULE 3. No person shall throw any stone or other missile; or have possession of or discharge any destructive weapon, fire arm, firecracker, torpedo or fireworks; or make a fire; or throw or place upon the ground a lighted match, cigar or other burning substance; or post, paint, affix or display any sign, notice, placard or advertising device; or except with written authority from said Metropolitan Park Commission, engage in business, sell, or expose for sale, or give away any goods, wares or articles; or set a trap or snare; or injure or have possession of any wild animal or bird; or injure or disturb any bird's nest or eggs; or drop or place any refuse or other piece of paper or other refuse, except in the receptacles designated therefor.

RULE 4. No person shall solicit the acquaintance of or annoy another person; or use any profane, threatening, abusive or indecent language; or conduct himself in any manner so as to excite or offend, or solicit any subscription or contribution; or have possession of or drink any intoxicating liquor; or play any game of chance; or have possession of any instrument of gambling; or do any obscene or indecent act; or preach; or pray aloud; or make an oration or harangue, or any political or other canvass; or move in a military or parade drill or procession; or lie down upon a bench or go to sleep thereon; or play any musical instrument except by written authority from said Metropolitan Park Commission.

RULE 5. No person shall bathe except in a proper costume and at places designated therefor, or lotter or run about or lie upon the beach or shore in bathing costume, provided that the same shall not be a hindrance to the use of the beach.

RULE 6. No person shall ride or drive an animal or vehicle except upon the drives, or upon other than the right hand side of the road except when passing another animal or vehicle, or past an animal or vehicle except to the left thereof, or across a road unless the right of way is given to all other animals or vehicles, or ride a cycle past any animal or vehicle going in the same direction without sounding a bell; or hitch a horse or other animal to a fence, tree, bush or scrub.

RULE 7. No person shall ride or drive an animal or vehicle, or pass an animal or vehicle faster than at the rate of ten miles an hour or coast with a cycle or sled down a hill.

RULE 8. No person in charge of any animal, other than a dog, shall allow it to go upon the Reservation unless such animal be used for pleasure travel on a way or road provided therefor.

RULE 9. No person shall have or allow a vehicle for carrying merchandise, or a vehicle in use for carrying merchandise, or articles other than the equipments proper for a pleasure vehicle, or horse, or any vehicle in a funeral procession, except upon a traffic road, or to gain access by the shortest way from the nearest entrance to the Reservation.

RULE 10. No person shall stop an animal or vehicle so as to obstruct a parking place, boundary road or driveway, or a crossing, or crossing thereof, or as to prevent the passing of other vehicles, or otherwise than lengthwise with a park way, boundary road or driveway and close to the sidewalk thereof.

RULE 11. No person having charge of an animal or vehicle shall neglect or refuse to stop, place, change the position of or move said animal or vehicle as directed by a police officer.

RULE 12. No person having charge of an animal shall allow the same to stand without some proper person to take charge of the same, except that an animal hitched to a vehicle may stand, or to a weight of not less than twenty pounds, or be allowed to stand unattended for not more than five minutes.

RULE 13. No person shall refuse or neglect to obey any reasonable direction of a police officer.

Any person violating any one of the above rules is liable to a fine of twenty dollars for each offence.

VOTED, that the rules heretofore adopted for the government and use of the Hemlock Gorge Reservation be and hereby are adopted for the government and use of the Charles River Reservation.

—The Waban A. C. won its seventh consecutive ball game on Wednesday, trimming a scrub team of "Hasbeens" High School players, 17 to 11. The game was uninteresting and full of errors and was only redeemed by the hitting of O'Neal the intercollegiate star fielder and a splendid running catch by Gould in deep left. Last Saturday the nine won a hard, close game from an older and heavier team from Lower Falls, Waban only got 3 hits off Bancroft but by inside playing and fast fielding in critical places, held their opponents to 4 runs, while making 6. The ninth was exciting. Two Lower Falls men out, 2nd and 3rd filled, and two runs needed to tie the score, but G. Williams struck out O'Neal, the crack N. H. S. player and ended the game.

—All but the finals of the handicap singles tournament were played off at the Waban Courts on June 17. The tournament was the most successful since the starting of the club; the entry list was good-sized, matches close and exciting; and the gallery large and appreciative. In class A the former champion, W. H. Parker had little trouble in winning his way into the finals and throughout played excellent and steady tennis, his place shots being splendid. A. C. Gould is also in the finals, winning easily in his matches from Fisher and Kane. The latter proved a dark horse and played splendid tennis up to the semifinals when he weakened physically and lost the deciding set. In class B, Crain and Cherrington won easily but the chances favor the former for the play off.

—The Men's League of the First church has chosen the following officers to serve until January: president, Charles E. Kelsey; vice president, Edward McLellan; secretary and treasurer, Laurence W. hydrangeas. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg will reside in their future home on Newtonville Avenue.

Bacon-Fiske.

The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Fiske, Auburndale, was the scene of a charming wedding on Tuesday evening when their daughter, Amy Plympton, became the bride of Mr. Albert Reed Bacon of Bedford, Mass. The groom comes from one of the oldest and most influential families of Bedford, is a graduate of Harvard and a civil engineer.

The simple, impressive ceremony at 7 p. m. in the presence of the two families was performed by the Rev. Charles M. Southgate.

The best man was Mr. William Lilly of Cambridge. The matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth W. C. Torrey, sister of the groom.

To the low strain of music the bridal party entered the parlor. The bride was escorted by her father and given in marriage by him. From 7.30 to 9.30 a reception followed.

The wedding was charming in cream white messaline trimmed with old rose point lace. Her veil was fastened with valley lilies and she carried a shower bouquet of Queen Alexandra marguerites. The matron of honor was gowned in white crepe de chine and carried Fairmaid pinks.

The bridal party, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reed Bacon, Mrs. Carrie L. Bacon and Mr. and Mrs. George M. Fiske, received under a canopy of smilax, bride roses and marguerites with a background of palms. The decoration were profuse, bride roses and smilax for the parlors; Jacinths and white roses for the halls and dining room and bride roses in the upper rooms. The guests were presented by the ushers, Mr. William Lilly of Bedford, Mr. J. P. B. Fiske of Auburndale, Mr. S. Wilder Howland of Cambridge and Mr. Hewett Fletcher of Boston.

The happy couple left for their trip showered with roses and followed by best wishes of many friends.

Martin W. Stimson.

Mr. Martin W. Stimson, a well known resident on Billings park, passed away at his home this morning of heart trouble after a several weeks' illness. He was a native of Gray, Maine, where he was born about 68 years ago. Mr. Stimson was at one time in the banking business in Los Angeles, California, and recently has been the eastern representative for the Big Four system of railroads. He is survived by his widow, two daughters and one son. He was an attendant at Channing church and was a member of the Unitarian Club, Hume-Well Club and similar organizations.

BACK FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Rev. Dr. Clark Has Been Promoting the Christian Endeavor Movement

Among the passengers on the Devonian, which reached Boston Wednesday, was Dr. Francis E. Clark of Auburndale, president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, and his daughter. Dr. Clark has been travelling in South America for five months in the interests of the Christian Endeavor movement, visiting Panama, Peru, Bolivia, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil. Some interesting Christian Endeavor conventions were held in several countries, especially in Brazil, where the movement is stronger than in any other South American country. In Rio de Janeiro a South American Christian Endeavor Union was formed and a Brazilian national convention was held. The Brazilian Government was most generous to the Endeavorers, furnishing transportation over the Government railways for all who wished to attend the convention and steam launches free of charge to Dr. Clark's friends who met his steamer in the harbor.

In Peru, Chile, Argentina and Panama Dr. Clark had interviews with the presidents of these republics and received a favorable impression of their courtesy and ability. On the whole Dr. Clark thinks that South America is making rapid progress, especially Peru, Argentina and Brazil. He found a particularly cordial feeling toward America and Americans in Peru and Brazil, where Secretary Root's recent visit did great good, as in fact it did all over South America, according to Dr. Clark.

—The Special Service Squadron, under Rear Admiral Stockton, composed of the U. S. S. Washington and Tennessee, sailed from Newport, R. I., June 14 for European ports, to attend the 100th anniversary of the discovery of steam navigation, and to return the visits of the foreign ships which were present at Jamestown, Midshipman Bruce R. Ware, Jr., U. S. N. of this city is one of the officers on the U. S. S. Washington.

—The basket picnic of the Sunday school connected with the Immanuel Baptist church was held Monday at Waushakum pond near South Framingham. There was a good attendance and a baseball game and track events were enjoyed by the boys and girls in the morning. In the afternoon a ball game was played between the married and single men which closed with the married men ahead by a score of 7 to 5.

—A quiet home wedding was that of Miss Eva Leslie Sanborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert R. Sanborn and Mr. Everett William Bowker which took place at the family residence on Channing street last Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Frank B. Matthews, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman and only the relatives were present. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Bowker will make their home in North Sudbury where the groom is agent at the local railroad station.

—Mr. William Kellogg and Miss Sarah Elizabeth Mason were married Wednesday noon at the bride's home on Wesley street. It was a quiet affair only the relatives and a few friends being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale assisted by Rev. H. Grant Person and Mr. Greeley was best man. Bowen-Viets Charming in its details was the pretty home wedding of Miss Edith Viets, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Viets, to Harold Vincent Bowen of Newton Highlands, which was solemnized Monday, June 10, at 4:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, 433 Kane place, Milwaukee, Wis.

The library, where the service was read by Rev. C. H. Beale, was transformed into a spring-like bower with masses of apple-tree boughs, laden with delicate blossoms. In the dining room all was white and green, the table holding a great basket filled with white gladioli and swansons, while the buffet was banked with ferns.

As an orchestra played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" the bride and party entered the library. The bridegroom and his best man, Earle Bowen, walked first, and then came the matron of honor, Mrs. Helms B. Wells. Her gown was of lavender chiffon, the skirt trimmed with a wide band of white lace. Her hat was of shaded lavender sweet peas, which formed the brim, and the crown was of silver cloth. Two long plumes of shaded lavender formed the trimming. She carried a great round bouquet of lavender sweet peas and maiden hair ferns, tied with lavender tulle. The bride, walking alone, came last. She was wearing a lovely gown of white Lierre lace, over white chiffon and silk, made in Princess fashion, with a slightly empire effect in the back. A spray of orange blossoms caught the lace of the corsage, and her long tulle veil was held by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a round bouquet of lilies of the valley and maiden hair ferns, tied with white tulle.

Following the ceremony a small reception was held, the assisting party including Mrs. William C. Quarles, Edward P. Villas, S. P. Sherry, George L. Graves, Lyman G. Bourneque, W. L. Waters and Gardner Kellogg; the Misses Vina Shattuck of Needham, Atwood, Jessie Burnham, Gertrude Mann, Anne Hamilton, Evelyn Vose, Janet Fox and Helen McIntosh.

The last of the entertainments for Miss Viets and Mr. Bowen was given Saturday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Helms B. Wells gave a theatre party at the Plankinton house. Besides the guests of honor the party included Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Kellogg, the Misses Anne Hamilton, Evelyn Vose, Helen McIntosh, Messrs. Bruce Whitney Clarence Dillon and Earle Bowen.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Bowen will reside at 95 Erie avenue, Newton Highlands, their residence being a wedding gift from Vincent M. Bowen.

Kenison-Glazier

A very simple wedding took place, Tuesday evening, June 25th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison R. Glazier, West Newton, when their daughter, Mabel, and Mr. Ned Godfrey Kenison, of Boston, were united. The Rev. Theo. P. Prudden, formerly pastor of the Second Congregational Church officiated, and Miss Ethel T. Gammons rendered the march from Lohengrin. The couple were unattended and only about twenty relatives and friends were present. The bride's gown was of white Persian lawn, lace and embroidery trimmed. She wore a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. After a few weeks' honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Kenison will return to West Newton for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. Fairbanks Dead

Mrs. Augusta D. Fairbanks, widow of the late John A. Fairbanks, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. T. E. Stutson on Fountain street last Thursday after a long period of failing health. She was a native of Wardsboro, Vt., where she was born 78 years ago, and she had been a resident of West Newton for many years. She is survived by her daughter Mrs. Stutson and a son Mr. John A. Fairbanks of Elgin, Ill. Funeral services were held from the residence of her daughter Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the Unitarian church where deceased attended, officiating, and the Mendelssohn Quartet sang "Eternal Goodness," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Passing Out of the Shadow." There were many relatives and friends present and numerous floral tributes. The burial was in Newton Cemetery.

July 4th

The Nonantum Improvement Association and the Nonantum Boys' Club have joined forces for a proper observance of the Fourth of July in the Nonantum district. The plans call for a mammoth bon fire, the night previous, and in the early morning of the fourth a civic parade with bonfires as a feature. A flag raising will follow near a band stand to be erected for the occasion on the Manning lot, the Declaration of Independence to be read by a student from the local schools and there will be a baseball game between the Newton A. A. and Empire Laundry Machine Company teams and a series of track events. In the afternoon a ball game will be played between the married and single men and in the evening fireworks and a band concert. The committee in charge of the arrangements consists of W. S. Bowler, John Murphy, W. J. Doherty, Dr. E. A. Maxwell, James Cannon, Hugh Murnaghan, W. H. Thomas and Martin Quinnan from the Improvement Association and M. W. Kensle, William Hanson, J. Chisson and W. Sweeney from the boy's club.

Mrs. R. T. Robinson

Mrs. Rebecca Taylor Robinson, widow of the late Charles Robinson, died suddenly of apoplexy last Saturday at her home on Chestnut street. She was born in Charlestown, Feb. 29, 1828 and was the daughter of Philander and Rebecca Ames. Before her marriage she taught in the public schools of Waltham and Charlestown and was an active worker in the Universalist church of the latter city. She removed to West Newton with her husband in 1868 where she has since resided. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Charles I. Travels and two sons, Sumner and Miner Robinson. Funeral services were held from the family residence on Chestnut street Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. Leonard of Tufts College officiating and the Mendelssohn quartet rendered "Lead Kindly Light," "Eternal Goodness" and "Blessed Day." The burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Mrs. Freeman Dead

Mrs. Rebecca Hall Freeman, widow of Ezra B. Freeman, died Sunday at the home of her daughter Mrs. Mitchell Wing of Hummelwell avenue. She was born in East Sandwich 70 years ago but had made her home in Newton for over 15 years. She was domestic in her tastes and mingled but little in the social life of the city. Funeral services were held from the house Wednesday morning at 10:30. Rev. Adolbert L. Hudson, pastor of Channing church officiating and the Mendelssohn quartet sang "Blessed Day," "Face to Face" and "Passing Out of the Shadow." The remains were taken to East Sandwich for burial in the local cemetery.

The Sun's Comment

Following is the New York Sun's comment on the anti-merger agitation in the Massachusetts legislature: "President Charles S. Mellen of New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, who so recently at Washington rivalled the fame of Mettius Curtius, has again distinguished himself by a deed of sublime audacity. Beacon Hill is hoarse with the Massachusetts equivalent for 'lynch law.' Last year Governor Guild became aware that the impetuous Mellen was buying up Bay State trolley lines and threatening to spend millions of tainted money in connecting them through backwoods regions which have less population now than they had twenty years ago. 'Monopoly!' shouted the fearless young disciple of the All Curbur. With General Guild to hear or see is but to speak and act while others think. With his 100 per cent military chest heaving in righteous wrath, he commanded the attorney general, principally through the newspapers, to prevent in the courts if possible the expenditure by the accused Mellen of any more tainted money with the connivance of the Commonwealth for the development of transportation. The invader was hailed before the Great and General Court and compelled to promise not to reduce further the number of trolley strap hangers or braid any more the jungles of Massachusetts until his plans should have been judicially examined. All went well until one day last month when a horrible chill struck the spine of every lover of liberty. The Old Guard, who pine for the days when Boston's transit system was split into a dozen companies and who objected to the trolley car anyway, because, they said, it would go so fast as to hurt the eyes of lookers on and the wires would drop and kill people, awoke one morning to read that Charles S. Mellen, not sated with spending $150,000,000 in four years in rolling stock, roadbed, bridges and trolley lines parallel or tributary, was about to jump the fence with the new stock in his hand with the dear old Boston & Maine. In order to understand the bitterness of the discovery it must be remembered that it is contrary to law for a railroad incorporated in Massachusetts to grow. If such a company has the money to buy a connecting line there has to be a public hearing before the Railroad Commission, and while this is going on somebody else buys the connecting line. The same beneficent statute provides for improvements the commission shall fix the price at which the shareholders of record may purchase, usually people can get all they want in the market at a lower figure, hence recent issues have not been screaming successes.

It is thus clear why grief smote the conscience of Massachusetts at the prospect of a Connecticut corporation coming in foot free, buying up Boston & Maine control, and making what should properly be outwaded improvements, even perhaps to include a four-track modern road to Montreal. It was seen at once that this sort of thing was in danger of building up the port of Boston. If it had been known then as it is now that the New Haven was about to make traffic arrangements with the New York Central, giving Boston practically a trunk line to the Lakes, there would probably have been protests, if not fatalities, in State street. As it was, President Crocker of the Chamber of Commerce gasped, 'I'm against it,' and straightway lost his voice.

Louis D. Brandeis, president, secretary, treasurer, director and membership of the Public Franchise League, resolved unanimously that rather than permit Boston's sacred wharves to be littered up with packages and her proud ways to quake with the third of heavy laden trucks he would drop the battle for savings bank insurance and draw bills, both special and general, compelling the New Haven to give back the Boston & Maine stock and prohibiting forever the retirement of President Tuttle of the last-named company.

But Governor Guild also was awake. Delays are dangerous. A year had given him time to think. He violated all rules of the hunt by consorting at the State House with the octopus himself and one of the octopus's accomplices known as Tim Byrnes, and afterward by writing the said Mellen a letter asking him what he was doing anyway. The inquiry and the reply his excellency despatched in haste to the Legislature, demanding that if the merger should become a fact the public ought to be "safeguarded," and the members ought not to disperse without attending to it and attending to it well. But he didn't harpoon the merger. The octopus was to be felled in but let five.

"Zounds! Deserted!" Thus the vigilant Brandeis and the relentless James H. Vahey, a senator from Watertown, and the foe of shoe machinery patents. They got both the defendants, Mellen and Tuttle, on the rack in committee on Tuesday of this week, and the subjoined colloquy may give an idea of the punishment they inflicted. Mr. Brandeis had brandished bills, special and general? "Mr. Vahey—believe there is a law to prevent this, and if I were attorney general I would invoke it."

One thing remains to be done if Boston is to be saved from becoming the scene of vulgar commercial activity and a jostling populace of the unbusinesslike. It must be enacted by the Great and General Court that no person possessing shares of stock in one railroad company shall acquire shares in any other railroad.

graduated in 1896. The family removed to Cambridge and later to Newton. Mr. Johnson had a responsible position in the Bank of Redemption, Boston, which he resigned about five years ago to enter a banking institution in Los Angeles, California.

In October, 1902, he was married to Gertrude Louise Hall of Newton. They went to Azusa, Cal., where Mr. Johnson was cashier of the Azusa National Bank. Several months ago the condition of Mr. Johnson's health necessitated his retiring from business. With his wife he, having been given a leave of absence from the bank, went to camp Rincom in the mountains two weeks ago. It was there that Mr. Johnson's death occurred. Mr. Johnson was a member of the Eliot Congregational church and while in Newton was active in its social and musical life.

TELEPHONE TALKS

Believing that exact knowledge promotes co-operation, the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company is publishing a series of brief expositions of some phases of telephony, for the benefit of itself, and, as it hopes, for the benefit of all telephone users.

"THE LINE IS BUSY."

One of the mysteries of "Central" to most telephone users is how the operator can tell so quickly when "the line is busy." There are still a few people, perhaps, who believe that she does not know, but simply reports a number as busy to save herself trouble. But anybody who uses the telephone very much is perfectly well aware that the circuit is not reported as being in use unless it really is in use. It is "good business" for the telephone company to establish conversation whenever it is in any way possible to do so; and nobody questions but that the telephone company is getting all the business it can.

When you call up "Central" she connects herself with your line by means of a "cord" on the end of which is a brass plug that fits closely into the "jack" or switch socket in which your line terminates in the switchboard. The connecting cords are arranged in pairs, and when you give the operator the number of the telephone with which you want to talk she takes the second cord of the pair she is using for your call and touches the tip of the brass plug at the end of it to the "jack" of the line you require. If the circuit is already connected up in some other part of the board, the operator hears a clicking noise in her head telephone; then, of course, she reports to you that the "line is busy." If there is no warning click when she touches the jack she pushes the connecting plug in and rings.

A commoner cause of "busy reports" than most people realize is the large number of subscribers who take party-line service, especially at their residences. The particular person you want to reach may not be using his telephone when you call for it, but if there are other subscribers on the same circuit the line may be busy just the same. And your friend may not know that it is. That is why sometimes when "Central" tells you "the line is busy" your friend will say afterwards that he doesn't understand how that could be, because he wasn't using the telephone at all at the time you tried to call him.

The spasm of political hysteria which has developed in our Great General Court over the proposed consolidation of the New Haven and Boston & Maine railroad systems, does not reflect much credit on the business sense of our legislature. A combination of large railroad interests, such as has been outlined by President Allen should benefit, and not injure Massachusetts and Boston. We fear the political effect is what the members of the legislature have in mind and the provisions of the bill now in progress of enactment seems to bear this assertion out. It is about time the General Court was purged.

Alderman Weston struck the right
note in refusing to be swayed from his approval of the order accepting the smoke nuisance act in this city. No possible harm can come to any one by giving the aldermen the power to supervise the output of obnoxious smoke. No one dreams of interfering with the legitimate business interests of Newton, but in at least two cases, some form of regulation is absolutely needed to prevent the tainting of an entire neighborhood with obnoxious smoke. The veto of Mayor Warren and the action of the aldermen in sustaining it are not in the line of the public weal.

The re-election of an increased salary of our efficient Superintendent, Dr. E.
Spaulding will be heartily commended.
We do not recall a time when our complex and expensive school system has been managed with so little friction and to such general satisfaction as under the present Superintendent.

The election of a master of a school which has not yet been even planned is an innovation in municipal experience.
It is done however, to secure his advice and services in connection with the erection of the proposed Technical High School and in that light appears to be a straightforward business proposition.

The Newton High School continues to put forth bigger, better and we hope busier classes than ever before. Let the good work go on.

Let the glorious Fourth be celebrated with as much noise as desired, but let hoodlumism be conspicuous by its absence.

Waban is to have a sewer system at last, thanks to the hard work of Alderman Bacon.

Donnelley-Tierney

Miss Julia E. Tierney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Tierney of Newton, was married Tuesday morning to Mr.
William Donnelley, also of Newton, at the church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre. A nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Denis J. Whaley, the pastor.
During the ceremony solos were rendered by Mrs. Mary Buckley Thelton and Miss Rose McKean.

The bridesmaid was Jennie E. Tierney, sister of the bride, and the best man was James Lavin of Worcester.
The ushers were Stephen P. Tierney of Stoneham and James E. Farrell of West
Newton.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle
with a duchess lace bodice, and white hats with plumes. The bridesmaid was attired in champagne tulle, and wore a hat with pink plumes.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride on Beacon st, Newton Centre. After a trip through New York, Buffalo and Montreal Mr. and Mrs. Donnelley will live on Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale.

O'Brien-McGrath

Miss Ellen J. McGrath of Auburndale was married Wednesday evening at St.
Bernard's church parochial residence,
West Newton, to Mr. John F. O'Brien of Boston, by Rev. Edward Costello a cousin of the bride.

Mr. John Cavanagh was the best man and Messrs John McGrath, Augustine McGrath and Arthur Quilty were the ushers. The bride was dressed in ivory white satin with chiffon trimmings and lace and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies. The bridesmaid Miss Zita McGrath was gowned in yellow Tokio silk with valenciennes lace and yellow sash.

A reception followed at the residence of the bride on Newland street, Auburndale, the house being tastefully decorated with pink carnations and smilax. After a wedding trip to the White Mountains
Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien will reside on Harris road, West Newton.

Pupils' Recital

At the residence of Miss Ella Marston Cox on Park street, Newton, last Saturday afternoon a piano recital was given by several of her pupils. The artistic and enjoyable program of selections by well known composers was presented by Gertrude Jones, Mildred Atwood, Melville Ames, Dorothy Palmer, George Wyman and Courtney Ames. A second recital was given Monday evening which was equally pleasing and was presented by Hugh Wilcox, Thelma Wilcox, Stewart Rowlett, Edith Baker, George Wyman, Evelyn Palmer, Beatrice Wheeler and Courtney Ames.

JAMESTOWN

Personal Experiences of the Editor

Honored by the Massachusetts Press Association with an election as delegate to the National Editorial Association meeting recently held at the Jamestown Exposition, I left Boston Saturday afternoon June 8th. The New line of steamers afforded an attractive route to New York from Fall River and I found the accommodations to be first class.
Scrapping an acquaintance with the Captain, while an excellent and moderate priced dinner was being served, an invitation followed to visit the pilot house during the evening. It proved an interesting and unique experience to witness the actual running of a large steamer.
The utmost care is taken to note on the log, the time each light is passed, the revolutions of the engine, and the conditions of wind and tide. Jamestown was reached early in the evening, but not the Jamestown of our destination. It was merely Jamestown, R. I., opposite Newport, whose lights twinkled across the channel. Point Judith has a revolving light on land with a flashing light on the outside of the channel. This light we were told cost $20,000, stand 30 feet out of water, and contains gas enough to burn continuously night and day for six months. After our search light had picked out this buoy we caught a glimpse of Montauk Point light, some thirty miles away on the easterly end of Long Island.

The entrance by Sound steamer into New York is always interesting, but is probably well known to most readers of the GRAPHIC.

After breakfasting in New York we took train for Washington, intending to take the night boat down the Potomac to Norfolk. Our plans for a stateroom had unaccountably miscarried, and as the next day was Georgia Day at the Exposition, with an address by the President, the boat was crowded. With assurances that we could obtain seats we went on board early, fortunately for us in respect to getting down the river, but unfortunately in almost every other way.
If steamboat management could be any worse, it was not known to the people aboard the "Norfolk" of the Washington-Norfolk line that night. The manner in which women and children were treated, to say nothing about the men, was simply outrageous. The food accommodations were poor, many waiting over an hour, just to get into the dining room and then informed there was insufficient food. The bar was kept open of course, and drunken men added to the pleasures (?) of the occasion. More than double the number of passengers licensed to be carried were on the boat and mattresses were spread in every available spot. Most of the men slept in chairs, (that is if they were able to hold onto a chair) and caught a few minutes sleep now and then.

All were glad when morning broke,
and recovered from their indignation sufficiently to admire the battleships, American and foreign, which lay in Hampton roads.

We landed directly at the Exposition grounds, just across the channel from Point Comfort, about seven thirty,
Monday morning, tired, sleepy and cross.
Strange as it may seem, the Expon-sition is not at Jamestown, but at Seaside, some 30 miles away from its rightful destination. A deep water pier, fully 1000 feet long, juts out into the water for the steamer landing, and there is a cunning, toy-looking locomotive and triple seated cars, if you care to ride to the entrance of the grounds.

We were not informed of the plans of the Editorial Association and missed an opportunity to follow, on a steamer, the President's yacht as it passed between and received the salutes of the numerous battleships. But we had a front seat at the reviewing stand where the elaborate morning exercises were held,
and which were described so fully in the daily papers.

It was my first opportunity to see and hear the President, and I was surprised to see how accurately the magazines and papers have caught his characteristic expressions and gestures. We sat within thirty feet of the Presidential box and much nearer the ambassadors and national officers of other countries as well as our own. The Duke of Abruzzi was resplendent in a green sash across his breast, and numerous and beautiful stars and medals. The naval officers and military men were in full regalia of gold lace and importance. Cardinal Gibbons, frail and pale, was conspicuous in his red silk robe and cap, but when he rose to speak, it was impossible to know whether he was speaking or praying.
The President could be heard from where we sat, but from the murmurings of conversation from the rear of the stand, it was evident that his voice did not have a wide range. The crowd in front stood patiently thru two hours of speech making, of which only those in front could have heard a word.

The military parade which followed was well worth seeing. As the various organizations passed by the stand, applause and cheers were heard all around.
The West Pointers, the boys from Annapolis, the first of the jacksies, were all warmly received, and the spectacular white uniforms and white plumes of the Richmond Blues made a pretty picture.

The President addressed the Association after lunch, giving us a better opportunity to see and hear him than in the morning. The most thrilling feature of the afternoon, however, was the playing of the "Lost Chord" on the great organ accompanied by a full military band. It was repeated a second time by request, and was simply wonderful in its execution and superb in its beauty.

The evening rounded out a most interesting day with the electrical illumination of the 27 battleships in the harbor. Words cannot describe the beauty of the scene. Each line of the vessels was accentuated with a white light, which made it appear like a fabric of frosted silver, floating in mid air. The broad piazzas of the hotel gave a perfect view of the entire fleet and I feasted
my eyes on its beauty until it was over.

The National Editorial Association was addressed by such well known men as Jacob A. Riis of New York, Col.
John Temple Graves of Atlanta, Governor Vance of North Carolina and Mr.
Crosby Noyes of the Washington Star.
The addresses were more than excellent. That of Mr. Riis alone was well worth all the discomfort of the trip. The Southerners were natural orators and made their audiences cry and laugh at will. As a business organization, the Association was a miserable failure, but the delegates received the warmest hospitality, and all had a good time. Excursions were made by steamer to rightful Jamestown, with a side visit to Garrett's winery at Portsmouth. A trolley trip, with an excellent clam bake at Virginia Beach, occupied an afternoon and evening and the warm hospitality of the Virginia Press Association and the city of Richmond on Saturday brought the week to a brilliant close.

An enjoyable feature of the week to the Mass. delegation and their ladies, was the breakfast tendered them by Miss Gertrude L. Brinkhaus, the young lady in charge of the Massachusetts state building at the Exposition. Miss Brinkhaus was a delightful hostess, and the compliment was highly appreciated both socially and gastronomically.

The Massachusetts state building, by the way, is unlike the other state edifices, in that it holds an exhibit of school work from Massachusetts cities, including Newton, and photographs of the work of the various state commissions.
Other state buildings are principally used as summer residences for the various commissioners and their friends. Our building is a replica of the old State House, and with the Illinois building, adjoining, enjoys the only bit of green lawn inside the grounds.

The Exposition is not a success. Possibly the less said about it the better. It is unfinished and in my candid opinion will never be completed. The roads are unpaved, and ankle deep in mud on rainy days and stifling with dust on dry ones. Every other building, outside of the state buildings, is still surrounded with scaffolding, and in those which are completed outwardly, hardly a third of the exhibits are in place. Raleigh Court is magnificently planned, but I fear its beauties are not for the present year.
Railroad tracks, freight cars and heaps of debris occupy the ground and the beautiful government pier, adjacent, is in half ruins. We were given a bit of carpentering on which four men had worked five days, and it would have been considered a small amount of work for two men in one day up North.
The Southern method of work is not conducive to rapid progress.

The worst feature of Jamestown is the matter of food. All supplies, including water, must be brought from Norfolk, eight miles away. It is impossible to obtain good food properly cooked, moderately well served and at reasonable prices, either with or without the grounds. One restaurant charges five cents a glass for water and five dollars for a porterhouse steak. One must wait from forty-five minutes to an hour for the simplest order and pay enormous prices.

We stopped at the Inside Inn—a place not to be recommended to others.
Private is possible with only a board partition between rooms, and an all night poker game over head is not an aid to rest.

Jamestown is emphatically a good place to keep away from until October.
At least, and then sleeping quarters should be obtained either at Norfolk or at Point Comfort.

Fireman Dead

Death came to a fireman in this city
in a peculiar way yesterday afternoon, when driver Norman P. Snell, aged 42 years, dropped dead and fell headlong
while driving Chemical A at a fast pace through Watertown st. in response to an alarm for a trifling fire.

At great risk Asst. Chief George S.
Holmes boarded the chemical, climbed around to the seat and recovered the reins after the horses had run several hundred yards with the reins hanging.

In response to an alarm from box
242, located on Crafts street near a large planing mill, chemical A was being driven from engine house 2, 1455 Washington street, West Newton, through Watertown street, the alarm having come in at 4:51. Opposite the house of engineer George K. Stacy, when a horse wagon was ahead and steamer 2 rapidly following, driver Snell suddenly fell suddenly into the street. He uttered no cry, according to the firemen on the other pieces of apparatus following.

Asst. Chief Holmes was opposite the chemical in his light wagon, driven by Daniel Cochrane, when driver Snell pitched off the seat. Seeing that the chemical's wheels had not gone over the body Asst. Chief Holmes sent his wagon ahead with all possible speed.

When he had reached a point nearly opposite a stable of the water department he jumped from the rear of his wagon and ran along beside the rapidly approaching chemical.

"I caught hold of the short ladders carried on the chemical, boarded the rear end and then secured the reins," said he afterward. Firemen who saw the daring work warmly praised the assistant chief for it was with no little risk that he climbed over part of the chemical while the horses were running at their fastest pace. Luckily the horses kept on down the thoroughfare and at no time did they run wild.

Driver Snell was picked up and taken to police headquarters at West Newton in an automobile by M. S. Bryson, who was on the way to the fire in his machine. The body was quickly transferred to the police ambulance and hurried to the Newton hospital, but the fireman was beyond human aid.

The alarm to which driver Snell was responding was for a blaze in a pile of shavings at the stairbuilding shop of James McDuff, 19 Crafts street, which did less than $5 damage. Owing to the close proximity to box 242 of other mills an alarm from this locality is received with no little anxiety.

Driver Snell was appointed to the call force Jan. 1, 1890. He was promoted to the permanent force Sept. 1, 1894. For many years he drove the hose wagon stationed at engine house 2, West Newton, but for the past year had driven chemical A stationed at the same house. He was a native of Maine, and is survived by a father now living in Attleboro.

An automobilist said to have been going to the fire ran into Vincent Monahan, the 7-year-old son of James Monahan of Pearl street, who was playing on Washington street near Hovey. The child was knocked over and considerably cut and bruised. The automobilist took the child to a doctor's office, where it was found that no bones had been broken, although the boy was considerably injured and has since died.

Mr. Phipps is an instructor at the Allen school and with his bride will make their future home here.

Newton's Model Bookkeeping

The question of uniform municipal accounting has been one to which expert attention has been given for a number of years. Perhaps no other has received more consideration and discussion in the various conferences of the National Municipal League. City bookkeeping without an accepted standard can be employed for purposes of confusion as well as information, and it is frequently arranged with the former end in view. It makes comparisons almost impossible, and it can easily deceive those who are most interested in knowing the financial condition of their city. The efforts to produce uniformity have already accomplished something, and they are likely to accomplish much more, as the value of their results is demonstrated.

The auditor's report for the city of Newton is just issued. It is made to conform so far as possible with the standard distribution of municipal accounts provided by the United Census Bureau for all cities in the country, and is based upon the earlier uniform system of the National Municipal League. It is pronounced by those who have been leaders in this movement to be "the latest and best example of the 'uniform classification' of municipal accounts for cities of the size of Newton." With this endorsement it has a special value, being not merely a digest of the city's financing for the fiscal year but a guide and object lesson to other municipalities desirous of bringing their system of accounts up to the highest accepted standard.

The schedules dealing with "Expense and Outlay" and "Non-Revenue Receipts" follow the census distribution very closely. This bureau has been compelled to respect the custom in almost all cities and adapt its schedules to cash transactions, rather than to revenue and expense, "which would include revenue accrued, though not collected, and expense incurred, though not paid." The total cash transactions of the city are in two basic divisions, "revenue" receipts and payments and "non-revenue" receipts and payments, these terms taking the place of "ordinary" and "extraordinary." Receipts of the former class are derived from taxes, licenses, fees, etc., and of the latter from loans, bonds, sales of city property and all sources other than revenue. The classification is much clearer and lends itself to juggling much less easily than the old methods.

Revenue payments are for the purpose of defraying the expense of operating and maintaining the various departments and functions of a city and non-revenue for additions and improvements. "In a city which is correctly administered," says the report "and whose finances are upon a cash basis, total collections of revenue must always equal or exceed total expenses payable from revenue." As a fundamental principle this would prohibit all attempts to pass loans for any other purpose dealing with the operation and maintenance of the established features of a municipality. The students of municipal economy and the accountants of all cities will find the study of this report both interesting and profitable.—Boston Transcript.

Hockridge-Devo

Miss Julia A. Devo of Central avenue, Newtonville, and Mr. William H. Hockridge of Langley road, Newton Centre were married Wednesday at the parochial residence of the Church of Our Lady in Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James F. Kelly, the assistant pastor. The bride wore white tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas and Miss Carrie Morrissey of Boston, cousin of the bride, who was bridesmaid, was gown in pink silk. Mr. Joseph B. Hockridge, brother of the groom, was best man. A reception followed at the residence of Mrs. D. McKenney, 32 Etna street, Brighton, which was largely attended, friends being present from Brookline, Brighton and the Newtons. The ushers were Messrs Thomas Devo, John Hockridge and Robert Casey. After a wedding trip to Old Orchard Mr. and Mrs. Hockridge will reside at 300 Centre street, Newton, where they will be at home after August 1st.

Keyes-Ellis

Miss Annie Clafin Ellis, daughter of Mrs. Charles W. Ellis of Newtonville was quietly married yesterday afternoon to Mr. Frederic Hale Keyes also of Newtonville. The ceremony took place at the old Clafin place "The Elms" which was opened expressly for the occasion, and Rev. J. T. Stocking of the Central church officiated.

The bridal party was preceded by two bridesmaids, George Hale Pulsifer and William W. Clafin who held the ribbons and the bride gown in plain white chiffon, followed the maid of honor, Miss Mary A. Ellis of Newtonville dressed in white net and the flower girl, Miss Ellen F. Baxter of Portland, Me., in pink chiffon over rose silk. The best man was Mr. Walter P. Keyes of Newtonville and Messrs George R. Pulsifer of Newtonville and George E. Root of Concord were the ushers.

On account of recent deaths in both families the wedding was very quiet and attended only by relatives and a few intimate friends.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

The last meeting of the aldermen prior to the summer vacation was held last Monday evening. President Carter was in the chair and Aldermen Bacon, Bowen, Burr, Cabot, Clarke, Condrin, Converse, Day, Doherty, Jones, Lyons, Palmer, Stone, Underwood and Weston were present.

No one appeared at these hearings:—Petitions of Telephone Co. for poles and attachments on Dedham st., and of H. W. Orr to sell denatured alcohol and these petitions were subsequently granted.

No one appeared at hearings on laying concrete sidewalks under the betterment act on Nehodden road, Irvington st., Glenwood avenue, Norman road and Cypress street. Mr. Henry C. Everett filed a vigorous remonstrance against the last street. Orders authorizing this work were subsequently adopted.

No one appeared at the hearings for taking of land for sewers in Collins road, Chester road, Montclair road and in private land off Collins road, and in Devon road, altho the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage board filed a communication denying the right of the city to take land of the Commonwealth by right of eminent domain. Subsequently orders were adopted taking the above lands for sewer purposes and authorizing sewer construction therein.

The request of the School Committee that the Froebel School on Highland avenue be hired for school purposes was received and subsequently $350 was appropriated for this purpose.

The Public Buildings Commissioner submitted the application of Davis & Trudo to erect a frame shop 244 Church street and on report of the Public Franchise Committee, leave to withdraw was granted.

Various notices of street railway matters of minor importance were received from the Railroad Commissioners and placed on file.

Miss Bullens sent in a communication expressing her appreciation of the action of the aldermen on the death of the late George S. Bullens.

A communication from the Public Records Commissioner relative to the keeping of books furnished by the state was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Notices of injuries received by Hartwell Baxter and by Hibbard S. Howland were referred to the Committee on Claims.

Petitions of Young et al for street watering on Ballard street, Casey et al for the same on Otis street, and Little et al for change of name of portion of Rowe st to Rowe terrace were referred to the Public Works Committee and subsequently granted. Petition of H. S. Bush that Beacon st from Boston line to Hammond street be oilled was, on recommendation of a committee referred to the Street Commissioner.

Petition of Thomas et al for sewer in Tolman st and communication relative to betterment assessments on Dickerman road and Harrison street were referred to the Public Works Committee.

Hearings were ordered Sept. 9 on these petitions: Davis & Trudo to locate a steam boiler, 244 Church st., Telephone Co. for attachments, on Melrose st., E. W. Converse for removal of tree on Lombard st., and D. S. Farnham for removal of 4 trees on Lake avenue and one tree on Beacon st.

Petition of Domenico Chiacchiaro for wagon license and liquor transportation permit, was, on recommendation of a committee granted leave to withdraw.

Joseph Keeffe was granted a minor's license and Charles Scipione a renewal of auctioneer's license without reference.

On recommendation of the finance Committee orders were adopted authorizing a grant of $135,237.84 for city expenses to Sept. 15, making certain assessments for suppression of gypsy and brown tail moths, and for $364.16 for interest and sinking fund requirements on bonds for new school buildings and for the Washington street debt.

On recommendation of the Committee on Public Franchises, the Telephone Co. was granted attachments on Kirk-stall road, and the Gas Light Co attachments on Greenwood st. Licenses were also granted Nally & Son, wagon, Joseph Yarechee, wagon, Andrew J. Buckley, carriage, James F. Milligan, wagon and H. M. Casey, to transport liquor.

On recommendation of the same Committee leave to withdraw was granted on these petitions: Gas Light Co. for poles on Fuller st., Lord Electric Co. for conduit on Park st., Nally & Son, John Muse and Joseph Yarechee, to transport liquor.

On recommendation of the Public Works Committee, orders were adopted authorizing Treasurer to receive and expend $1261 towards expense of covering Laundry brook east of Walnut st., for the Treasurer to receive and street commissioner to expend $1250 for constructing Forest avenue; authorizing street watering on Claremont st., referring petition of Tolman st. for oiling Washington st. to the Street Commissioner and assigning public hearing Sept. 9 on purchase of land in Auburnville for park purposes.

On recommendation of this committee leave to withdraw was granted on petition to name junction of Woodward, Elliot sts, Crafts square, and for street watering on Boylston st.

The Committee on Rules reported in favor of sustaining the veto of the Mayor on the order accepting the smoke nuisance act. Alderman Bowen stated that while at first there appeared to be no objection, considerable remonstrance later developed and as the principal smoke nuisance came from locomotives, which were expressly exempted by the act, it did not appear to be wise to pass the order over the Mayor's veto.

Alderman Weston spoke as follows: I regret exceedingly to differ with the Committee and also with His Honor the Mayor, but I cannot see how the acceptance of this act would work any hardship on anyone, it is a distinct advance in city affairs, and the act which we accept is so worded that it is perfectly possible for any of these people who wish to belch forth smoke from their engines to come to the Board of Aldermen and the Board could say they can or cannot do it, and the fact that steam engines are not included is no argument to me, if we have an act which prevents a partial smoke nuisance the fact that it does not include everything is no argument against it, and therefore although I hesitate against voting against this Committee and His Honor the Mayor, I shall vote for the passage of the order.

The board then sustained the veto, Alderman Weston voting alone in favor of passing the order.

On the report of the Public Franchise Committee that no action was necessary relative to location of tracks of Newton Street Railway Co in River street, Alderman Condrin said:—

As I brought this order before the Board perhaps a word of explanation is in order at this time. I am thoroughly convinced that the tracks of the Newton Street Railway Company should be located in the centre of River street and before bringing the matter before this Board I made an investigation. I found the Company had no other franchise than that granted by the Legislature to the Waltham and Newton Street Railway Company to have a location from one place to another, but there was no distinct location. The city solicitor looked into the matter and gave me his opinion that the Newton Street Railway had no location for tracks on River street.

Accordingly I prepared this order, I referred it to the City Solicitor, and after making a slight alteration he approved the order, said it was in proper form, and would meet this case, and I brought the order in. At that time the City Solicitor was not aware of the fact that in 1898 the legislature had enacted a statute which ratified all locations granted or in use up to that time. Since our last meeting the city solicitor sent me a communication stating that he had found that law and that it was no doubt the intention of the Legislature to ratify all locations in use up to that time. If I had these facts at the time I would not have presented the order in its present form. It was not my intention to slight the committee on franchises or to assume any of the prerogatives of any committee. The City Solicitor agreed with me that if they had no location on River Street that it would expedite matters and make legislation easier for this Board to order the tracks put in the centre of River Street, and that is the only reason I presented the order in that form.

Orders were also adopted for street watering on Nevada st., taking land and authorizing sewer construction in Waban Hill road, and Waban Hill terrace, authorizing sewer construction in Weyman st., Pine Ridge road, Chestnut st., Windsor road, Beacon st., and Woodward st., Waban, and the following resolve was referred to the Public Works Committee: Resolved that public safety and convenience demand that the portion of River street, between Elm and Lexington street be widened to a uniform width of sixty feet and that the track of the Newton Street Railway Company be relocated in the centre of said street.

Adjournment was then made to Sept. 9th.

Street Railway Notes

On Saturday, June 29th, 1907, the Boston and Worcester Street Railway Company will put its summer time table into effect. Cars will run every fifteen minutes between Boston and Worcester.

The Company has in service this year seven open cars and six big semi-convertible cars more than last season, so that besides the fifteen minute schedule between Boston and Worcester, they will be able to double the heavy trips, and assure the patrons of the best of service.

The Company has already finished 1.4 miles of the double track between Framingham and Southboro and now has but about two miles of single track between Boston and Worcester. This they are finishing and will have double tracks the entire length of the line by early fall.

The excursions which have been so popular this past season will start July 9th from So. Framingham, July 15th from Worcester and July 15th from Marlboro and Hudson, the first trip being to Wonderland, Revere Beach.

Canoeists Rescued

An admirable rescue of a canoeist was made by park policeman John B. Sullivan of the Auburndale station in the Charles river at Forest grove Sunday afternoon.

Two young men overturned their craft near the middle of the stream. One struck out for the bank and the other was unable to swim and went under. Officer Sullivan threw off his hat and coat and plunged from his boat after the struggling man. After hard work he got the young man to the overturned canoe when Sgt. Bickford arrived in the police launch and took both aboard. Officer Sullivan then picking up the other canoeist. Had it not been for the prompt work of the policeman the first canoeist would have doubtless lost his life.

Officer John P. Dwyer pulled two other canoeists out of the water in the afternoon, and near Pine grove island officer Daniel McLeod rescued another.

There were 14 tipovers during the afternoon and evening, the others reaching the bank with little difficulty. All were young men.

Hundreds of canoeists visited the Charles river during the afternoon and evening. During the afternoon the first of a series of band concerts under the auspices of the Metropolitan park commission was given at Forest grove. Beginning this week there will be concerts Saturday afternoons and evenings throughout the summer at Riverside.

Correspondence

What incentive, may I enquire, has a pupil of the Newton High School at the present time to do conscientious work?

As in the case of Theresa L. Cram class '07, who, according to the head master, graduated with Marshall Cox at the head of the class, has been neither absent nor tardy during the four years, and yet was not allowed to take any part in the graduating exercises, the honors being given to pupils with much lower per cent, although it is generally understood that the places on the programme are assigned according to merit which seems rather incongruous in this case.

We fully understand the difficulty in always doing the right thing, but to a man who occupies the position of head master in a school there should be but one course, truth, honor and justice.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre—Henry E. Dixey will be a most welcome leading attraction at Keith's next week, for no actor is more popular in Boston than he, in fact Dixey seems to be the exception that proves the rule. A prophet is without honor in his own country. It will be an additional delight to know that he is to play one of his most congenial roles, David Garrick, in the classic one act comedy of the same name. Mr. Dixey's engagement is for one week only. "Stop, Look and Listen" is the title of one of the most successful playlets of the season. It is the work of the well known author and editor, Matthew White, Jr., and is most ably played by Miss May Tully and company. It gives Miss Tully excellent opportunity to introduce several of her capital imitations of stage favorites. Herbert Cyril, an English music hall singer who has recently made a phenomenal success in New York, will make his Boston debut and is bound to score heavily with his bright songs and his winning personality. The "sight acts" will include Rose Wentworth's Equestrian Novelty, the most attractive exhibition of "horsemanship" ever given on the vaudeville stage, and LaVeen and Cross, two phenomenal athletes in muscular postings and remarkable feats of strength. Howard and Howard, "The Messenger Boy and the Thespian", as clever character singers and parodists as can be named, will deliver a bundle of new material. The balance of the program will include Del-A-Phone, the famous mimic; Fentelle and Carr, conversational comedians; Smith, Bowman and company, in ragtime diversions; The Craigs, versatile musicians; Peyser and McDonald, acrobatic comedians; Maxime Wells, balladist; Walsh, Lynch and company in a comedy sketch, and the Kinetograph with new pictures.

Tremont Theatre—"The Hurdy Gurdy Girl" is in its third week at the Tremont Theatre, swinging into line with the summer show successes which have given this theatre its exceptional standing as a home of new productions. Richard Carle's newest venture has great capacity to amuse, has capital music, and is beautifully mounted. In fact, the costume display makes the show a positive delight for women, and cannot fail to appeal to less discerning men. Mr. Carle has invested his money handsomely and wisely, devoting part of it to the maintenance of a well balanced and experienced cast. These useful players are found in parts of nearly equal strength: Jacques Kruger, Mrs. Annie Yeomans, Mene Cotrelli, May Bolten, Mae Botti, Adele Rowland, the Constantine Sisters, Harry Stone, Walter Lawrence, Henry Norman, John E. Hazard, Sylvain Langlois, Arthur Conrad and Tony Sullivan. The well trained chorists of "The Spring Chicken" was transferred to this production, and counts heavily in the general success. Of the several song hits, the particular haunting melody goes with the song, "The Apple of My Eye."

Colonial Theatre—Geo. M. Cohan's latest play, "50 Miles From Boston", has settled down for a prosperous engagement at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, where it has made an emphatic hit. That which is popularly accepted as a typical Cohan play could scarcely be listed with "50 Miles From Boston", which is of a higher class of facilities than are usually called into action by the facile and enjoyable string of jokes generally accepted to be Mr. Cohan's greatest dramatic deeds, and the trickling melodies that have been hung with a deft hand upon the dramatic points of this, his latest offering, fit into the play to a nicety. There is a true kind of ring to "50 Miles From Boston" which is filled with old-fashioned heart interest and frank simplicities, of sympathetic plannings and sentiment, as rare as it is welcome, and entirely due to a skilful presentation of a brisk little two-horn dilemma of love and inadequate villainies, prettily interrupted by fussy village doings, fire engines, brass bands, all the comforts of home, and several other delightful innovations. "50 Miles From Boston" is well staged, swift in action and altogether entertaining, and is undoubtedly the best show Cohan has given us since "45 Minutes From Broadway."

Globe Theatre—Determined to give his audiences a variety of types of play, Mr. Craig has selected a rural comedy for presentation at the Globe Theatre this coming week. The play is "Up York State" which has not been seen in this city for some years and never before at a popular priced house. It is in four acts and was written by David Higgins and Georgia Waldron and it tells a delightfully and constantly interesting story of life in the Adirondacks. When the play was first produced it was said to be the first instance where those quaint characters such as one only finds in the mountain towns of Northern New York ever had been faithfully transcribed to the stage. The play will present an excellent opportunity for Mr. Craig's versatile company to show what they can do with these bucolic types. It is of a special interest that despite the heat of the summer the audiences have been uniformly large which is largely due to the fact that the theatre-going public has discovered that the Globe is the coolest theatre in the city.

Correspondence

EDITOR OF THE GRAPHIC:

In riding about in the electric cars and driving through the adjoining towns one cannot but notice the efforts that are made by burlaps on the tree trunks and by the spraying of the trees to stop the ravages of the insect pests that prey upon our shade trees and roadside shrubs.

I say in the adjoining towns, but in Newton we apparently do not need to make any such effort or at any rate in a few cases some one on his own grounds undertakes to make a fight against them unwisely. I suppose, for I can hardly think our city officials would overlook the danger our elm trees are exposed to from a little burlap or spraying with the arsenical lead.

It must be that in the towns about us they are needlessly wasteful and over careful or ignorant of the best way of riding our beautiful trees and shrubs of their active and very destructive enemies.

It cannot be that we cannot afford the expense of using these simple and not very costly, if they are unnecessary, remedies. We have before us everywhere evidences of free use of money on the highways, for example a large amount of sodding along the sidewalks of many of our streets—in some instances digging up perfectly good borders and resodding, and putting sods down on unimportant back streets.

Then too we have had discussions at the City Hall as to the right to use large sums in the building of sheds without any direct appropriation for that purpose.

Now I say nothing as to the legality of such action nor do I know the necessity of such work.

I only claim that if money can be thus used for building sheds or sodding the edges of the sidewalks there is no reason why our trees should be overlooked—unless it is that the chief of our highway department knows that they do not need any care and that in other towns they are ignorant of the best way of saving our trees, do not know anything of the habits of these pests or are too zealous in their attempts to destroy them.

To let the trees alone seems to be the best remedy, they, the pests, will be through with their ravages before fall and in the winter why they do no harm! and then in the winter streets require a great deal of care and the highway department is very expensive so much so that we cannot afford and do not need to think of the beauty of our trees and shrubs. How important after very little snow fall a lot of Sunday work should be done—cleaning the cross walks and gutters and to every half a dozen men—a foreman should be employed.

It really seems as if our highways were only to be looked at with downcast eyes—their only beauty is to have a few streets kept clear of the horse droppings—while our trees and shrubs are stripped of their beauty and we are denied their protection and shade.

It is time that some action should be taken, time that our officials should feel that the community has the right to a more earnest attempt to cope with these insect pests than is shown now and that the apology of no appropriation is no excuse. There are too many extravagant uses of the public funds seen on all sides to justify such an argument, such an answer.

Literary Notes

Having disposed of the "nature writers" Messrs. Long, Roberts, London, et al, President Roosevelt now advises the reading of certain books of pure fiction that have, as he expresses it, "the prime quality of being interesting." In his speech at the semi-centennial of the Michigan Agricultural School at Lansing, Mich., President Roosevelt said: "You will learn the root principles of self-help and helpfulness toward others from 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch' just as much as from any formal treatise on charity; you will learn as much sound social and industrial doctrine from Octave Thanet's stories of farmers and wage-workers as from any avowed sociological and economic study."

ies; and I cordially recommend the first chapter of "Aunt Jane of Kentucky" for use as a tract in all families where the men folk tend to selfish or thoughtless or overbearing disregard of the rights of their womenfolk."

E. Phillips Oppenheim, the popular and prolific English author, who has just sailed for home after a brief visit to this country, was asked how he was able to devise such good plots.

"I have made it a hobby for many years to frequent the cafes in all the cities which I visit on my travels," he replied. "I make the acquaintance of the maitre d'hotel whenever possible, and in my conversation with him, and by studying the types represented among the patrons, a good idea for a story inevitably suggests itself. The rest is comparatively easy. I write scarcely a line, but dictate the whole 80,000 or 90,000 words to my secretary in rather long installments. Then, of course, comes the revision, and later the reading and correcting of proofs. By refraining from writing short stories, and by confining myself to the writing of complete novels, I have no difficulty in producing two books each year."

Mr. Oppenheim, like his father and grandfather, is a native of England, having been born in London forty years ago. He is a typical Englishman in appearance, speech and action.

The issuing of a new popular edition of Maud Wilder Goodwin's "The Head of a Hundred in the Colony of Virginia, 1622" recalls the fact that when this book was first published it was discovered that its chief historical incident and several of its historical characters were the same as those of Mary Johnston's "To Have and to Hold." Yet "The Head of a Hundred" was written in 1895, while Miss Johnston's book was not published until 1900. The climax of the story is the same in both books, the bloody Indian uprising of the period in which both heroes distinguish themselves. "The Head of a Hundred," however, has much less slaughter and bloodshed, is less complicated in plot, and is told in fewer pages, but its similarity to "To Have and to Hold" is worth noting.

Class of '07 Reception

One of the most pleasing features of the closing days of the class of 1907, Newton High School, was the reception and party held last Saturday evening on the spacious grounds and residence of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Plant on Cotton street, Newton.

The estate was turned into a veritable fairyland by the lavish use of electricity, the beautiful effects calling forth words of admiration from the nearly two hundred guests of the evening. The figures "07" were placed over the entrance and a large star and other designs added to the beauty of the scene.

The guests were received by Mrs. Plant, Miss Amy Plant, Miss Katherine Hinckley and Miss Marion Berry and were presented by these ushers, Messrs. William F. Plant, Warren C. Agry, Ewart C. Caldwell, Robert H. George and George H. Foster.

During the evening Mr. Robert H. George gave the class statistics and Mr. Ewart C. Caldwell aroused much mirth by his witty class prophecy. A hurdy gurdy furnished music for the festivities which followed and refreshments were served on the lawn. An enjoyable incident was the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" as the party broke up.

The guests included the master and teachers of the High School, and all expressed the warmest appreciation of the gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Plant.

In Board of Metropolitan Park Commissioners, June 3, 1907.
Voted, that the following rules heretofore adopted for the government and use of the Charles River Reservation be and hereby are adopted for the government and use of the Hemlock Gorge Reservation.

Metropolitan Park Commission RULES AND REGULATIONS
For the Government and use of the Charles River Reservation

- RULE 1. No person shall enter or leave the Reservation except through regular designated entrances.
- RULE 2. No person shall dig up, cut, break, remove, displace, defile, or in any way, building, structure, fence, sign, bush, plant, turf, rock or other thing heretofore belonging to the Commonwealth, or have possession of any part thereof; but this rule shall not prohibit the picking of wild flowers and edible berries in reasonable quantities for personal use.
- RULE 3. No person shall throw any stone or other missile; or have possession of any destructive weapon, or discharge any destructive weapon, or make a fire; or throw or place upon the ground a lighted match, cigar or other burning substance; or post, paint, affix or display any sign, notice, placard or advertising device; or except with written authority from said Metropolitan Park Commission, engage in business, sell, or expose for sale, or give away any goods, wares or circulars; or set a trap or snare; or injure or have possession of any wild animal or bird; or injure or disturb any bird's nest or eggs; or drop or place and suffer to remain any piece of paper or other refuse, except in the receptacles designated therefor.
- RULE 4. No person shall solicit the acquaintance of or annoy another person; or utter any profane, threatening, abusive or indecent language or loud outcry; or solicit any subscription or contribution; or have possession of or drink any intoxicating liquor; or play any game of chance; or have possession of any animal or vehicle; or gamble; or do any obscene or indecent act; or preach; or pray aloud; or make an oration or harangue, or any political or other canvass; or move in a military or civic parade, drill or procession; or sit down upon a bench or go to sleep thereon; or play any musical instrument except by written authority from said Metropolitan Park Commission.
- RULE 5. No person shall bathe except in a proper costume and at places designated therefor, or loiter or run about or lie upon the beach or shore in bathing costume.
- RULE 6. No person shall ride or drive an animal or vehicle except upon the drives, or upon other than the right hand side of the road except when passing another animal or vehicle, or passing an animal or vehicle except to the left thereof, or across a road unless the right of way is given to all other animals or vehicles, or by the side of more than one vehicle; or ride a cycle past an animal or vehicle, or go in the same direction without sounding a bell; or hitch a horse or other animal to a fence, tree, bush or shrub.
- RULE 7. No person shall, ride or drive an animal or vehicle, or pass another animal or vehicle, or ride or drive an animal or vehicle faster than at the rate of ten miles an hour or coast with a cycle or sled down any hill.
- RULE 8. No person in charge of any animal, other than a dog, shall allow it to go upon the Reservation unless such animal be used for pleasure travel on a way or place provided therefor.
- RULE 9. No person shall have or allow a vehicle for carrying merchandise, or a vehicle in use for carrying merchandise or articles other than the equipments proper for a pleasure vehicle, or any vehicle in a funeral procession, except upon a traffic road, or to gain access by the shortest way from the nearest street to the front entrance of a house facing on the Reservation.
- RULE 10. No person shall stop an animal or vehicle so as to obstruct a parkway, boundary road or driveway, or a sidewalk or crossing, or a fence, or to prevent the passing of other vehicles, or otherwise than lengthwise with a parkway, boundary road or driveway and close to the sidewalk therefor.
- RULE 11. No person having charge of an animal or vehicle shall neglect or refuse to stop, place, change the position of or move said animal or vehicle as directed by a police officer.
- RULE 12. No person having charge of an animal shall allow the same to stand without some proper person to take charge of the same, except that an animal hitched to a place provided therefor, or to a weight of not less than twenty pounds, shall be allowed to stand unattended for not more than five minutes.
- RULE 13. No person shall refuse or neglect to obey any reasonable direction of a police officer.
- Any person violating any one of the above rules is liable to a fine of twenty dollars for each offense.

VOTED, that the rules heretofore adopted for the government and use of the Hemlock Gorge Reservation be and hereby are rescinded as far as they are inconsistent with the rules adopted for the government and use of the Charles River Reservation.

Robinson of Windsor road, completed his work at Harvard this year and has secured a leave of absence until next June when he will take his degree with his class.

—13 proved a most unlucky number for the Waban "Hashbears" last Saturday, for that was the number of runs that West Roxbury piled up while Waban only got 5. Many things combined to make the result as it was, the team dressed in the police station, and having to return there, naturally did not dare to hit the local pitcher, beat the townspeople, or steal bases. Still, the "Never-wases" had a batting bee and hit both Parker and G. Williams at will, while the "Hashbears" only got six hits and a scratch. Bosson and Sawyer each got two and D. Hill, P. Hill and Robinson the others. In the field Bosson and F. Williams played great ball and each handled every chance beautifully. Each team has now won one game and the 3rd will be played here soon.

Post Office Notes

Post office employees will hail Monday July first with considerable pleasure for on that date Uncle Sam's new pay roll goes into effect. In Newton the postmaster receives a slight increase in salary. 21 out of 29 clerks are raised from $100 to $200 each, and 35 out of 38 carriers jump from $850 to $900 per annum. The new scale contemplates an initial salary of $600 the first year, $800 the second and $1000 annual increase until the maximum of $1100 is reached. The business of the Newton Centre post office, which covers all other stations in the city, now amounts to about $85,000 per year and is probably the most expensive office to maintain in New England on account of the scattered nature of our population.
